Count Turf Wins '51 Derby By 4 Lengths

By Gayle Talbot

Louisville, May 5.—(AP)—The greatest crowd ever to witness a Kentucky Derby yelled itself black in the face today as Count Turf, a field horse, was ridden to glory by little Conn McCreary in the 77th running of the classic.

Never seriously considered in pre - race predictions, the bay son of Count Fleet, the '43 derby winner, took charge of things about a quarter - mile from home and was running right away from his 19 rivals when he went under the wire.

Royal Mustange came up fast in the run down the stretch to place second. Ruhe finished third and Phil D., another of the five horses which composed the field, was fourth. Not one of the favored colts ever seriously figured in the big scramble.

Count Turf, owned by J. J. Amiel, a New York City restaurant owner, rewarded his backers with a bulging $31.20 for every $2 wagered on him.

Royal Mustange did even better, paying off a whopping $53.00 for the place. Ruhe paid back $7.80 for show. Everybody who bet on any of the three was happy, and you could hear them saying so for a long time after the stampede was over.

The victory was worth $98,050 to Amiel, the biggest pay-off in the history of the three - year - old classic. McCreary, who gave the winner a brilliant ride, also scored on Calumet farm's Pensive in the 1944 derby. He was really sitting cozy as he brought his mount down the stretch today.

The triumph marks the first time that a grandfather, father and son have won the race. Reigh Count, the daddy of Count Fleet, won it in 1928 from a record field of 22 runner. The count would have been proud had he watched the third generation perform today.

Count Turf's margin over Royal Mustang was four lengths. Ruhe was third by a head, and he, in turn, was two and a half lengths in front of Phil D., the early leader at the finish. From there they were strung out for approximately a city block.

TThe exuberant MCreary said he never was in serious trouble, despite the traffic jam. He said he received a slight bump at the wild first turn, when he was running ninth or tenth, but that his horse appeared to regard the bump as a challenge and really began turning it on after that.

ATTLEE ASSERTS ARMING FORCED

Says Britain Compelled To Do Contrary To Laborites' Will, Instincts

London, May 5.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee said today the rearming of Britain was forced on the Labor party by the menace of Communist imperialism and was contrary to the laborites' will and instincts.

Making his first speech since the recent resignation of Aneurin Bevan and Harold Wilson from the cabinet, Attlee said:

"We have taken our decision. We intend to go forward on that decision, and we ask for your support. The movement is far greater than any individual."

Attlee spoke at a rally of the London and southern areas league of youth, the young people's branch of the labor movement. He gave an aggressive defense of the rearmament policies of his government—policies which Bevan and Wilson maintain are endangering socialist goals.

"We find ourselves forced against our will to go in for a great rearmament program," Attlee said. "We didn't wish it. It was contrary to all our instincts.

"But we have to meet the menace of Communist imperialism. We have to show that we can defend ourselves, and we also have to show that we can get a better system."

Calling for party solidarity, the prime minister said:

"It is the only way we have built up our movement. Otherwise you just fall back into a mass of individuals and the enemy will conquer you all the time because you are divided."

In a reference to Labor's basic aims, Attlee said:

"Our socialist movement is not merely out to change things; it is out to change people. It is not merely out to get control of the economic forces of society but to see that these economic forces are used to promote the kind of life that we want. That is the real revolution."

Referring to communism, he said:

"We have strived and will still strive to see if we can come to a

MARSHALL WILL TESTIFY MONDAY

Defense Secretary Will Follow General MacArthur Before Committee

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall is scheduled to be the second witness before senate committees investigating Gen. Douglas MacArthur's dismissal as far eastern commander.

Chairman Russell (D. - Ga.) chairman of the armed services committee, said today that Marshall will be heard on Monday, if MacArthur testimony is finished by that time.

MacArthur has testified that some of the recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff, backing up his policies were overruled by Marshall.

One such proposal, MacArthur said, was that there be no peace treaty discussion of admitting Communist China to the United Nations or of turning Formosa over to the Chinese Reds. Marshall did not say either of these things should be done but, MacArthur said, he held that they could be discussed.

Allies Probe In Search Of Retreating Chinese Enemy

By Don Huth

Tokyo, Sunday, May 6.—(AP)—Allied tanks and troops today prowled northeast of Seoul in west-central Korea in search of retreating Reds. A regiment of 3,500 Communists making a mad dash for cover in a hilly sector was spotted by airmen on this front.

Reports to U. S. eighth army headquarters in Korea did not make clear whether these Reds were running away from tank - led Allied columns or from planes.

An Allied patrol entered the town of Inje, four miles north of the 38th parallel Saturday and found no Reds there. Inje is 15 miles northeast of Seoul.

The Reds showed some fight at both ends of the 75-mile sector — northwest of Seoul and southeast of Inje — but stayed away from Allied patrols at other points.

The probing columns of Allied tanks and infanntrymen were testing the defense of a foe who lost the first round of his spring offensive and was slow in getting the second round started.

The Reds were busy behind their lines. U. S. fifth air force planes last night spotted 2,500 enemy vehicles moving toward the front, many were streaming down from the northwest.

Pilots said they attacked 700 vehicles and knocked out at least 140.

Allied ground patrols made no contact in a sweep north of the Seoul - Chunchon road on the way to Kapyong. Kapyong is 32 miles northeast of Seoul. Nor was there any Red contact made by their patrols which approached Chunchon 45 miles northeast of Seoul.

Southeast of Inje, between 500 and 800 Reds opened an attack

TEXTILE STRIKE IS CALLED OFF

Union Says All Locals—Representing 45,000 Strikers—Ordered Back

Charlotte, N. C., May 5.—(AP)—The textile workers union of America (CIO) decided late today to call off the strike of 45,000 textile workers in seven southern states.

Emil Rieve, TWUA president, sent the following telegram to Cyrus Ching, director of the federal mediation and conciliation service:

"In response to your telegram of May 3 proposing to establish a special mediation panel, the members of the national cotton - rayon policy committee of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO together with other leaders of the union, from areas where strikes are in progress, have voted to comply with the request of the United States government that we call off the strike against the Southern Textile Mills in order

Police Arrest 'Kidnap' Victim

Miami, Fla., May 5.—(AP)—Mrs. Jean Rosenfeld, principal figure in a kidnap mystery, and her husband, Louis, were arrested today and accused of compounding a felony.

Bond was set at $50,000 for each by Justice of the Peace Thomas S. Ferguson. The charge against them, he said, grew out of their failure to cooperate with authorities investigating a report that Mrs. Rosenfeld was in the hands of kidnappers for four days and ransomed for $30,000.

The couple and Mrs. Buddy Kaufman, Rosenfield's sister, are to appear before the Dade county grand jury Tuesday morning.

Det. Chief H. G. Howard declared Mrs. Rosenfeld was abducted from her car beside her Venetian Way apartment early last Monday. She was released Thursday night after a ransom payment to a mysterious woman on Miami Beach, said Howard.

The Rosenfelds denied the kidnaping and went into seclusion. Howard said the husband formerly was connected with gambling activities in Providence, R. I., where they lived until recently.

2 SLAYING CASES SET THIS WEEK

Janie Johnson And Clarence Cole To Be Tried For Manslaughter

Two manslaughter and two aggravated battery cases will be tried in the first week of criminal court, which goes into session Monday, May 7. The state cases will be presented by District Attorney Fred Fudickar, Jr.

Eleven other cases will be presented by Fudickar to the petit jury which will convene in the fourth district courtroom at 10 a.m. Monday. Judge David I. Garrett will preside over the court.

Two Negroes Janie Johnson and Clarence Cole will be tried for manslaughter. Johnson, whose lawyer is J. Norman Coon, will be brought before the court Wednesday, May 9, and Cole, represented by Lovelle E. HaydenIII, Friday, May 11.

The two cases of aggravated battery against Ocie Gilbert and Mann Dawson, Negro, will be tried Tuesday, May 8, represented by Charles Morton, and Friday, May 11, Lawyer Kent Breard, respectively.

The court docket, excluding the manslaughter and aggravated battery cases, for the week is as follows:

Monday, May 7: W. A. Posey, represented by H. D. Montgomery, theft of sheet metal valued at $75; C. M. Simpson and Felston O. Newborn, lawyer, H. D. Montgomery, theft of radiator valued at $175.

Missing Arkansans Die In Plane Crash

Crowder, Miss., May 5.—(AP)—Two Arkansas businessmen, missing since Thursday in a private plane, were found dead in the wreckage of the plane three miles south of here today.

Mayor H. O. Wood of Crowder identified the dead as Lewis Koelling, 72-year-old pilot - businessman of Lake Hamilton, Ark., and J. A. Curtis, Hot Springs, Ark., grocery store owner.

Two Truman Battlefronts Are: In Congress, Korea

Washington, May 5. —(AP)— The Truman policies in the Far East are faced with a two-fold test: In the senate hearing room in Washington, and on the battlefields of Korea.

And a showdown could come sooner on the battlefields than in congress.

The administration argument has been that if the war is limited to Korea and the Chinese Reds severely punished there, an acceptable peace may be reached. The next week or two may tell whether that theory is correct.

At issue is the question whether President Truman can obtain popular support to make his policies stick or whether he will have to adopt some of General Douglas MacArthur's proposals.

What is happening in Korea now is being followed in the top levels of the administration here with the keenest interest. It was summed up by Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, MacArthur's successor, after a visit to the front. He said that so far the only thing the tremendous Communist offensive had accomplished was the destruction of "tens of thousands more of their own men." Red casualties since April 22 are now estimated at more than 80,000.

That heavy damage to the enemy was what the president and his advisors had expected. They have hoped, too, that when the Chinese Communists have been hurt badly enough they will sit down at a conference table and make a settlement acceptable to the UN.

Should that in fact occur within the next few weeks administration officials will seize upon it as proof of the rightness of their strategy of keeping the war limited to the Korean peninsula. But if it does not occur, General Mac-

Convicted Rapist Removed From Jail Where Big Mob Mulled

Jackson, Miss., May 5. — (AP) — Willie McGee tonight promised to "have plenty to say later" as he was taken to an undisclosed place by Jones county Sheriff Steve Brogan.

McGee was moved from the "mob-proof" Hinds county jail

Jackson, Miss., May 5.—(AP)—Attorneys for condemned rapist Willie McGee tonight launched a new last minute attempt to keep him from the Mississippi electric chair next Tuesday night.

The Laurel, Miss., Negro's attorneys filed a civil damage suit in U. S. district court charging McGee's civil rights had been violated and asking an injunction restraining Attorney General J. P. Coleman and Jones county Sheriff Steve Brogan from carrying out the electrocution.

A hearing on the injunction request is expected Monday, the attorney general said.

POLICE ARREST THREE BELLHOPS

Charged With Soliciting Prostitution In Local Hotels

Monroe police detectives arrested three local bellhops yesterday and charged them with soliciting for prostitutes. The trio posted $750 bonds and were released from the parish jail.

Detective Capt. Hugh Tolbert said the bellhops — all of them Negroes — were implicated in cases of two women arrested at local hotels last Sunday for prostitution. One of the women was tried in city court Friday and found guilty. The other woman's case has not been tried.

The three Negroes booked yesterday were Willie Wright, 25 of 405 South Eleventh street, Monroe, Isaac Robinson, 30, of 202 North Eleventh street, and V. L. Barnes of 205 South Tenth street, Monroe.

Tolbert said Wright and Barnes were arrested at a downtown hotel. Robinson was taken into custody at his home.

The two women arrested and charged with prostitution Sunday were Mrs. Laura Thrift, 48, of Monroe, and Emily Wooding, 27, of Kentucky. Mrs. Thrift was fined $100 and sentenced to 60 days in jail in city court along with two other Negro bellhops arrested at the same time she was. The two bellhops — Roosevelt Ballard, 20, and Marion Calhoun, 23, both of Monroe — were fined $350 each and given 60-day jail sentences. The sentenced Negroes were charged additionally with selling

ENDS TESTIMONY

THINKS REDS MIGHT WIN UNDER PRESENT POLICY

By Ed Creach

Washington, May 5. — (AP) — Douglas MacArthur, an old soldier with a burning cause, rested his case before senate investigators tonight. He uttered this final warning: The free world is "doomed to destruction" if it fails to crush completely the Communist threat in Korea.

The five-star general wound up three days of virtually constant testimony at 6 p.m. (EST) with a new blast at President Truman, denying he ever violated a presidential order and declaring he never got a firm, workable plan from Washington to carry on the Korean war.

"I felt in all conscience," MacArthur said, "I could not go on ordering men to their deaths by the thousands in such a complete vacuum of policy decision."

Then, like the old soldier in the barrack room ballad, MacArthur faded away—for the time being—toward New York, leaving behind as violent a controversy as has rocked the nation's capital in many years.

Some of the senators who heard him were bushed after the long back-aching hours of questions and answers — estimated at 174,000 words. MacArthur, 71, drove home his arguments with vigor and fluency to the very end. He appeared untired as he boarded his plane, the Bataan, at National airport.

He may be back for rebuttal after the senate armed services and foreign relations committees have heard other witnesses on his

DULLES 'MIGHT' REPLACE ACHESON

Texas Congressman Tells Voters Of Possible New Arrangement Soon

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Another report that Secretary of State Dean Acheson may be on the way out come from Capital Hill today, this time in the weekly news letter of Representative Rogers (D.-Tex).

Rogers wrote the voters back home he had heard unconfirmed reports that a supreme court justified is to retire and be succeeded by Attorney General McGrath. Rogers added:

"It is further hinted that Dean Acheson is to be replaced in the near future by John Foster Dulles."

The Acheson - is - leaving report has been circulating for months, but has been denied many times by President Truman. Since the controversys over Gen. Douglas MacArthur and the administration's Far East policies, however, the report has gained new strength.

Last Thursday it became known that a coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats is at work to force Acheson's ouster. Their plan is to deny any funds to pay Acheson's salary, and if necessary, to hold up the whole state department appropriation until he is replaced.

Hood Testimony Is Contradicted

Washington, May 5.—(AP)—Testimony of Clarence E. Hood, deposed acting national Democratic committeeman from Mississippi, was contradicted today in a hearing by the senate committee investigating reports of federal jobs sales in that state.

Robert M. Moore, assistant to Democratic national chairman William Boyle, repeated that the first he heard of alleged job sales in Mississippi was early this year.

Moore was told that Hood had testified previously that in July 1950 Moore had mentioned complaints of job sales to him and had advised him to come to Washington to discuss the matter.

Little Theatre Curtain Call

The curtain rang down on Little Theatre's fifth and final production of the 1950-51 season, on Saturday evening at the Selman Field play house where a packed auditorium saw and applauded the last showing of "The Heiress."

To each and every person who has contributed to a most successful year in theatre work, a great big "thank you" for the interest and support that made it possible . . . play by play, day by day our local community theatre is getting better and better . . . much credit is due the hard working people who have built sets, hunted properties, taken on monstrous jobs of wardrobe, handled lighting, or sound effects or given up five weeks of their time to do the grand acting jobs you have all come to expect at the Little Theatre. These folks are the salt of the earth, the backbone of the theatre. But still in all, all of this effort would go unheralded and unappreciated without an enthusiastic membership. It is this applause and appreciation that is the heart of the theatre.

Looking forward to things to come, it gives me great pleasure to tell you that our popular director, Stocker Fontelieu, will be with us again next yeth. "The Heiress" in all of its dramatic greatness has been a fitting finale for an impressive season . . .How about getting out your pen and paper and dropping a line to "Curtain Call" and tell us what you liked most about the season just ended? Tell your Little Theatre board what plays you would like to see done next year. Do you prefer comedy, drama, mystery, or just plain farce? Tell us all these things, 'cause for sure the 1951-52 season can, will and must top even the shining successes we speak of today.

RANDOM NOTES . . . Louis Guerriero, former Little Theatre member turned professional, who paid "The Heiress" the compliment of saying it was the best thing he had ever seen in Little Theatre, has a New York visitor with him for his two weeks stay in Monroe. He and Arthur Howe, a leading man on the professional stage, are en route to the Hayloft Summer Theatre in Lincoln, Neb. Louis plans to act and direct at the Hayloft Theatre. He spent the winter doing television shows and teaching dramatics in New York . . . Speaking of actors in the Guerriero family, Jimmy Guerriero who was last seen on the local Little Theatre stage in the production "Blythe Spirit" is attending medical school in Lousanne, Switzerland. Just loves it and is learning to speak French. He sailed on the "Amsterdam" March 31 . . . Here is an interesting item about actor John Enders who appeared in this year's heart warming comedy drama "The Hasty Heart." At the Music Educators National Conference in Richmond, Virginia, last week John came to the fore again. He was privileged to appear as soloist at the student members' tea, one of the outstanding events of the five - day convention. Held in the dean's home on the campus of Richmond Professional Institute, the tea was one of the two events in the entire series of meetings to which all the national and southern conference members came en masse. John has as his accompanist Mrs. Florence A. Allbritton, faculty sponsor of the M. E. N. C. chapter of Northeast State College and received a warm reception in his presentation of a tenor aria from Von Flowstow's "Martha." John's dramatic flair, it appears is a definite asset to his singing.

Monroe School Teacher Has Recognition In Magazine

Mrs. W. E. McCoy Tells Of Unique Room Project; Has Many Productions

"The Grade Teacher," in the May issue , publishes a story by Mrs. W. E. McCoy, teacher in Central Grammar School, which is entitled: "Our School Room Zooe and How We Made It." This is a nationwide magazine of the Educational Publishing Co., Darien, Conn. and Mrs. Mcoy's article, which is well illustrated, is receiving wide commendation.

The writer tells in much detail how her class, directed by their teacher, blazed a new trail which has proved both interesting and highly educational.

In a special bulletin issued, Supt. J. M. Boyet urged all his grade teachers to get this magazine and learn what has been done here in Monroe that may well be copied elsewhere. His bulletin stated:

"I would like to call to your attention an article appearing in the Grade Teacher for May 1951 by Mrs. Eulalia McCoy. "The Grade Teacher is one of our leading professional magazines and we feel honored that the editors have accepted this article for publication."

The superintendent closed with expression of the desire that other teachers would contribute to this and other professional magazines.

Mrs. McCoy is active in many lines. They can be listed thus: Member of St. Matthew's church; member of Central Grammar School faculty; member of the National League of American Pen Women, north Louisiana branch.

She has served as Louisiana state president of the National League of American Pen Women, which came as an appointment through the executive board in Washington, D. C., Dorothy Betts Marvin, president.

Lyric Poetry Club of Monroe; Monroe Order of Bookfellows; Twin City P.-T. A. Council (Monroe; Alto (La.) Cultural Club, which she organized.

Mrs. McCoy also organized the Crescent City Branch of the N. L. A. P. W. in New Orleans and the north Louisiana branch in Monroe.

Poetry, of this talented writer, has appeared in a number of magazines and has been heard in radio programs, and she often writes verse for special occasions for her many friends.

In a contest sponsored by the National Thanksgiving Association she won third place from this organization in Minnesoto, recently.

Two Arrested in Friday Brawl

A Friday night brawl on the corner of Adams and North Sixth streets resulted yesterday in the arrest of two Negroes, one charged by Monroe police detectives with armed robbery, the other as a suspect in the case. A third Negro was hospitalized with a stomach wound.

In the St. Francis Sanitarium, but not thought to be in serious condition, is T. W. Walker, 45, of 2705 Renwick street, Monroe.

Detectives charged John Parkman, 24, Negro, of 3008 Pearl street, with armed robbery in connection with the assault.

Detective Sgt. H. J. McBride said Walker told police that he was robbed of $724 when a man attacked him Friday night as he approached the corner of Adams and North Sixth streets.

Detective McBride said Parkman, following his arrest, implicated another Negro in the alleged robbery.

The Negro, who Parkman said accompanied him in the robbery, was identified as A. J. Franklin, 25, Negro, of 2111 Grammont street. Police are holding him as a suspect of armed robbery in the city jail.

METHODIST MEN TO HOLD DINNER

Memorial Churchmen To Be Entertained By Men From Alexandria

The Memorial Methodist Men's Club will conduct the third meeting on Friday at 7 p.m. This meeting will be of special interest as it will be attended by 40 men from the large Methodist Men's Club in Alexandria who are to furnish the night's program.

Speaker for the evening will be Rev. Virgil D. Morris, pastor of First Methodist Church, Alexandria. Formerly a pastor at Homer and at Columbia, Brother Morris is well known throughout this section. He is a graduate of Hendrix College, Ark., and of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, Tex. He went to the pastorate in Alexandria from the superintendency of the Baton Rouge district in 1948.

Entertainment will be a special feature calculated to go over in a big way. The Alexandria men will stage a minstrel comedy, replete with all the wing men, barbershop quartette, etc. This is always a huge success where it is put on yearly in Alexandria.

In charge of food and arrangements will be Henry W. Williams who has on his committee as assistants the following men: Jim Malone, Park McGee, J. W. Clark, Bill Pou, Billy Nelson, D. E. Gaar, J. D. Conner, Wilbur Usrey and M. R. Brooks.

The Methodist Men's Club in Alexandria has established a first class record for size and performance in that city. Vernon Gordon is president. He went to that city in 1938 from Meridian, Miss., and for seven years managed the Paramount Theater, when he opened his own business, the Modern Appliance Mart which has grown to large size. He is declared to have done an excellent job in his presidency of the men's club.

As usual there will be no admission charged and men of the church and their friends are cordially invited to enjoy a night of fun.

CLASSROOM TEACHERS MEET

On May 12 at 10:00 a. m. the fifth district C. T. A. will meet in the educational building of the First Baptist Church, Monroe.

All classroom teachers are urged to attend as important matters will be discussed, according to Mrs. Floy G. Kemp, president.

U.S. Getting Tired Of 'Operation Yo-Yo'

While the Communists' spring offensive in Korea rages on, some new ideas are emerging from Washington and other western capitals on the future of that conflict.

The first of these, recorded without fanfare by a number of reliable correspondents, is that the United States and it's U. N. Allies are actually seeking some kind of military stalemate on the peninsula. No high official has come right out and said so, but that is reported to be the general trend of their thinking.

It is the present policy of this government and of the U. N. to prosecute a limited war in Korea. Though the fact is not advertised, that decision almost inevitably means achievement of a limited objective. Complete victory, the liberation of all Korea, these things seem beyond the reach of a war fought partly under wraps.

Thus the unofficial but solid talk of stalemate is a realistic, measure of what we might really accomplish in Korea, barring, of course, a wholly unexpected fold-up of the enemy.

Both our political and our military leaders make it clear they hope the basis for a stalemate and a political settlement may be attained if U. N. forces can successfully crush the current Red offensive before it wins really important goals. Obviously the whole picture would be altered if we failed to hold.

There is still another side, and here's where more new ideas enter. The U. S. and virtually all its active partners in Korea are agreed that any real air offensive by the Communists would mean retaliatory bombardment of Red air bases in Manchuria. Whether a further taking off of wraps would follow isn't settled, but the bombing decision in itself is a significant step. Particularly since t s now reported that Britain, a holdout, is swinging to support of the plan.

Consequently, the Korean war is sure to remain a limited conflict only if the existing "ground rules" for Red and U. N. air forces continue in effect. No one can know what might follow if both sides unleashed wider air war.

A Washington reporter for the Christian Science Monitor tosses still another notion into the hopper He says the element of time is beginning to be a factor in the minds of some officials concerned with Korea.

What he means is that these men believe we can't stand by and permit the Communists to mount offensive after offensive without eventually striking back hard. To blunt endless enemy attacks costs too much in men and material.

The view of these men, says the Monitor correspondent, is that the current Red offensive ought to be the last we should try to absorb without dealing stiff offensive blows of our men. If it fails, then any signs of a new build-up later should be taken as the signal for a big U. N. move.

Thus far this idea has not been widely talked of in Washington. And there is no indication whether the United States has tried to convince other U. N. countries that we cannot indefinitely maintain a defensive posture in the face of repeated assaults. It is the account of a single reporter, who happens to be extremely reliable. But it may be an important straw in the wind.

If this idea should gain broad currency in western capitals, then the present Red attacks and their aftermath may provide the really critical test of our limited war policy. In the event a failure of their offensive does not convince the Communists they should seek a stalemate, the U. S. and its Allies might well conclude that the limited war plan is unworkable and should be abandoned for broader aims.

How To Grow More Per Acre

The statement that Louisiana farmers could use profitably twice as much fertilizer as they now use may sound a little surprising to a good many folks out on the farm. But Agricultural Extension Agronomist R. A. Wasson, who made the statement, has some pretty strong evidence to back him up. He bases his belief on research work by the Louisiana agricultural experiment station, on the experience of many farmers who already have found that more fertilizer pays, and on many farm demonstrations conducted during the past several years.

In 1950, more than 400 corn fertilizer demonstration plots, fertilized according to experiment station recommendations, averaged 30 bushels an acre more than check plots fertilized in the usual way. In a number of similar tests, cotton fertilized according to experiment station recommendations averaged 150 pounds more lint cotton per acre than cotton fertilized in the usual way; rice plots averaged 15 bushels more to the acre, and cane plots averaged ten tons more to the acre.

The extension agronomist's estimate of how much fertilizer is needed to get the most out of each acre in Louisiana is based on more than 1,000 such demonstrations in 1950 alone, to say nothing of others in previous years, and is worth the thought of every farmer. Many, of course, already are applying the recommended amounts of fertilizer to their crops and are being rewarded with bigger average yields. But adoption by all farmers of the better fertilization would mark another great forward step in the present rapid progress of Louisiana agriculture.

Anything that means higher yields per acre and more production per farm worker is doubly important now that we are in the midst of a great defense program and farmers, like many of the rest of us, are being called on to do more with less.

In New York

Walter Winchell

New Yorkers Are Talking About Gen. Douglas MacArthur's picture, which used to hang at West Point—the space (as we two-fingered-to-press) is now bare. Let's wonder why—and get a confirmation or denial. . . . New Yorkers are still talking about the poise of a future general. 13-year-old Arthur MacArthur, who remained calm during all the frenzied hoopla. The kid appears to have inherited pop's innate dignity plus a contagious smile. . . . The result of the Kefauver probe: At least six films are planned—dealing with a "heroic senate investigator." (Take it away, Senator Errol Flynn!) . . . The N. Y. Times' financial expoit, who blamed the MacArthur celebrations for the stock market dive. (O, pecans!) . . . Frankie Laine's rousing recording, "Rose, Rose, I Love You." Hits you like a cold shower. . . . The fluorescent swimsuits for dolls. Giving the neon touch to every curve and bulge. . . . The way the British have discovered a brow-elevating method of evading the heavy "spouse" tax. Get divorced and live in sin. (Big fuss among the British clergy over this.)

The anti - histamine people's blues. They are all shopping for public relations and ad people—biz being so rotten. The thing just blew up in their faces. Nobody wants the accounts, it seems. The teevy firms are also sobbing "Overproduction Blues". . . . Marian Saunders (the platinum blonde—wed to a wealthy Oriental) taking her boy poodle on a shopping tour. The pooch wears a collar made of three rows of sq. cut aquamarines! . . . The big buzz about R. Stanley Dollar. If he gets back the stock in Amercian President Lines (which under govt. mgt. ran up from near bankruptcy to 70 million in assets), most of the directors will be out. . . . Film critic Bosley Crowther's quippersnapper via a forum: "The magnificence of the proportions of actresses of today are better; never before have there been such busts in movies." He means Dollywood has more famous busts than The Hallafame.

Laraine Day's chomming teevy shows preceding the Giants' games. Miss Daydream. . . . The Godfrey — Janette Davis version of "When You and I Were Young Maggie Blues"—a bouncy melodic-nac. . . . Broadway shows grossing over $600,000 weekly. Any biz that can attract that much coin is far from Rigor Mortis. . . . The rave notices for Gower Champion's dance routines in "Make a Wish." in "Father's Little Dividend." It is always wonderful to witness an actor who can act. . . . The Siamese ballet version of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" in "King and I." Alone worth the admish fee. . . . The silly ditty titled "Investigation Blues," inspired by youknowot. . . The fact that Melody & Mirth are Broadway's Steak & Potatoes. 45 per cent of the current attractions are song-and-dancers.

The eye-brown-hoister from the generally prim N. Y. Times. It quoted this old doggerel: "The queen bee is a busy soul. She has no time for birth control. And that is why in times like these. There are so many Sons of Bees." Jack Lait, co-parent of the sinful "Washington Confidential" best-seller, once deleted it from The Daily Winchell intoning: "Tell Walter this is a family paper!" (Ha!) . . . The Philly night club owner not very happy about M. Berle's popularity with children. When he appeared at the Latin Casino the place was jammed with mothers and their tots (all in love with Uncle Miltie), but they drank nuttin' but milk! . . . Get the Net Dep't: Gerald L. K. Smith, who now ends his phony meetings with a public prayer to the Almighty: That General MacArthur is "all mixed up. He doesn't know what the war is all about nor what it is for. Give him guidance and strength."

New Yorkers are talking about the odd report from London, where newspapers reportedly send gifts to press-agents. Some are worth it . . . The price of all medicines jumping sky - high . . . The song, "Once Upon a Nickel," the lyric of which says you can't buy anything with one any more. You can still buy your way into the Runyon Cancer Fund with a nickel. How about all you deejays (in the 48 states) telling that to your all-night audiences? (Thanks scads!) . . . Harry Richman's plan to resume in show biz. Peddled his ranch to open at the Riverside Casino, Reno . . . Wanna help ridicule Communists? Then send your anti - Red gags to Laszlo Fodor (125 E. 62nd, NYC) who is building a book of them . . . John Roy Carlson, who auth'd "Undercover" and "The Plotters" (best - sellers exposing Facists, Hitlerites, et al, over here), has a new one due via Knopf in Sept: "Undercover from Cairo to Damascus."

The J. Arthur Warners together again after his quickie divorce (from her) to marry showgel Jay Buckley and the quicker one recently. The original Mrs. Warner is such a woman! Stood by, took it on the chin (and far below it, too) doing a time - step waiting for the mills of the gods to grind slowly. It was good to see them arm-in-arming it the other sundown . . . "Flahooley," which previewers report will do wonderful thungs for Ernest Truex, who has been in tought luck for too many flops . . . Fred Keating (after reading all the puffs here for card magician Jimmy Grippo) challenging Jimmy to a friendly bout of legerdemain. (He means card tricks.) Fred sidngs his note "The Last of the Red Hot Palmers," a neat pun. Fred's famous bird-cage

BASCOM TIMMONS

Virtually unnoticed was the creation a few days ago of a new congressional watchdog committee, but there is every expectation that a lot will be heard from the committee in the future.

It is a special subcommittee of the house armed services committee named by Chairman Carl Vinson to watch the spending of the multi-billion dollar defense appropriations by the army, navy and air force.

Selected by Vinson to head the committee is Rep. F. Edward Hebert, veteran Democratic representative from Louisiana, who has already started work, but warns that no sensational headlines should be expected in the near future, at least.

Hebert plans to use the committee primarily to keep the "horse from being stolen" and not to "lock the door after he is gone." As a result most of the work will be done behind closed doors and public hearings will only take place on infrequent occasions. Hebert and other members of the special committee feel that their primary job is to save the American taxpayer as many dollars as possible in a defense program which, at best, is going to cost perhaps as much as two hundred billion dollars.

In order to do this, they plan an exhaustive check of all procurement by the armed services to see that as much waste as possible is avoided and dishonesty, insofar as possible, eliminated.

To a certain extent, the committee will function very similarly to the senate armed services preparedness subcommittee headed by Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas. Both, likewise, will follow the pattern set by the Truman investigating committee during World War II, but hope to be even more successful because of the experience gained from the Truman committee operations.

Strangely though congress membership is dominated by lawyers, neither of these chairmen are attorneys. Hebert was a newspaper editor before coming to congress, and played an important part in breaking the so - called Louisiana scandals in the thirties. Johnson was a school teacher before entering government service which eventually led to his election to the house and then the senate.

Both Hebert and Johnson, however, were schooled under the same teacher in the house. They were freshmen colleagues on the old house naval affairs committee, which was then headed by the same Carl Vinson who named Hebert as chairman of the new investigating committee.

Hebert and his house colleagues on the special committee do not plan to compete with the Johnsqn committee. They feel that there is plenty of opportunity for good work by both committees and in some instances may even cooperate with the senate group. Similarly, the senate committee, if it finds that Hebert committee has already begun a certain probe, will not try to interfere.

Other members of the Hebert committee are all top notch men who have shown their ability during their service in the house and on the important armed services committee. They are Representative O. C. Fisher of Texas, Edward De Graffenried of Alabama and L. Gary Clemente of New York, Democrats; and Charles H. Elston of Ohio, Jack Z. Anderson of California and Harry Towe of New Jersey.

How broad powers of the committee are is shown by the directive issued to Hebert by Vinson in which he instructed the committee "to make a full and exhaustive study and investigation of all contracts for material or construction whether bid or negotiated, the procurement policies of the several services, the coordination between services on procurement, the rate of progress and performance of contracts, the qualifications of contracting officers and all other matters in any relating to the procurement program of the defense department."

New York Day By Day

New York—It Sez Here: Rube Goldberg delights in verbal jabs at abstract art via anecdotes conceiving his fictional Harrington Gibbs, a poor but honest farmer who came up the hard way to millions. Seems that in his sunset years inside Fifth avenue marble halls, Gibbs wanted a portrait of a horse to remind him of the old hayloft. So he contacted all the big art dealers, Howard Young, Wildenstein, Knoedler and Jacques Duval of Paris, and each of these experts collected his idea of the finest impressionistic horse paintings.

They ranged in prices from $18,000 to $362,000. But bewildered Harrington Gibbs only blinked at these "masterpieces of modern art," and shook his head. "Is that a horse?" he finally surrendered, pointing to one. The dealer looked at him in dismay. "Sure it is. It is by Picasso and it says 'horse' on the frame." Gibbs sorrowfully shook his head and observed: "These remind me only of tangled noodles, drooling alarm clocks and broken barrel staves."

On The Books—Stan Galli's baseball illustration on the cover of "True" scored a home run. Cooperstown's Hall of Fame has accepted the awed catcher-and-umpire study for its permanent collection. . . . A top tune publisher's account books are getting a once-over-twice from tax examiners. If digits don't add up, "The Prisoner's Song" may be revived all along Tin Pan Alley. . . . Public interest in what General MacArthur had to say upon his return to this country was evidenced by zooming newspaper circulations that afternoon. The N. Y. World-Telegram-and-Sun rocketed to 725,000—more than 100,000 over its daily print order.

Double Takes—Ben Tobin, proprietor of Florida's Hollywood Beach Hotel, and his show-hobby partner, Roger Stevens, reinvested their returns from "Peter Pan" in a three-play parlay that ought to earn them another inn—"Darkness at Noon," "Rose Tattoo" and the recently retired "Second Threshold." While no one was looking, these lads recently purchased the Taft Hotel, Brooklyn Paramount Theater and a flock of other real estate parcels here. . . . There's a food concession in Washington Market labeled "Claude Rains, Purveyor," and the man who manages it is mighty proud of his uptown cousin of the same name, starring in the Sidney Kinsley play. . . . Fashion "stealers" poise nightly before TV screens with pencils and sketch pads, waiting to copy interesting hairdos, jewelry and gown imports that appear on the Stork Club show. It's their biggest source of inspiration outside of theater first nights and the Easter parade. . . . I was tapped to judge a youngster talent turnout in Philadelphia the other morning, for which I didn't even have to roll out of my Weylin bunk. Simply tuned in CBS's "Grand Chance Roundup," watched the screen and the M. C. long-distance phoned me for results. Great idea for an easy buck, and irate parents of losers can blame it all on static.

Bellringer—Hon. Paul P. Rao, U. S. customs court sentencer, found himself without honor, gavel or authority for one night last week when we inducted him "high" and exalted "rowgue" in Vic Dumbra's "cellar in the clouds." . . . His wife and daughter Nina, a pretty Portia recently sworn into federal practice, were delighted with some 200 revelers who dined and "tasted" countless San Benito vintages in the upstairs cellar on W. 26th, totally ignoring the frantic bellclanging of the master of their house as he tried to introduce fiddlers, sopranos, tenors, baritones and squeeze-box players. . . . Nobody paid any attention to the "rowgue" until he volunteered to sing himself. At which point barrister Joseph T. P. Sullivan assured the awed multitude that the livelihoods of Rao's countrymen, Perry Como, Frank Sinatra and Ezio Pinza, were in no way threatened—unless Paul resorted to some legal loophole through which to jail such musical competition.

"Rowguish" Gallery—Dave Edelstein, youngster assistant U. S. attorney general who was elected president of the Federal Bar Association's New York chapter that afternoon, sat beside me disdaining the new exalted "rowgue" by studiously scribbling wine-cellar postcards to all Washington superiors, assuring them: "OK, so I sloshed among these barrels —but not on government time." . . . Ed Shaughnessey, Ellis Island's director of immigration and naturalization, is a man of iron, never touched a drop. Said he recently dieted off about 20 pounds. Inhaling my after-dinner cigar clouds, he remarked that years ago he averaged 22 stogies per diem. Suddenly realized that only narcotic addicts become that enslaved to a weed, and he abruptly cancelled all puffing. . . . Webster J. Oliver, chief judge of customs court and my favorite dais wit, surveyed the Bacchanalian and opined: "I could clear this cellar with two words — Drew Pearson."

Satellites Show Anti-Red Signs

Berlin, May 5.—(AP)—Growing unrest and active anti-Kremlin resistance in Communist governed Bulgaria and Romania were reported today by the west Berlin newspaper Der Abend. The reports were not confirmed by other sources.

The newspaper said the Bucharest government has clamped martial law on a large Romanian oil field area and that guerrillas stormed Red headquarters in Tulcea.

Bulgarian farmers in the Burgas area revolted recently against land collectivization measures and burned a grain elevator, the newspaper reported, adding that secret police then shot 43 farmers.

DOWN SOUTH

THE RIGHT TO WORK

We are seeing considerable work stoppage right now in a certain group of textile plants in the South. This is nothing new, either in the textile industry or in industry generally. We have seen strikes for many years in the past; we shall no doubt see strikes for many years in the future.

But it is not my purpose to discuss here the right to quit work. What I want to consider with you is the right to work.

If there is any one principle fundamental to the American way of life that is more important than all others, it is the right of the individual to make a living. It is part of the individual freedom that is the basis of our constitutional Republican form of government. To deny the individual that right is to deny him his rights as an American citizen, is to thrust upon him an insidious form of slavery.

The people of the South are familiar with slavery. They suffered a terrible defeat in a war fought some eighty years ago over this question. That slavery was open and aboveboard. It was known for what it was—the ownership by purchase of members of a backward race brought from Africa. It was slavery that was doomed to eventual condemnation by all right-thinking persons and it was tragic that it had to be settled by force.

The slavery involved in the denial to the individual of his right to work is not so apparent—and perhaps for that reason is even more dangerous. But anything that denies a man his individual freedom, his right to carve out his own destiny, his right to plan his own career and provide for the welfare of himself and his family, is slavery just the same—and no amount of camouflage behind the intricacies of labor-management disputes will change it.

As a matter of fact, any thinking American who places freedom above special privilege realizes that the closed shop violates all the principles of liberty on which our American way of life is based. And this applies to the employer as well as to the employee. There are employers who accept the closed shop because it makes labor negotiations easier and more convenient for them. They are just as guilty of violating the principles of individual freedom as the labor union that attempts to enforce the closed shop.

And the worker should realize, too, that the closed shop is even more dangerous to him than to the employer. If freedom in a democratic country means anything, it means that a man has the right to join a union if he so desires, but it also means that he cannot be forced to join a union before he can get a job and make a living.

IIt is not to be believed that the majority of the American people would ever vote their approval of such an un-Democratic practice as the closed shop. We may be sure the people of the South do not believe in it. Why, then, should small organized minority groups, taking advantage of particular situations, be allowed to force their will on the free individual citizen of America?

The slavery produced by the closed shop is a type to which no man who believes in free democratic government can submit. If the worker can have his rights taken away from him in this manner by labor bosses with the sanction of bureaucratic government, then he had just as well live under a dictatorship or a Communistic form of government, neither of which does more than deny him the same rights.

The American people cannot submit to the closed shop and have their country remain America as they have known it. It is therefore the duty of local government and responsible public officials in all communities in this land—and this applies with particular emphasis right now to those communities where the work stoppages are occurring—to preserve law and order in their localities, to maintain inviolate the right to work with perfect safety to all concerned. To do otherwise is to fail in their duty—and the result is anarchy and the destruction of freedom.

Roundtable Editors

FARM PRICE LEVELS

A considerable minority of editors favors President Truman's porposal for annual, rather than monthly, calculation of farm parity prices, as offering hope of relatively stable food price ceilings at parity. But the large majority of editors argues that equity among the different economic groups requires that food prices be controlled at levels substantially below the present parity bases.—However, majority opinion is doubtful that congress will approve even Mr. Truman's plan to try to slow down the cycles of increasing prices, wages and costs under the present parity system.

Birmingham (Ala.) News (Ind.-Dem.): "President Truman recommends that the new defense act control prices of food items by freezing parity for a season at a time, that it broaden rent controls, increase taxes . . . slap on credit controls where they do not now exist . . . and regulate speculative trading on commodity exchanges. He would also grant the government power to pay subsidies in order to obtain essential production from high-cost sources of supply and yet not raise prices. . . . The greatest outcry will come, it seems likely, from the farm groups."

Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer (Dem.): "President Truman has sided with farmers on the principal question of whether the present ban upon ceilings below 'parity' should remain in the law. Farmers should be satisfied with their victory in that important matter. . . . As a matter of fact the president's proposal would be advantageous to the farmers themselves in the long run. . . . The present system under which farm products must be figured anew every month calls for corresponding changes in other prices. The proposed plan makes for stability. And farmers are interested in stable prices as well as fair prices."

St. Paul (Minn.) Dispatch (Ind.): "Parity price is a changing figure . . . which is supposed to keep the buying power of . . . any unit of farm production the same as it was in the selected base period. . . . Strictly speaking a case can be made out for sticking to the month-by-month adjustment of this figure. . . . The economic stabilizer already has allowed an exception to the wage control formula for a major labor group, but this is said to be an unusual situation. If retreats under pressure from either business or labor were to become the rule, the farmers could not be expected to agree to be the goat."

Oakland (Calif.) Tribune (Rep.): "The president's suggestion concerning farm prices, so far as it goes, would supply what has been a sorely needed part in any machinery of controls. For when there is a rise in farm parity and in wages of a substantial body of industrial workers whose contracts call for increases as the cost-of-living index goes up, the elevation of costs becomes automatic. . . . This may be as good a program as can be put forth in a day of pressures and a natural disposition to please as many groups as is possible."

St. Louis (Mo.) Globe-Democrat (Ind.): "While posturing for equity among all groups, Truman failed conspicuously to attack the basic cause of inflation through higher food costs—the parity theory itself. He proposed only that parity can be calculated once yearly instead of monthly, withholding price ceilings on any commodity until it reached parity. So its self-hoisting feature would still operate annually—but at that time make up for lost ground. . . . Hence the Truman program makes no attempt to lower parity. . . . It promises neither a food price decline nor plateau; only a continuing rise. . . ."

Tampa (Fla.) Tribune (Ind.-Dem.): "What the president proposes is a significant change in the manner of figuring the farm parity formula . . . Parity figures now change monthly to reflect the changes in farm costs. Mr. Truman's plan . . . by setting parity prices once a year . . . would make it possible to put relatively stable ceilings on food prices once they reach parity. While this compromise plan has some merit, it is certainly too early to do any cheering about it. Farmer-conscious members of congress have made it plain that they will not stand for any tampering with the 'magic figure' of parity."

Philadelphia (Pa.) Inquirer (Ind. Rep.): "The administration proposal might help a little, but it wouldn't bring about a real correction of this situation. Food prices could be stabilized at parity figures for as much as 12 months. But then if the parity figure went up so could food prices. . . . Nobody wants the farmer to go back to his old depression standards. . . . But even in the costliest days of price supports for farm products, support levels were seldom more than 90 per cent of parity. . . . If inflation is to be checked . . . every group has to do its share."

SAFETY TAUGHT BY DOG CIRCUS

Officer And Internationally Famous Canines Will Appear Here

Officer Pressley's safety circus, the nationally famous fun show that has thrilled more than three million children, will appear in Monroe Tuesday and Wednesday local schools under sponsorship of the continental Trailways Bus System, and the Monroe police department.

The story of how the circus was created is entertaining in itself. Officer Pressley's safety circus is actually an outgrowth of the original traffic safety show that began in Charlotte, North Carolina, where Officer Pressley is the most publicized member of the city police force.

Officer Pressley had been a member of the Charlotte police department for six years and had seen many little mangled bodies from traffic accidents when his show was conceived. At that time he had a Llewelyn setter he used for a house pet and taught tricks for fun, in his back yard.

Neighborhood youngsters would flock around every day to watch Lady perform and the dog learned more and more unusual tricks. Officer Pressley could never forget the sights of children he had seen in accidents that might have been prevented if the kids had known a few basic safety principles. Mrs. Pressley had a pet collie, Lassie, who was unusually intelligent. Pressley decided one afternoon to try his hand at teaching safety to the neighborhood children by means of the dogs' capers.

It clicked from the first back yard show. Officer Pressley's first performance on a school stage with Lady and Lassie, the two brain dogs, was a tremendous success. Following the show the school children gathered their pennies and nickels and went to the principal to ask if they might buy a gift for the Pressley dogs. A few days later Officer Pressley's star canine performers received two bowls with their names inscribed on them. And the show was born.

Requests for performances in Carolina schools poured in Charlotte's police chief was equally impressed with the spectacular way Officer Pressley could teach safety to children and approved public performances. At first the show traveled in a borrowed service station truck.

The Charlotte police department soon had requests from every state in the union for the show as the news spread. Fan mail even today comes in from children who can't forget the wonderful show they saw years ago. Mail even comes from foreign countries where interest in traffic safety has grown.

In the space of a few short years the show was seen by millions of children and adults in thousands of performances. The show grew in size, adding new acts and animals, until it evolved into the full circus.

Continental Tailways officials say they have been trying for over a year to make arrangements for Officer Pressley's show to come to this area. A spokesman for the company said they felt the same as Police Chief Littlejohn, of the Charlotte, North Carolina, police department, when he stated that if it saved one little mangled body it would be well worth the effort.

The show will appear at the following schools: Barkdull Faulk, Tuesday, 10 a. m.; Lida Benton, Tuesday, 1:30 p. m.; Central Grammar, Wednesday, 1:30 p.m.

Foresters See Achievements Of D'Arbonne Soil Savers

Some of the outstanding accomplishments of the D'Arbonne soil conversation district were exhibited Friday to visiting delegates to the convention of the Society of American Foresters.

A special tour, planned and headed by work unit supervisors for the district was conducted through woodlands west of the Twin Cities during the afternoon. The visitors saw examples of work done and in progress by the soil conservation service, which works with the district in the planning and execution of conservation measures.

Under the S. C. S. plan, all land is used according to its ability and treated according to its need. Work unit supervisors handle virtually every phase of the conservation plan, from the construction of terraces, pastures and farm ponds to the design, supervision and planting of timber plots.

Under a new rule of the secretary of agriculture, forest planning has been taken out of the hadns of the S. C. S. and turned over to the U. S. forest service, despite the success of the soil conservation overall planning.

The D'Arbonne district, including the western part of Ouachita parish, approimaxtely three-fourths of Claiborne and all of Union and Lincoln parishes, planted more than 5,000,000 trees in the area during the past year in an effort to increase service to the farmer by boosting the productivity and crop value of his land.

Stops along the route of the tour were made to show the members of the delegati o n S.C.S. procedure and progress in woodland management and to demonstrate timber utilization principles practiced by the conservationists.

The tour began on highway 80 in West Monroe, and the caravan travelled to Calhoun, Choudrant, Sibley, Downsville and D'Arbonne on the itinerary.

F. M. McFarland, work unit supervisor in the Calhoun area, discussed specific cases of timber management and cutting progress are each of the stops. Signs were posted along the route marking observation points of interest, including various S. C. S. accomplishments in addition to forest work.

Play Director At Neville Has Troubles Plus

By Jim Reynolds
(World Staff Writer)

Show business has the reputation, deserved or not, of being somewhat frenzied, and symptoms of the harried pace show up at every rehearsal.

To start the difficulties, the director, John Lacy, is faced with twins on stage. Good friends of Jean and Peggy Strauss have trouble enough telling them apart at close range. For the director, sitting in the middle of an auditorium, the problem of distinguishing between Peggy and Jean calls for 20-20 eyesight, a precise memory, a sharp ear and a secret sense.

Added to Lacy's worries is the possibility of having his cast and crew appear one afternoon with a variety of broken bones, stretched muscles and torn tendons. It seems that the stage gang has hidden leanings toward acrobatics, and take advantage of evevery breathing spell during a rehearsal to try headstands, flips, handstands and precarious human pyramids in front of the director's terrified eyes.

After the cast members have exhausted both the possibilities of acrobatics and the nerves of the director, the rehearsal goes on, punctuated liberally with requests to Lacy to "Play I Love The Way You Say Goodnight' for Ed and Eloise," or "something real sentimental for Charlie and Boo-Boo." Lacy, you see, is a disc - jockey on KLIC. His programs get a thorough airing and a complete criticism daily before, during, and after the rehearsal. The student are not only actors, but, to hear them talk, the most important section of Lacy's listening public.

The title of the comedy stems from the remark, "Men are like streetcars . . . if you miss one, there's always another along soon." The story begins as Maudie, a sophisticated 'teen ager, determines to share the exeriences of her love life with her sister. There's ore than just sisterly generosity behind the move, though, and it's the "ulterior motive" which recipitates the laugh - filled three acts.

On May 11, the audience will be permitted to judge not only the excellence of the acting, but also the stamina and nervous reserve of the director.

Tickets may be purchased from any Neville senior. Admission is 55 cents for adults and 30 cents for students.

FIVE TECH CLASS OFFICES AT STAKE

Run-Off Vote Tuesday Will Be Decisive; Federation Question Up Too

Ruston, May 5.—(Special)—With five class offices filled by a recent primary election, Louisiana Tech students will vote in a run-off election for class posts here on Tuesday.

Ballots will also be cast for or against a constitutional amendment to make any Tech student who has become a member of the Student Federation of Louisiana Colleges and Universities an exsenate.

In the primary election held on the campus recently, Ed Michael of Homer defeated Charles Campling of Hot springs, Ark., for treasurer of the senior class.

Bennie Jean Manor of El Dorado, Ark., won the junior class secretary's post over Marilyn Norman of Oil City. Alice Marie Walker of Shreveport was unopposed for the office of junior class treasurer.

In the sophomore election, Travis Derreese of Monroe, won the presidential post. Other candidates for this office were Kin Pankey, of Ruston, Paul Hagle of Haynesville and Dan Dupree of Martin.

Billy Davis of Farmerville and Joe Mott of Oak Ridge will vie for the senior class presidential position. James R. Hildreth, Pine Bluff, Ark., and Jeri Thompson, Cotton Valley, are in the run-off election for senior vice - president.

Alice Perry of Perryville and Keith Johnson of Camden, Ark., are run - off candidates in the senior secretary election. Seeking the junior vice - president post are Helen Harris of Shreveport and Walter Savage of Bastrop.

Patsy King of Alexandria and Charles Worley are in the sophomore vice - president run - off. Kitty Dartez of Monroe will seek the sophomore secretary job against Claire Nattin of Homer.

For sophomore treasurer there will be a run - off between Gloria Bozeman of Haynesville and Jack McCollister of Shreveport.

Aga Khan Regrets Rift Between Prince And Rita

By Michael Goldsmith

Geneva, Switzerland, May 5.—(AP)—The Aga Khan said today that Prince Aly loves Rita so much that he will agree to a divorce if Rita insists on it.

The Aga Kahn, 75-year-old spiritual ruler of 100,000,000 Moslems, added, however, that he hopes movie actress Rita Hayworth will not insist on a divorce from his son, Aly.

"We would all be very sorry," th. Aga Khan told newmen on the eve of his departure for Cairo to attend the marriage of King Farouk I of Egyt and Narriman Sadek.

"Rita is such a brilliant, beautiful, charming lady," he said, "and we all love her so much."

But it is much better that the two - year - old marriage should be broken up than the couple should "make each other unhappy," he said. "I can understand that she feels she cannot fit in with my son's public duties. He is just like me. When people ask me where I live, I say 'in my suitcase.'

"I hope she will be satisfied with merely a separation and not a divorce, though, I very much hope there will be no divorce.

"Aly is very fond of Rita, and he would very much regret losing her. But his love for her is one reason why he would do anything he can to lease her — even agree to a divorce."

He exlained that in Moslem faith marriage is a "truly personal, secular affair" and has nothing to do with religion.

"That is why divorce is so common in Moslem countries," he added.

Negro Teachers Plan Workshop

The Ouachita parish principals and planning committee met at Ben Allen Elementary School, April 30th in a special meeting to discuss plans for a parish workshop September 4th - 7th.

Mack Avants, parish superintendent was present and gave a vivid explanation of proposed plans for the afternoon session.

Members of the Ouachita Parish L. E. A. announced appreciation of the fact that Superintendent Avants included the workshop in the regular school year. Heretofore the workshop was considered an extra program of the local L. E. A.

After a study of problems submitted in September, it was discovered that there was a special need for help along the lines of school organization and administration, on both the elementary and high school level. All problems in connection with newer practices in teaching in all areas will be covered in the sessions.

The main objective of our overall program is to successfully develop worthy citizens and to do this there must be study, planning and understanding among parents, ministers, and teachers. Realizing this fact, it is urged that all interested ministers and parents to attend this conference.

GERMANS ASKING STRONGER ARMY

15,000-Man Force, Hundreds Of Light Bombers, Fighters Requested

London, May 5.—(AP)—West Germany has suggested that the western Allies permit her a 15,000-man army and hundreds of light bombers and fighters to help guard against any Russian thrust, western officials said today.

Western authorities were reported to fell the proposal is over - ambitious. It was reported made several weeks ago in answer to an American - Bitish - French request for suggestions on how the Germans can help defend the west.

The West German government issued a statement in Bonn tonight saying the report of the offer is a "pure combination" — apparently meaning it had been pieced together from broad, overall talks—but did not deny it. Sources close to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer stressed that the German-western talks so far were strictly technical.

The three occupying powers last December were asked by the Atlantic council of foreign ministers to explore the matter of a German role in western defense. Discussions have been going on in the West German capital since Jan. 9.

The Germans are reported to have indicated they would be able to set up the hard core of a land force within about nine months. This nucleus would consist of about 50,000 men.

ARMED FORCES DAY SCOPE INCREASED

Military Contingent From Camp Polk Added To Event Here May 14

The scope of Armed Forces Day, set for May 14, was considerably increased yesterday with the announcement by Chairman Raleigh A. Poulos that 221 officers and men of the 882nd Heavy Tank Battalion, Camp Polk, had been assigned to the Twin Cities to participate in the day's activities.

"This certainly adds impact to the theme for 1951's observance—"Defenders of Freedom'," Poulos said. "This heavy tank battalion will bring much of their equipment with them to participate in the military parade."

The parade, marshalled by Major Eugene M. Freeman, will be composed of high school bands from local and surrounding schools, the Camp Polk troops, national guard units and equipment, ROTC cadet corps from NELSC, and veterans' groups.

Monroe's own Rear admiral Hugh Goodwin will return to the Twin Cities to deliver the keynote address for Armed Forces Day at the Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon, Virginia Hotel. The general public is invited to hear the 51-year-old fighting man, veteran of 34 years in the navy's air and sea arms.

Army and navy jets will roar over the city at intervals in the day. From 2-5 p.m., there will be an open house at the National Guard Armory. Weapons and equipment will be on display and refreshments will be served. From 6-10 p.m. there will be four hours of continous movies that heretofore have been restricted movies. These will be shown at the armory and will be open to the public. Combat films of the Korean fighting are included.

Several Monroe and West Monroe civic clubs will feature Armed Forces Day movies as their luncheon program during the week and high school students will hear speakers emphasize the meaning of the day in special Monday morning assemblies. Downtown pedestrians will see several window display to remind them again of Armed Forces Day theme, "Defenders of Freedom."

It has been estimated that about half of all U. S. citizens are church members.

ALLIES PROBE

at 10 p. m. Saturday (8 a. m. Est.)

Sunday's mid - morning communique of eighth army said this attack still was in progress an hour and a half later but had not achieved any penetration of U. N. positions. Sunday's communique of general headquarters in Tokyo said the attack was "contained."

Northeast of Seoul, probing Allied forces rammed into the same 7,000 Chinese Reds who had offered stiff resistance Friday.

The two regiments, comprising an emeny division, put up another battle Saturday and refused to give ground.

Eighth army estimated that 1,255 Reds were killed or wounded in ground action in Korea Saturday and 57 were captured.

Improved weather permitted Allied planes to hammer the Reds heavily Saturday. Fifth air force alone flew nearly 500 sorties. Pilots estimated they killed or wounded 175 Reds.

Frontline dispatches were subjected to unusually close censorship. It appeared designed to cover the exact location of UN troop movement.

"This is not a general advance, but we're sparring for an opening," an American eighth army spokesman cautioned A. P. Correspondent Robert Eunson.

On the western front some Chinese prisoners taken Saturday wore summer uniforms and freshly - issued rubber - soled shoes, reported A. P. Correspondent George A. McArthur.

Allied infantry patrols re-entered Uijongbu, 11 miles north of the old Korean capital. One platoon withdrew after smacking into a Communist battalion on a ridge northeast of Uijongbu. Air strikes were called. Artillery opened up on other small pockets of Chinese west, north and east of Uijongbu.

A. P. Correspondent John Randolph said Allied commanders believed these Reds were the southern screening force of large Chinese concentrations south of the 38th parallel on the western front.

Trick minefields sown north of Seoul also provided a clue to Communist intentions.

One informed American officer said it was characteristic of the Chinese to lay "acres of minefields" to screen an area where they are massing for an attack.

Correspondent Eunson said it was generally believed the next move by the Reds — who still have more than 500,000 men along the front — will apply pressure on Seoul from the north while a spearhead tries to cross the Han river about eight miles east of the ancient capital. The aim would be to pin the Allies on the Inchon peninsula to the west, and split the defense line running to central Korea.

Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet had no intention of letting his eighth army fall into this plight, he has started his outnumbered but better - armed forces rolling northward again to keep the Reds off balance.

The eighth army estimated Red casualties Friday totaled about 790.

In clearing weather, Allied fighters and bombers made 439 sorties by dusk. Fifth air force pilots claimed 60 Reds killed or wounded, 230 buildings, 25 vehicles and 35 railroad cars destroyed or damaged.

2 BATTLEFRONTS

Arthur and his advocates may say that the administration's hopes are without basis.

Thus it seems logical that a quick conclusion to the fighting would work to the president's benefit and overshadow the great debate here, while an indefinite continuance of warfare would make it harder for the president to reject all of MacArthur's proposals.

That the administration has been preparing the ground for a cease fire and negotiated settlement, probably along the line of the 38th parallel is suggested by official comment on the Korean conflict. There is no longer on the administration's side any talk of a triumph in Korea. The key phrase was used by president in his speech on MacArthur's dismissal April 11 when he spoke of trying to bring the war "to a speedy and successful conclusion" in his most recent public speech.

General MacArthur, by contrast, has spoken of "victory" as the only proper military objective in the Korean fighting. He has severely criticized the administration for not following what he considers a decisive line of action aimed at bringing the fighting to a victorious end. He indicated that he visualizes this end as one in which Chinese Red representatives might sit down at a conference table and subscribe to arrangements preventing any further aggression by them.

What MacArthur has proposed, of course, is air action against enemy bases in Manchuria, economic and naval action against China trade and the China coast, and the use of Chiang Kai Shek's Chinese Nationalist forces against the "common enemy."

MacArthur has expressed the view that this would shortly knock the Chinese Communists out of the war and would not necessarily bring the Russians in. Administration officials contend that it would almost certainly spread the war from Korea into China, enlarge the commitments of the U. S., perhaps strip this country of its UN Allies, and possibly bring in the Russians.

MacArthur, however, has offered congress and the country a dynamic plan of action against which the administration so far has put forth only its hang - on strategy. The next week or two may very well demonstrate the relative effectiveness and appal of the two methods of operation.

Deputies Wrangle Over Disarming

Paris, May 5.—(AP)—The big four deputies debated acidly today the questions: Should the foreign ministers talk about disarming only their own countries or the whole world? And who is going to see that everybody really disarms?

Soviet Deputy Andrei Gromyko insisted on putting his own wording into the agenda, which would limit the arms question to Russia, the United States, Britain and France.

The western deputies balked. Britain's Ernest Davies charged that Russia's proposed wording for the disarmament item (which would ignore the armed power of all Russia's satellites) was "cynical and negative."

Gromyko accused the west of trying to keep off the agenda "an important and vital question concerning peace in Europe." He said he doubted "the genuineness of the west's desire for a meeting of the foreign ministers."

"Our patience has not yet weakened," he added ominously, "but sooner or later we must draw a conclusion. Are we moving toward an agreement or not?"

The session today ended the ninth week of the talks.

FIRE PUT OUT

Monroe firemen were called last night to extinguish a fire on an awning at Bodan's Drub Store, 236 DeSiard street.

The fire department reported that they received the alarm at 10:30 p.m. They attributed the fire to carelessness with cigarettes.

Only damage to the awning was reported.

ouster, beginning with Secretary of Defense Marshall on Monday. MacArthur left Marshall and the joint chiefs of staff a host of questions to answer.

Today, time and again, the deposed far eastern commander called for harder blows against the Chinese Communists.

He coupled this with a solemn plea that the U.S. uses its "moral leadership" to seek a major power agreement abolishing war.

And he got into the record, after military censorship held it up more than 24 hours, a message showing the Pentagon withheld permission for him to use 30,000 or more Chinese Nationalist troops to help stem the Red Chinese onslaught of last November.

One reason given by the joint chiefs of staff for holding up action on his request: That British commonwealth nations might not let their troops fight along Chiang Kai-shek's men.

In the final hours of his voluminous testimony, MacArthur declared he resents "with every fiber of my body" the suggestion that he failed to carry out the policies of the president, of the nation "or even the policies and directives of the United Nations."

With indignation ringing from every word, MacArthur said the various recommendations he made for harder blows against the Chinese Reds were aimed at "seeking decisions, seeking policy directives."

It was after a number of public statements at variance with administration policy that President Truman fired the general last month, with the explanation that he thought MacArthur could not give wholehearted support to the policies of the U.S. and the United Nations.

MacArthur declared flatly today that the president's reasons were "not valid."

He spoke in grave terms of the need for making permanent peace at a time of threatening war.

"Time is running out on us," MacArthur declared, saying modern civilization stands in grave danger of suicide.

Then, pouring out details of the conflict that led to his ouster as far eastern commander, the general declared:

1 — Secretary of Defense Marshall authorized him in a personal message last fall to send his troops across the 38th parallel in Korea—a step opposed by some in this country, and many in Allied countries, at the time.

2 — The statement (made by President Truman) that he wouldn't let the central intelligence agency operate in his command is "pure bunkum." MacArthur didn't mention the president by name, but flatly denied his statement that MacArthur accepted CIA help only after a personal plea from Gen. Walter Bedell Smith.

Through all of MacArthur's thousands of words of testimony ran a single fervent note—the war in Korea is headed for a stalemate, if not an Allied catastrophe, unless the administration takes off its curbs on the striking power of U.S. forces.

And he denied, time and again, the suggestions of Democratic senators that a widening of the war in Asia might provoke World War III.

On the contrary, MacArthur said, letting the Communists succeed there is the surest way of inviting them to start a general war.

Late in the day, MacArthur answered dozens of questions propounded by Senator Morse (R-Ore.) admitting at one point that the withdrawal of U.S. occupation forces from Korea in 1949 — which he approved at the time—turned out to be "a very grave mistake."

Turning to present and future questions, he said that if the Soviet Union should go to war it could "punish" Japan, but couldn't capture it so long as the U. S. retained sea and air control.

And he flatly expressed doubt that Russia could succeed in a "Pearl Harbor" attack on U. S. forces in the Far East—an attack so destructive that this country's contribution to western European defense would be endangered.

He said Russia may be getting more and more wary of lining up too closely with Red China in view of "the increasing strength of this new Frankenstein (monster) that is being gradually congealed and coalesced in China."

Turning questioner for the moment, he demanded of Morse:

"Would the Soviet desire to have China become so powerful that it might even challenge the Soviet?"

He said, too, that he has seen no evidence of Russia's taking increased interest in the Korean fighting. In fact, he declared, "the linking of the Soviet to this Korean war has paled out as the events have progressed."

On every occasion, MacArthur hammered away at his urgent win-the-war-soon theme.

Warning that "the first blow in the next war may be the decisive blow," the deposed Far Eastern commander said in somber words that the "initiatory action" by the forces of communism against the free world already is underway.

"I believe that if you don't meet it in Korea, you are doomed to destruction," he declared, adding:

"I believe that the evidence of weakness that we might show if we accept defeat—or this unconscionable continuation of slaughter with no definite mission at the end—will produce the very effect which you would . .. probably be most anxious to avoid."

Then, in a plain reference to the forces of communism, MacArthur said the need is urgent for a quick buildup of U.S. defenses.

"As long as you have a Maverick running loose in the world, it means that your necessity for preparedness increases unless you can find the formula to settle the whole matter."

Asked by Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) if he had any hope of finding such a formula, MacArthur replied promptly:

"It is the abolition of war."

In a discourse described by some senators as among the most moving they had ever heard, the famed soldier said modern civilization is in danger of committing suicide—that "time is running out on us."

MacArthur said Japan, shaken by the horror of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, has outlawed war in its new constitution. He said the great nations of the world must seek a similar solution—each on condition that the others agree to outlaw war.

"Take the moral leadership of the world, which is ours, and try something like that," he pleaded. "We are not making great progress along the normal lines of diplomacy."

In the third day of his marathon testimony to senate investigators, MacArthur said his blueprint for victory in Korea could be followed without increasing the nation's over - all military manpower.

He said it would take only a few more ground troops, plus some air and sea reinforcements, to inflict such a beating on the Chinese Reds that they would have to accept a "rational" peace agreement.

His estimate assumed, of course that the war would be waged as he has wanted to wage it—with bombing of Manchurian bases permitted, a strong blockade of the China coast, and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops against the Reds.

This is the strategy that the administration has turned down, contending it might well lead to world war three.

The 71-year - old MacArthur looked hale and chipper in the third day of his practically nonstop questioning by the senate armed services and foreign relations committees, which are conducting closed hearings into his dismissal and the whole question of Far Eastern policy.

Two senators said tears came into MacArthur's eyes, and he almost broke down, when he talked of the events leading up to the presumed death in action of Maj. Gen. William F. Dean, who disappeared last July 20 during the battle for Taejon.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the armed services committee announced that MacArthur would be followed on the witness stand, probably on Monday, by Secretary of Defense Marshall.

MacArthur has said Marshall overruled the joint chiefs of staff when they had endorsed his (MacArthur's) view on important aspects of the Far Eastern conflict.

The censored transcript of today's hearing showed that MacArthur, among other things:

1 — Advised postponing action on universal military training until the present emergency has eased.

2 — Refused to give an opinion on how many ground troops should be sent to Europe, calling that a "political controversy" and saying congress should pay close attention to the advice of the joint chiefs.

3 — Disclosed that there were plans at one time to evacuate "the mass of our troops" from Korea to Japan, although he personally didn't think the necessity would arise.

4 — Confirmed that he told President Truman at their Wake Island conference last October that the U.S. Second division could be moved from the Far East to Europe in January of this year. That estimate was made before the Chinese Reds jumped into the Korean war.

At the beginning of today's session, Senators George (D-Ga.) and Knowland (R-Calif.) questioned the action of a military censor in cutting out a portion of MacArthur's testimony from the transcript made available to newsmen yesterday.

Two senators had reported that in this deleted testimony MacArthur said he was refused permission to bomb a major Communist supply town about 35 miles south of Soviet border in northern Korea.

Russell named Knowland and Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) to take up the matter with the Pentagon censor, Vice-Admiral Arthur C. Davis, who has been given the job of editing the record of the hearings to keep any military secrets from leaking.

Russell said if no agreement is reached between Davis and the subcommittee, the committee itself will decide whether that portion of MacArthur's testimony will be made public.

MacArthur's preparedness plea came while he was being questioned by Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Texas.).

"You don't get the time now to prepare that you had in past," MacArthur said, adding: "There is no method by which you can avoid the surprise attack of an enemy these days. He hits and then he announces, or he hits and doesn't announce."

MacArthur said his program of routing the Chinese Reds would require "only a relatively small fraction" of the 3,462,000 men which the present military manpower program calls for.

And a successful war against the Reds could be carried out without the use of military forces now needed in other parts of the world, the general contended.

Once the Chinese Reds were beaten, he said, the U.S. would not have to keep in Korea anywhere the number of troops now there.

MacArthur expressed agreement with Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) that there is no way to prevent a surprise atomic attack on the United States.

But he registered firm disagreement with McMahon's suggestion that such an attack can best be avoided by refraining from provoking the Russians through a widening of the Korean war.

"I believe that the best way to stop any predatory or surprise attack by the Soviet Union or any other potential enemy is to bring this war in Korea to a successful end," the general declared.

He said, too, that America's atomic preparedness "is far in excess of that of the potential enemy at the present time."

"Within hours after he launched, we could counterattack," MacArthur said. "Every disastrous and gloomy prophesy that you have made, you can multiply against the enemy."

MacArthur told Morse he had "concurred" in the decision to pull American occupation troops out of Korea in mid-1949.

"In the aftermath and hindsight," the general said, "I should say it was a very grave mistake."

He added, however, that "there was nothing particularly threatening at that time in Korea."

Morse flung questions at the general for a total of four hours, irking some other senators who wanted to get in a few of their own.

MacArthur firmly defended U.S. intelligence units in the Far East despite their failure to give advance warning that North Koreans would strike across the 38th parallel last June.

"I can't think how it would have been humanly possible for any men. . . .to predict such an attack as that, any more than you could predict an attack such as took place on Pearl Harbor," he told Morse.

The general noted that, in any case, it took three weeks to get American troops in any force from Japan to the fighting front—so that two or three days' advance warning of the invasion wouldn't have helped.

"If the enemy had sent over a copy of his (invasion) order within 72 hours of the attack, there could have been very little difference in the result," MacArthur said.

Morse turned his questioning later to the Jan. 12 recommendations of the joint chiefs of staff. MacArthur says these were in line with what he wanted, calling for a China blockade, expanded air operations and the use of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist troops. He says he assumes they were vetoed by President Truman or Marshall.

Morse inquired if these recommendations were "based upon a plan of evacuation or retreat to the Pusan beachhead" in Korea.

"That is not the way it read," MacArthur replied. "It said distinctly that these things should be put into operation as soon as our position in Korea was stabilized, or that we evacuated Korea. . . . At that time, it was quite apparent that we were under normal conditions going to stabilize that situation."

MacArthur declined to say whether he thought the atomic bomb should be used against Red China if the MacArthur plan for ending the war were tried and found unsuccessful.

The general said it's up to President Truman to decide whether the bomb should be used, adding that he hasn't "discussed the use of the bomb with him in any way, shape or manner."

In any event, MacArthur said, his own program would be certain to win the war sooner or later.

Iron Curtain To Get Freedom Test

Vienna, Austria, May 5.—(AP)—Communism behind the iron curtain will be tested in a free election tomorrow. Pro-western Austria is choosing a new federal president, with ballot boxes in all four occupation zones.

A quarter of this central European republic lies in the Russian sphere of influence and is occupied by 44,000 Soviet troops. However, the Russians are permitting Austrians in their zone to vote freely.

Only one of the six candidates is a Communist. The election thus will show how much strength the Austrian Communist party and its Russian rulers have won or lost since a nation wide parliamentary election 18 months ago. They won only five per cent of the vote then.

Farouk To Wed In Royal Splendor

By Fred Zusy

Cairo, Egypt, May 5.—(AP)—Cairo glittered with multi - colored neon lights tonight in a preview of the Arabian splendor that will make the three - day marriage festival of King Farouk and his Egyptian bride.

The 31-year-old monarch and commoner, Narriman Sadek, 17, will be married at Kubbeh palace at 11 a. m., Sunday on the 15th jubilee of Farouk's reign.

Fine wedding gifts — many of solid gold encrusted with diamonds — were being spred at the palace. Foreign chiefs of state and potentates, diplomats and parliaments, religious patriarchs and even the Jewish communitites of Cairo and Alexandria vied in the richness of their gifts. President Truman was reported sending four steuben vases on behalf of the United States.

It is estimated that 16 to 20 per cent of U. S. economic effort goes into new capital goods.

Could you get by if you had to pay cash

How many people could enjoy the pleasure and convenience of an automobile, piano or refrigerator if they had to pay cash?

And could you lay your hands on the cash immediately to pay the physician or hospital for a sudden and unexpected illness . . . to pay the dentist as you walked out of his office . . . to pay the fuel dealer in one lump sum for a winter's supply of fuel?

Fortunately for most of us, we don't have to pay cash for everything we buy. We can take advantage of the liberal, flexible system of personal credit which enables us to buy and enjoy the things we want, when we want them, and to pay for them later. Whether our income is large or small, we can enjoy the privilege of buying almost anything, anywhere, if our credit record is good.

And the only way to maintain a good credit record is to buy only what you know you can pay for—and pay for it on the date it is due. Whether you buy on a monthly charge account, or on a deferred basis, extending over a longer period, develop the good habit of paying every bill promptly.

Then, when you urgently need or want something and haven't the cash to pay for it, it will be mighty convenient if you can say "Charge it, please."

GREENVILLE GETS SECOND TRIUMPH IN 18 CONTESTS

Rubber Game Of Series Due This Afternoon At Mississippi City

Greenville, Miss., May 5.—(Special)—The Greenville Bucks, wallowing deep in the mire of the Cotton States League cellar, took the measure of the high-flying Monroe Sports, 4 to 3, here tonight to mark up their second triumph in 18 league games.

Ted Gebhardt, recently obtained to give the Bucks new pitching strength, came through with a neat seven-hitter. Darvin Chrisco, the loser, made it a pitching duel to the finish with a six-hit job.

Monroe jumped into an early lead tonight and held on until the Bucks tied it up at 2-2 in the sixth. The Sports went ahead with one run in the seventh, but the Bucks did them one run better in the same frame to ice the game away.

George Andrews walked, advanced as Dick Anderson walked, and took third on Chrisco's fielder's choice in the second inning. A moment later Billy Wynns punched a single that scored Andrews with Monroe's first run.

The Sports tallied again in the second when Bob Hamric walked, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on a Bobby Greene single.

The Bucks opened their scoring in the sixth when Pinch - hitter Prickett, batting for Rowland, was hit by a pitched ball, advanced on a wild pitch and an infield out, and Prickett scored on a single by George Yanen. Mike Boettcher then walked, advancing Yanen to second. Then with two out, Wally Buerger came through with a clutch single that scored Yanen with the tying run.

Greene drew a free pass in the top of the eighth, went all the way to third on Ken Moffa's overthrow of first on Andrews' sacrifice bunt, and scampered home to send Monroe ahead again on Anderson's long fly into center field.

But the Bucks came charging back in their own half of the eighth. With one out, Lane Cullums walked. Prickett slapped a single into left field, and Gebhardt was safe on a Wynns error to load the bases. Yanen forced Cullums at the plate for the second out, but Boettcher followed with a double that drove Prickett and Gebhardt home with the tying and winning runs.

SADDLER GETS NOD

Hershey, Pa., May 5.— (AP) — Featherweight Champion Sandy Saddler, New York, punched out an unanimous decision tonight in ten rounds over Harry LaSane, Houston, Tex. Saddler weighed 130 LaSane 136.

The first payoff for pitching shut out games and hitting home runs was made to members of the Monroe Sports of the Cotton States League the past week by Peacock's Jewelers of Monroe. Peacock's has a standing offer of a Bulova wrist watch to all Monroe Sports for their first shutout at home, or for a first home run at Legion Memorial Stadium. Above, right, is Gordon Gibson, assistant manager at Peacock's, as he made presentations of the first four watches for 1951 to First Baseman John Paul Jones for a home run, and to Pitchers Bill Knoke, Darvin "Chris" Chrisco, and Rogers Stewart for hurling shutouts. Sports Manager Al Mazur looks on at the left while left to right are Jones, Knoke, Chrisco, and Stewart. Jones hit his homer the same night Stewart got the first shutout here in the 7-0 defeat of Natchez, April 18. Knoke shutout Clarksdale 3-0 April 22, and Chrisco blanked Greenwood 2-0 April 24. So far the players are ahead of last season when only one shutout had been pitched at this stage of the campaign with no homers. For the 1950 campaign Peacock's awarded Benrus watches for three shutouts and six initial homers. Peacock's also has a standing offer of $100 in cash to any Sport player hitting the Peacock clock in left center field. So far no one has collected with a blow to the clock. To Reward Lady Fans At Monroe Baseball Games

The first of a set of 12 beautiful 10 - inch tumblers will be given away on Tuesday night when the Monroe Sports meet the Pine Bluff Judges at American Legion Memorial Stadium. Business Manager Paul Manasseh of the Sports came up with this announcement last night and explained the giveaway deal in detail.

Each tumbler has one verse of "Casey at the Bat," with an appropriate cartoon, sketched by the famous sports artist, Willard Mullin.

The glasses will be given away over a period of 12 selected games during the season and at the conclusion of the series, each lady fan who has attended will hold a complete set with the full classic, written by the late Ernest L. Thayer and delivered triumphantly by DeWolf Hopper until death called him from the stage.

"As far as we know," Manasseh said, "a giveaway of this type has never been used in this part of the country. There is no gimmick attached to this offer, except that due to the high cost of the tumblers, we were only able to secure a limited number. Therefore, we will have to restrict the number to the first 300 ladies who come through the main grandstand entrance on each night."

SOFTBALL LOOPS MEET TOMORROW

Civic, Industrial Leagues Map Final Plans; Church Loop Set To Go

Final plan for the operation of two softball circuits here, the Civic Club League and the Industrial League, will be made at meetings here tomorrow night. Civic Club managers gather at the Monroe Recreation Center for their session at 7 o'clock and the Industrial skippers meet at 8 o'clock.

There's room for more teams in the Industrial League as only four teams are ready to go at the present.

Meanwhile, the Church Softball League has completed all plans and is set to start action next Saturday.

Teams in the Church League will play 15 games each, clashing once a week on Saturdays until the schedule closes August 18.

Progressive Men Open League Play

The National Federation of Young Men's Clubs will open the 1951 softball league of the Louisiana division today as the Progressive Men's Club of Monroe plays the Bossier Democrats of Bossier City at the Missouri Pacific diamond here. Game time will be 3 p. m.

The president of the federation A. F. (Tony) Canizaro of Monroe, will throw out the first ball to officially open the league.

Other chapters of the federation that have teams entered in the league are The Tux Club of Shreveport, Progressive Men of Bossier City, Bona Fidem Fraternity of Opelousas, Y. M. P. A. of Alexandria and Progressive Men's Club of Shreveport.

There will be an all - star game to be played in the city of the team that is leading the league on July 8. The league will windup the regular season with the playoff in Opelousas where the convention of the federation will be held Sept. 1-2.

Cardinals Back On Top Rung After 4-3 Win Over Phils In 11 Innings

Braves Lose Lead When Shut Out By Chicago Cubs, 2 To 0

Philadelphia, May 5. —(AP)— The St. Louis Cardinals regained first place in the National League today by defeating the Philadelphia Phils, 4 to 3, in 11 innings on Catcher Del Wilber's wild throw.

Boston's loss to the Chicago Cubs, 2-0, dropped the Braves out of the lead.

With the score tied at 3-3 and one out in the 11th, Enos Slaughter doubled off the left field wall. Stan Musial was purposely walked. Konstanty's balk sent the men to second and third. Peanuts Lowrey also drew an intentional pass.

Steve Bilko then hit to Gran Hamner who forced Slaughter at the plate. But Wilber's peg to head off Bilko at first got away from Eddie Waitkus and Musial tallied with the winning run.

MYERS, JONES, M'GONAGILL LEAD AT M'GUIRE

DON ZIMMERMAN MURPHY DUELING FOR SEMI-FINALS

Two-Day Tournament Winds Up Over West Monroe Course Today

By Louie Mathis . . .

Johnny Myers, the abdicated state P.G.O. champ from Bastrop; Biill Jones, Bayou DeSiard's club champion, and state Amateur Titlist Jimmy McGonagill of Shreveport, led the way last night into the semi-finals of the annual McGuire Park Invitational Golf Tournament.

Meanwhile, two Shreveport golfers, Don Zimmerman, the former All-America football player of Tulane University, and B. J. Murphy have still to settle their second round match before reaching the select circle of four.

Zimmerman and Murphy were all even when darkness caught them at 20 holes last night. They'll go out again this morning in sudden death play in their duel for a semi-final spot.

Jackie Doss, who nabbed the north Louisiana high school district championship Friday, at Ruston and qualified for the McGuire tourney with an even par 72, was nosed into the first round by Bill Jones. Abb Guice, Dr. T. A. Brulte and Harold McClendon the latter of Bastrop came through the first round safely but were shunted aside in the second round in what Pro C. J. Shirah calls his "keenest championship flight in years."

Championship — Johnny Myers vs. Bill Jones and Jimmy McGonagill vs. B. J. Murphy or Don Zimmerman, 9:15 a.m. Consolation — Earl Woods vs. Jackie oss and Clyde Nash vs. Dan Nevills or Kenny Holt, 9:22 a.m.

First flight — O. B. Moses vs. John Griffey and Robert Brooks vs. Joe Aillet, 9 a.m. Consolation—Joe Halbach vs. Ed Shaver and Henry Gilliland vs. Curtis Joiner, 9:07 a.m.

Second flight — John Terebesi vs. W. T. White and H. E. McKenzie vs. Hilton Heard, 8:45 a.m. Consolation — Ruffin Tidwell vs. Byron Grizby and Amos Shel vs. Les Biddens, 8:52 a.m.

Third flight — H. E. Hinton vs. Fred Clampitt and Stanley Passman vs. W. C. Tucker, 8:30 a.m. Consolation — Jack Moses vs. Bobby Clark and E. L. Lancaster vs. A. C. Williams, 8:37 a.m.

Results of Saturday's matches were:

Championship — Myers defeated Earl Woods, 3 and 2; Abb Guice gowned Donnie Boddie, 5 and 4; Jones edged Doss, 1 up; Dr. Brulte stopped Eddie Hemphill, 2 and 1; McGonagill passed Clyde Nash, 4 and 3; Harold McClendon dusted Travis Williams, 2 and 1; B. Consolation — Moses drew a bye-Clark took a default over Bancroft; Lancaster and Williams both moved ahead on byes.

Clarksdale's Glaze Takes Over Lead In Cotton States Slugging

Blytheville, Ark., May 5.—(Special)—Returning to the Clarksdale lineup after a week's absence because of injuries, Hugh Glaze resumed his heavy hitting to take over the Cotton States League batting lead with a mark of .469.

In 32 times at bat the Planter second baseman has blasted fifteen hits, including four double and a triple. He has batted in seven runs. Twice he bagged four hits in a single game.

Jim Gilbert, slugging Natchez outfielder, lost 38 points during the week ending May 1 but finished with a lofty .420 and second place. His card shows 21 hits in 50 chances with 14 runs batted in.

Pel Austin, Hot Springs versatile star, connected safely in all six starts during the period, picked up 38 points and took over the No. 3 spot with .393

Dick Anderson, Monroe catcher and last week's leader, ran into a hit famine and skidded 88 decimals to .379, and fourth. The Sport receiver had two singles, a double and a home run in 14 trips to the plate to show for his plate efforts in the last four games.

Rookies all but dominate the top of the pitching department. The veteran Copeland Goss, El Dorado, has won three and lost none. So have Hugh Lott, Pine Bluff; Vachel Perkins, Pine Bluff, and Don Ehlers, Hot Springs, all newcomers. Two of Ehler's triumphs have been via the shutout route. Pat Waters, Hot Springs, Joe Mattis, Hot Springs, and Roger Stewart, Monroe, boast 2-0. Spencer Towles, the rotund Clarksdale ace who blasted two homers in one game, and Bill Knoke, Monroe, each have won four and lost one. Ira Moxley, Greenwood, has 3-1. Tommy Graham, El Dorado, shutout the opposition for his two wins, losing once. Roy Jayne, Natchez, is the strikeut leader with 27, followed by Joe Kopach, Clarksdale, 24. Kopach has worked in 35 2-3 innings.

COLUMBIA COPS STATE 'B' TITLE

Crimson Tide Shines In Distance Events At Prep Track Meet

Baton Rouge, La., May 5.—(AP)—Jesuit of New Orleans, showing surprise strength, repeated as state track champion among Louisiana's Class AA high schools today.

Jesuit took an early lead yesterday and pulled away in finals of the 38th annual high school track rally at Louisiana State University today.

Jesuit scored 44 1-5 points against 35 1-5 points for Istrouma of Baton Rouge and 31½ for Terrebonne of Houma. Baton Rlouge finished fourth, with 27 7-10, with Warren Easton of New Orleans fifth with 25.

Bossier City, meanwhile, ran away with the Class A meet, scoring 54 points and easily repeating its 1950 victory. LaGrange, with 35 ½, was second, trailed by DeRidder with 31 ½, Metairie with 25 and St. Paul of Covington with 23 ½.

In Class B, Columbia won the title with 34 1-4 points. Plain Dealing and Church Point tied for second, Rodessa was third and Central was fourth.

Class C titlist was Georgetown, with 29 points. Port Sulphur and Carencro tied for second, with Belmont third and Pelican fourth.

Altogether, 21 records were established in all four classes during the 38th annual meet. About a thousand entrants from 82 school participated in 17 track and field contests.

Class B winners included:

Mile run—Wyant of Columbia. 4:49.5.

880-yard run—Wyant of Columbia 2:07.6.

TECHMEN AWAIT S. L. I. INVASION

Louisiana Tech Nine Winds Up Schedule In Tuesday, Wednesday Tilts

Ruston, May 5.— (Special) — Southwestern's powerful diamond aggregation will come to Ruston Tuesday and Wednesday to play the Louisiana Tech Bulldogs in what will be the last two games of the regular Tech baseball schedule.

Southwestern, beaten only once in Gulf States Conference play this year, is defending conference champions. They were recently defeated by the Centenary Gents in Shreveport.

Tech, loser of three loop contests this year, will be out to win the two-game series against Southwestern here, in hopes of entering a playoff for the northern district conference title.

If Tech were to take both contests, they would be pitted against Southwestern in a playoff for district honors. The winner of this playoff would play the winner of the southern district for the conference championship.

Louis Pipes, Sam Cox or Bill Randolph will be subject to call for Tech on the mound. All three pitchers will probably see action against the south Louisiana Bulldogs.

The curtain may drop on Grammar Softball League play this week, depending on the outcome of final games in two circuits. Ouachita must beat Crosley tomorrow to take the Seventh Grade League title or go into a playoff with L.T.I. for the league title. Likewise, L.T.I.'s Sixth Grade League outfit must beat Crosley Tuesday or meet Selman Field in a playoff for first place.

Three clubs tied for first in the Eighth Grade League which closed its schedule the past week. Selman and Millsaps meet tomorrow afternoon on the West Monroe playground diamond in a playoff for the right to meet Ouachita, the other tied-for-top team, in the deciding game.

11th Inning Boudreau Error Costs Red Sox Game With Detroit Tigers

Bengals Win, 8-7; Yankees Crush St. Louis Browns By 17-6 Score

Detroit, May 5.—(AP)—Lou Boudreau's wild throw home in the 11th inning cost the Boston Red Sox a game today and handed rookie pitcher Ray Herbert of the Detroit Tigers an 8-7 victory, his third straight in a relief role.

The wild toss by the ex - Cleveland manager came after Detroit's George Kell flied out to left field with runners on second and third and Boston leading 7-6.

Jerry Priddy scored from third after the catch. The relay got away from Third Baseman Vern Stephens and Boudreau picked it up and threw wildly to allow Dick Kryhoski to score.

The Red Sox threw twenty players into the game as Harry Taylor suffered his third defeat against no wins. Priddy homered for Detroit and Walt Dropo hit one for Boston.

NORTHEAST LOOP MEETS MONDAY

Final Plans For Season-Opening Program Next Sunday To Be Made

Larry Fox, president of the Northeast Louisiana Baseball League, announced last night that a meeting of league officials and team managers from West Monroe, Winnsboro, Mangham, Urania, Bastrop and Rayville will be held tomorrow night at the Frances Hotel, starting at 7 o'clock.

Fox, members of the Louisiana Tech faculty and also president of the successful Big Eight League, said the meeting of the Northeast loop officials will be to wind-up plans for season-opening games next Sunday.

Officials to attend the meeting are: Vice - President Dr. E. L. Carroll of Columbia, Secretary Charles Tower of West Monroe, and Treasurer Johnny Collins of Bastrop, as well as the team managers from the six league teams.

"Dit" Brownlee, newly-elected manager of the West Monroe White Sox, replacing Hal Willis, will sit in on the meeting for the first time. Brownlee was chosen manager and J. N. Foster assistant manager last week after Willis announced that his work would take him to south Louisiana soon.

Meanwhile, the Rayville Red Sox invade Mangham this afternoon at 2:30 for an exhibition clash, while the Bastrop Barons travel to Urania for a tilt with the LaSalle Producers.

West Monroe, with two exhibition victories to its credit, will use this week-end for practice.

Coon-In-Log Show Set For Thursday

The Ouachita Parish Hunters Association will sponsor the first "coon-in-a-log" contest to be held here, starting next Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at Cloyd's Park in West Monroe.

Frank Jones, secretary of the hunters association, said last night the 'coon will watch their prize hunters try to drag him out.

Although this is the first "coon-in-a-log" feature held here, sportsmen from this area have entered their animals in similar events elsewhere. The contest here differs from the "con-on-a-log" contest in that this one will be held on dry land, and the dog's job is to drag him out, instead of to unseat him, as is the case when the contest is held on water.

Jones said that dog - owners must pay one dollar to enter their animals, while fans will be charged a small entrance fee.

Certain types of the sulfa medicines now are being widely used to cut down disease fatalities among poultry.

Tag Scramble Features Mat Show At Kallio's Arena Tuesday Night

Henry Harrell, Johnny James Paired Against Balk Estes, Al Getz

A relay scramble that sends Henry Harrell and Johnny James against Balk Estes and Al Getz is being offered by Promoter Gus Kallio as the feature attraction at his Walnut street arena here Tuesday night.

James, a young husky from Houston, Tex., is the latest addition ot the southern wrestling fraternity. He made a "big hit" with Kallio's customers in his first appearance here last Tuesday, proving plenty strong for his 22 years and as tricky as the ring oldtimers.

The strange thing about the match is tha pairing of Estes, the former light - heavy champ from Elk City, Okla., with Al Getz.

Several months ago Estes were strong on lifting each others scalps, and in their last meeting the action got too hot for Balk. Estes tried to even the match with a ringside chair, cracking one of Promoter Kallio's folding chairs over Getz's head.

Getz suffered a head wound that kept him off the wrestling route for some time although he worked several weeks as a referee during the lull. Al's date Tuesday is his first since the chair episode.

"Getz and I never did get along," Estes told Kallio. "You're probably wondering why I have selected him over Jimmy Coffield as my partner. We'll probably be feuding again someday because he's hard - headed and just as hard to get along with, but he's an old hand at the game and its his oppponents who have the trouble getting along with him. As long as he's in my corner things should be O. K. for me, but what a night it should be for Harrell and James."

The tag scramble will have a 90 - minute time limit with two falls to win.

A pair of one - fall preliminaries, serving as introductory matches for the main event talent, will open the show at 8:15 o'clock. Bill Barney, West Monroe, will referee.

SOUTHWEST WINS

Perkinston, Miss., May 5.—(AP)—Southwest Junior College's 43½ points gave it first place in the Mississippi state junior college track meet here today. Other team scores were: Hinds 50½ Perkinston 48½, Jones 47, Copiah-Lincoln 22½.

LITTLE LEAGUE INTEREST SOARS

125 Boys Take Part In Saturday Drills Under 'Buddy' Blair

The number of boys trying out for positions on Little League teams jumped to a 125 Saturday afternoon as former major league baseball player "Buddy" Blair of Monroe put the youngsters through two stiff hours of training.

Recreation Director Jack Hesketh, secretary of Little League, said last night that the boys will be in top-notch shape by the season-opening date, June 11.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock and Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, Blair will send the applicants through another series of workouts in team positions.

The boy have already been divided into 12 teams, playing on diamonds at Northeast Louisiana State, and will go back to the same positions for practice as the ones they played Saturday.

Hesketh said the season schedule will call for two game a week for each team, and will last until sometime near the middle of August. All scheduled games will be played on Mondays and Thursdays.

Flu Bug Knocks M'Cullough, Kiner Out Of Pirate Lineup

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Home run hitter Ralph Kiner and Catcher Clyde McCullough of the Pittsburgh Pirates were unable to play against the New York Giants today because of the flu. They remained in their hotel rooms along with Manager Billy Meyer.

Milton Stock, third base coach, directed the team for the third day. Dale Long, rookie catcher, replaced Kiner at first base and Ew Fitzgerald went behind the plate.

RICHLAND DRILLING OPERATION

Plan To Drill Well In Richland Deeper

Drillers working on a well near Delhi in Richland parish were preparing last night to spin their tools deeper than the 3,600 feet they anticipated late last month when they rigged the location.

The new well is being promoted by the Lenora Oil Company, a commercial partnership of Syl Cerniglia and Dr. Rudolph Marion Dozier, of Delhi.

Cerniglia said yesterday that the company decided to give the Whitehurst Drilling Company, contractors of the well, a green light to go deeper than the planned depth of 3,600 feet. He said the decision was made after a test showed salt water and gas at 3,055 feet. Cerniglia said he had no idea how deep the drills would penetrate.

The Stanolind Oil and Gas Company is contributing dry hole money to the well.

The well is located in the southwest quarter of the southwest quarter of section 26, township 18 north, range 9 east, and is a mile and a half north of the Murphy and Sun discovery gas well north of Delhi.

OIL PRODUCTION BREAKS RECORD

Last Week's Output Shows Increase Of 6,400 Barrels Over Previous Week

Tulsa, Okla., May 5.—(AP)—The week ended April 28 was another record breaker for domestic crude oil production, showing a daily average increase of 6,400 barrels, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today.

The total daily average was 6,084,150 barrels, a new all-time high.

Leading the continued spurt were Michigan, up 4,700 barrels to 43,100 barrels, and Oklahoma, up 1,700 barrels to 504,400.

Mississippi was the biggest loser, down 1,250 barrels to 99,300.

Production was unchanged in Texas, 2,725,375 barrels, and New Mexico, 143,850.

Iran's Oil Field Seizure May Tighten U. S. Supply

By Max B. Skelton

Houston, Tex., May 5.—(AP)—Government seizure of Iran's oil fields could lead to a tight supply situation in the United States.

Loss of current flush production from the middle eastern country would cramp supplies of the western powers at least temporarily.

As yet, there has been no indication the Iranian government, under its nationalization program, plans to drop old customers of the Anglo - Iranian Oil Company in favor of new consumers, but the possibility remains.

Texas oil and gas conservation officials have warned such a loss could well mean rationing of petroleum products in the United States.

The United States could be expected to be called on to replace a large portion of Iranian oil that has been moving into western European countries.

Meanwhile, Russia could bolster her defense sharply if she could persuade Iran to divert its oil supplies from the western powers.

Acquiring Iran's current level of output would practically double estimated Russian petroleum supplies.

February crude oil production in Russia and her European satellites has been estimated at 923,000 barrels a day. Ian was producing at a rate of 704,000 barrels daily.

It was in Iran that oil first was discovered in the middle east in 1908. Since then production has spread to Iraq, Kuwait, and Saudi Arabia.

These four areas, all at Russia's front door, produced about 1,860,000 barrels of oil a day in February.

Oil reserves for the area are believed to exceed 30,000,000,000 barrels, considerably higher than the proven reserves of the United States.

Since the end of the last war, there have been frequent predictions that control of this flush middle east oil production would determine whether there is to a World War III.

The British navy is virtually affected by the Iranian developments Much of its oil supplies have come from Iran in that the British government holds a majority of the common stock of the Anglo-Iranian Company.

Anglo - Iranian facilities affected by the nationalization order have been estimated to exceed $500,000,000 in value, excluding the value of the oil itself.

There are less than 90 producing wells in Iran, but the average daily production per well exceeds 8,000 barrels.

This is in sharp contrast to the United States, whose approximately 450,000 wells last week produced a record 6,154,000 barrels of crude daily.

It is this production rate that has members of the Texas railroad commission concerned over the Iranian problem.

Lieut. Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the commission, this week said this record level of output has reduced the country's reserve producing capacity —oil that could be produced immediately if needed — to 439,000 barrels a day.

Abandon 2 Wells Site 9 Locations

Drillers in Northeast Louisiana last week abandoned two wells and sited new locations, the Conservation department's weekly drilling report showed yesterday.

The two abandoned wells were the R. A. Campbell Company's A. Nichols No. 1 in 40-7-10E in the Vidalia field. Concordia parish, and the Wilson Ewing Company's J. Walker No. A-1 in 11-16-7E in the Big Creek field, Richland parish.

MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, May 5.—(AP)—Stocks tipped lower today in a quiet market.

Most of the session witnessed a mixture of gains and losses that added up to virtually no trend at all, but a definite sag developed before the short session was closed.

Trading was only moderately active with an estimated 550,000 shares changing hands. A week ago the total came to 750,000 shares.

times has refused to intervene.

The entire group of McGee sympathizers was released on their own recognizance with the agreement that all non-Mississippians among them would leave the state immediately and that all Mississippians except the one Jackson resident would leave the city.

As McGee was taken from the courthouse he told a reporter:

"I ain't got nothing to say now but I'll have plenty to say later on. That is if you're there then."

McGee did not take the stand in his own defense at any of his three trials. He testified once, while the jury was out, to repudiate a confession which subsequent courts ruled was admissable as evidence.

Neither has he commented on the furore raised by the case. The civil rights congress of New York has been prominent in his defense.

The McGee case, three times tried on its merits and three times taken to the U. S. supreme court, has attracted widespread attention.

Wright said he believed the thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls he received in behalf of clemency for McGee have been inspired by Communists. Some of the letters have come from Red China.

The agreement this afternoon in connection with the 42 persons who were arrested was reached by Attorney General J. P. Coleman, who appeared for the state, Jackson Mayor Allen Thompson, county attorney Hugh Gillespie and Defense Attorneys Bella Abzug of New York and John Coe of Pensacola, Fla.

One side of the circuit court courtroom where the defendants were seated was half-filled with state highway patrolmen and city police officers. The defendants sat together on a far side of the room, filling four benches.

Inside the rail were Circuit Judge M. M. McGowan; Col. T. B. Birdsong, state highway patrol commissioner; Mayor Thompson, Coleman, Gillespie and the defense attorneys.

Conspiracy to obstruct justice is a misdemeanor in Mississippi, punishable by a $500 fine or six months in jail, or both.

Wright took the clemency petition for McGee under advisement and did not indicate when he would announce a decision. McGee is scheduled to die at 12:01 a. m. (CST), May 8 in the state's portable electric chair in the Laurel courtroom where he was first convicted.

Originally only 30 persons were charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice, but just before their cases were called another 12 names were added to the affidavit filed by Gillespie.

The arraignment was scheduled for 2:30 p. m., but was delayed until prosecution and defense attorneys reached the agreement.

Under that agreement, Coleman explained, City Judge George R. Noble was given authority to set trial dates for the defendants at any time he sees fit. This would leave the charges open in the event any of the group should return to Jackson, Coleman said. Otherwise the charges will not be pressed, he added.

Coleman said the defendants would have to leave as soon as they could, but "not necessarily at a full gallop."

The sympathizers were arrested on a corner across he street from the capitol as Gov. Wright began hearing the clemency plea.

SOCIETY

Monroe Morning World

May 6th, 1951

The engagement of Miss Carol Goettinger of New Orleans to Dr. Mortimer Raphael, also of that city, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raphael of Monroe, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Goettinger of Mansfield, Ohio.

Miss Carla-Beth McKenzie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKenzie, of this city, is the bride-elect of Louis Ray Soulier, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Nicholas Soulier, of New Roads, Louisiana. The marriage will be solemnized at the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church of Lakeland, La., June 6.

Mrs. Ben Cobb Addresses Central Grammar P.-T. A.

An interested group of parents, teachers and friends of Central Grammar School P.-T. A. met in the school auditorium for the April meeting. Mrs. Hugh Murray, vice-president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. C. Liles.

Mrs. Lee Barnes led the opening prayer which was followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to our flag.

Mrs. Virgil Crawford gave an interesting report of the State P.-T. A. Convention which was held recently in Shreveport. This organization was represented by Mrs. Craford and Mrs. L. D. Melton who have been elected president and secretary of the organization for the coming year. Mrs. Crawford showed the Certificate of Attainment which was presented the organization for goals achieved during the past year.

Mrs. Eulalia McCoy, program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Ben Cobb, who gave a most interesting discussion on the subject of "Socialized Medicine." She expressed her aim to be that of informing the people so that they may make their own decision as to what they want for themselves.

Compulsory payroll deductions mean additional taxes for all. The socialized plan would be more expensive and less efficient. Failure of the plan in three countries in which it has been tried was pointed out.

Voluntary health insurance plans, being competitive, have proven much more satisfactory than compulsory plans. Those present were urged to examine the many voluntary insurance plans now available and decide for themselves whether they prefer compulsory or voluntary health insurance, then write to their representatives in the Congress regarding their preference.

A number of selections were beautifully rendered by the Central Grammar School Chorus which includes boys and girls of the fourth, fifth and sixth grades under the direction of Miss Dorothy Tullos. Members of the chorus Patricia Sanders, Ann Carolyn Fuller, Charles Rousch, Wanda Waller, Sylvia Rucker, Hazel Compton, Margaret Atkins, John Kelly Lynch, Linda Gates, Travis Sanders, Raymond Williams, Barbara Trezevant, Jimmie Evelyn Clark, Carolyn Ford, Kenneth Long, Jerry Grant, Murriel Etier, Carolyn Worley, Sara Joe Morror, Ola Mae Gibson, Elwanda Greer, Dorothy Stephenson, Antonio Faircloth, James Taylor Horton, Edith Holton, John Edwards and Hugh Grayson; Fifth Grade: Carol Bedgood, Marie Blackwelder, Catherine Sue Brantley, Clarice Ann Brown, Jo Ann Crosby, William Ernest Cruse, Jr., Linda Ruth Gibson, Harold Pippin, Peggy Ruth Goolsby, Bill Kelsey, Max Lowry, Japlin Minor, Noble Prewitt, William Ragan, Jack Warren Reid, Donnie Serex, Virginia Stephens, Linda Rebecca Watts, Shirley Jean Allen, Patricia Anderson, Henrietta Davis, Virginia Davis, Pamelia Fuller, Nell Haley, Esther Lee Long Sandra Mitchell, Ann Poulos, Shirley Jean Prince, Imogene Starr, Mary Alice Westmoreland; Sixth grade: Shirley Davis, Carole Jordon, Betty Parker, Margaret Lowry, Annie Ruth Thompson, Letha Faye Trezevant, Martha Wallingsford, Jerry Clark, Patricia Mills, Bernice Wood, and Barbara Salley.

JUNE BRIDE-ELECT

Miss Yvonne Miller of this city, whose engagement and approaching marriage to Furman Shamp also of Monroe, son of Mrs. A. D. Shamp of Shreveport, is announced today by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Miller of Farmerville.

MISS YVONNE MILLER IS ENGAGED TO FURMAN SHAMP

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Miller of Farmerville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Yvonne, to Furman Shamp, son of Mrs. A. D. Shamp and the late Mr. Shamp of Shreveport. The wedding will take place June 9 at the First Presbyterian church of Monroe at six-thirty o'clock in the evening.

Miss Miller was graduated from Farmerville High School in Farmerville.

Mr. Shamp is a graduate of Fair Park High School in Shreveport and Louisiana Polytechnic Institute in Ruston. He is now employed with the S. E. Huey Company in this city. Mr. Shamp is a member of Theta Xi, Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Following their marriage they plan to reside in Monroe.

Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg Addresses Delta Rho Delta Sorority

Outstanding Texas Speaker Talks To Members On 'Successful Living'

Dr. Ben F. Lehmberg, pastor of the Riverside Memorial Methodist Church in Houston, speaking under the auspices of the Delta Rho Delta National business women's sorority, at the Virginia Hotel on Wednesday pointed out the five vitamins necessary for successful living.

In his lecture entitled "Life With Vitamins" he discussed A-attractiveness, B-brotherliness, C-conviction, D-devotion and E-enthusiasm. Not by chance alone does any woman become attractive. She earns her place in her circle by developing personality characteristics from within that make her company a pleasure to others. No matter where she exercises her influence in home, business, club, school, resort, or social life her warm inner attractiveness is quickly recognized and wins everyone's confidence. To be successful in living one must have brotherly love. One must take the extra trouble to give a welcome from their heart and mind with their eyes, voice and smile. It is an awareness and consideration of others' feelings and reactions that makes the presence of this woman so desirable to everyone. Two other vitamins necessary to have a successful life are conviction and devotion. We cannot serve our community, we cannot serve our country, we cannot serve the world if we do not have a devotion for it. We cannot pretend to be able to solve the problems which baffle the United Nations, for instance but we can convince ourselves that these problems exist because most of the people have themselves become confused in their thinking. And they have let this happen because they did not make the effort, take the time, have the devotion, accept the sacrifices involved in keeping the walls and the embankment build up which restrain the otherwise controlable waters of human thinking. Few things in this world have ever been accomplished without enthusiasm, our fifth vitamin. The story of every successful life is streaked with it. The very essence of enthusiasm lies within the person and his objective. From the life of the great French Scientist Louis Pasteur I came across a statement of his about enthusiasm, speaking of it as "the beautiful word . . . bequeathed to us by the Greeks (en theos), an inward God." It is well to remember this derivation, as it is most expressive of the word. We can achieve so much more if we believe that "an inward God" cheers us on!

If you don't believe in yourself, and in that which you want others to believe in, you might as well do nothing which is about the same thing as being a nobody and getting nowhere. But with enthusiasm as an asset you keep creating and recreating self-confidence, and influencing others to house that "inward God" of yours.

Unfortunately, enthusiasm is often misplaced—used at the wrong time in the wrong way—but so are many other things! The important thing at the start, when you feel enthusiasm bubbling to a good heat, is for you to steer that enthusiasm into the right road. There are any number of these sorts of roads, each of which, taken, may easily lead to success and happiness.

The following were present to hear his outstanding speaker: Mrs. Bertha Patterson, Miss Mary Riser, Mrs. D. C. Metcalf, Miss Katherine Buckley, Miss Dorothy Horton, Miss Wilma Smith, Miss Aulcy Burgess, Miss Ella Pearl Sutton, Mrs. L. Taylor, Miss Mary Ann Ashford, Miss Bernice McCrary, Miss Ann Mickel, Mrs. J. N. Riddle, Miss Lillian Glenn, Miss Freeda Mickel, Mrs. Woodrow Fields, Miss Janet Shepard and Miss Nannette Ray.

Ginger Donald Is Honored At Skating Party On Birthday

"Skateland" was the scene of a skating party Saturday morning honoring Miss Ginger Donald on her ninth birthday. The young skaters, dressed in blue jeans, were a colorful sight as they skated to "couples only," and trio skating.

Soft drinks and cookies were served during an intermission at which time Ginger, opening her present, was the recipient of many useful gifts.

Ginger is the daughter of Captain and Mrs. Sam onald.

APRIL BRIDE

Mrs. William Covington, before her marriage April 21 was Miss Edith Harris, daughter of Mrs. Maude Harris, of West Monroe. Mr. Covington is the son of Mrs. Addie Covington, also of West Monroe.

Miss Edith Harris Is The Bride Of William Covington

Beautiful Church Wedding Solemnized April 21 In West Monroe

A wedding characterized by simplicity, dignity and April 21, when Miss Edith Harris, daughter of Mrs. Maude beauty was solemnized in the Church of God, West Monroe, Harris, of West Monroe, became the bride of Mr. William Covington, son of Mrs. Addie Covington, also of West Monroe. They were united in marriage by the Reverend J. P. Nolan, brother-in-law of the bride.

The church was beautifully decorated. On either side of the altar were lighted candelbra and tall pedestals holding specimen white gladiolas in fan shaped vases with a profusion of fern and evergreen.

To the background of pre-nuptial melodies, played by Mrs. Naomi Knighten, sister of the bride, the guests were seated by the ushers, Burtis Knighten, brother-in-law of the bride, and Doyle Prisock, and the candles were lighted by Billy Hagood, and Everett Cotney, nephew of the groom. Tommy (Sonny) Rainer, in beautiful deep clear tones, sang "O Promise Me" and "Always," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Knighten.

The bridesmaids, Miss Carolyn Christy, and Mrs. Opal Traina, sister of the groom, wore similar dresses of pink net over pink taffeta, and carried a fan-shaped bouquet of blue net, multi-colored ribbon and white carnations. Their headpieces were of pink net and ribbon.

Miss Audrey Harris, serving her sister as maid-of-honor, was dressed in orchid tulle trimmed in black velvet. She carried a bouquet of yellow daisies. The flower girl, little Miss Dorothy Jean Covington, niece of the groom, was dressed in white net over white satin, and carried a bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Her headpiece was of white net and ribbon. She wore white gloves. Mr. Jim Covington, served his brother as best man.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, R. S. Harris, of Augusta, Ark., was lovely in a traditional satin gown fashioned with a fitted bodice of nylon tulle, embroidered in seed pearls, and tight fitted calla lily sleeves. The long full skirt ended in a court train. A finger tip veil of white net with coronet of tiny seed pearls was worn. She carried a white Bible upon which rested a purple-throated orchid with streamers of white feathered carnations and net.

The mother of the bride was wearing a navy crepe with black accessories. The mother of the groom was wearing a printed bemburg crepe with black accessories. They wore corsages of pink carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of Mrs. J. P. Nolan, sister of the bride. The bride's table was overlaid with a crocheted tablecloth, the handiwork of her mother, which was presented to the bride. Centering the table was the two tiered wedding cake embossed in pink roses and green leaves, topped with a miniature bride and groom. The other refreshments carried out the color scheme of pink and green.

Mrs. Avis Harris, aunt of the bride, cut and served the cake. Mrs. Mary Lee Prisock presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Mava Jean Nolan, niece of the bride, presided at the bride's book.

Following the reception, the couple left on their wedding trip. For traveling the bride wore a pink and black crepe model with black accessories. Her corsage was an orchid. Upon their return they will be at home to their friends in West Monroe.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

Anyone passing the Girl Scout office on Hall Street on a recent Friday afternoon might have seen the front and back yards swarming with girls busily pulling up grass around the shrubbery, digging a flower bed and transplanting flowers and otherwise improving the looks of the place. These were girls of Troop 28 and their leaders Mrs. Tom Davenport and Mrs. Henry Hinkle. The troop has been working in the Community Life field and looking for opportunities for community service.

Working together was fun but to make the occasion even more fun the girls made a fire in the yard and cooked some-more for refreshments. Friday and Saturday of last week this same troop went on a wonderful trip to Baton Rouge. We'll pass on details as soon as we hear them.

Young girls don't need much excuse for a party at any time but it is seldom that a troop has three reasons for a party. Troop 7 did, however. The girls were invited to help celebrate Lou Monk's birthday Glenelle Pearce a former member of the troop was visiting, and Kathie Schwab is moving away so it was a good bye gesture for her. Needless to say, a good time was had by all.

Troop 4, which is working on Second Class, devoted its past two meetings to first aid and to music appreciation. For the first aid session the girls learned how to treat a cut, a burn, a scratch, and to use a triangular bandage as a sling, head, hand, and sprained ankle bandage. The tied up heads created much merriment, but the girls learned how to make the bandages neat and are very sure that they can tie square knots.

Meeting at the home of Carey Cue Turner last week the girls listened to records in order that they might learn to distinguish the various instruments. Mrs. Louis K. Turner and Mrs. Carl Thompson are leaders of the troop.

Troop 39 Brownie Scouts paid a worthwhile visit to the police station recently accompanied by their leaders Mrs. J. B. Corder and Mrs. C. H. McAmis. The policemen talked with the girls safety. The girls were very interested in the demonstration of finger printing, too. An excellent way to learn safety we'd say.

From the littlest Brownie to the members of the board all Girl Scouts are getting more and more excited about camp. Girl Scout troops are becoming more interested after they have spent a Saturday exploring the site and seeing what has been done on the building. The actual construction is rapidly nearing completion and now the Scouts are looking forward to the housewarming and dedication on Sunday afternoon, May 27. Many of them are taking their mothers down town to buy a plastic dish or a piece or two of stainless steel cutlery for a gift on this occasion. The camp committee invites all friends and parents of Scouts and all others interested in Scouting and in camping to come—May 27 at 3:00 o'clock.

FLOWERS for MOTHER'S DAY

Sunday, May 13

Mother becomes dearer and dearer to us as the years roll by. It's because it takes years before the best of us realize just how much Mother has given of herself to bring us happiness and life itself. What better way is there to honor Mother on her day than with fresh flowers?

Review Club To Hold Annual Open Meeting Here

Mrs. Lois J. Lester, Guest Speaker, Will Talk On Her Copies Of Audubon's Bird Paintings

The Review Club will hold its annual open meeting Monday, May 7 with Mrs. B. B. Cobb, 1412 South Grand. The members of the review club feel quite fortunate in obtaining Mrs. Lois J. Lester as guest speaker.

Mrs. Lester is in great demand to talk about and exhibit her beautiful copies of Audobon's bird paintings. It all began, she relates when her husband, the late George M. Lester, suggested that she utilize her "slight talent" for painting to make a group of copies to advertise the spring "Audubon Trail" pilgrimage to the beautiful district of Louisiana in which she lives. Waverly, her antebellum hime, was one to which Mr. Audubon was summoned to teach dancing and the "social graces." The Lesters later purchased the house, and it was natural that a lively interest in the famous naturalist should ensue. Mrs. Lester has been active since then in propagating her enthusiasm throughout the state.

Mrs. Lester's life is constantly full of interesting occurrences, due principally to her enviable ability to make almost any person or situation interesting. Not more than five minutes of conversation with her is necessary for one to realize that she is sincerely intrigued with individuals as such, and, so it seems, you in particular. She simply makes you radiate with voluntary information, with next to no effort. But if you were to learn even a little of Mrs. Lester's past and present experiences, it would be a singularly full and exciting schedule, for "new worlds to conquer" are always before her.

It was in 1912 that, as Miss Lois Janvier, she reigned with Rex as sovereign of New Orleans' world-famous carnival. She inaugurated the idea of placing the Queen's jewels in the museum of the Cabildo, a practice that many queens have followed since that time. Later, she left the secure life of a favorite New Orleans debutante to go abroad after World War I to assist with the entertainment of the U. S. troops overseas. Her position with the Y. W. C. A. meant new people, new places, and further opportunity for being with and helping others, so for Miss Janvier, in spite of the inconveniences of post-war Europe in 1918, it was what she wanted.

Her marriage in 1919 brought her to her new home in West Feliciana, and subsequently to her hobby of copying the priceless paintings of Audubon. Her replicas, which are done with extreme fidelity to the originals, are of particular value because of the diminishing number in the state. So faithfully executed are her water-colors that she has been requested to make some for permanent library records. Mr. Audubon's exquisite designal quality, which biologists hold above his representation of the various species, is really evident in the works of Mrs. Lester, as in those of the master himself, for an addition to actual bird duplication, the foliage, flora, and landscape are also counterparts of the originals. This is an important factor, because much of the background material is peculiar to this area.

If a fragment only is copied, Mrs. Lester is always careful to select an area of the painting which is designed beautifully in itself. From her primary purpose has developed an extensive collection of more than 90 different designs. She now has more orders than she can fill. Her paintings hang in many of Louisiana's most beautiful homes, including Oakley in West Feliciana, Albania in Jeanerette, and others.

Mrs. Lester, who is vitally interested in her association with the State Library (she is a member of the board, lends her infectious enthusiasm for library work to the many library workers with whom she comes in contact. She feels that knowledge is the most powerful weapon for peace, and that ever-widening library service is the surest road to universal understanding. However, she laughs, "I do have to concentrate when I pronounce 'library' to keep it from becoming 'li-berry'," as her friends accuse her of saying. "As a matter of fact," she warns, "I may take up brick-laying for a hobby. The 'r' in brick bothers me not at all, and besides, I need a garage for my Ford."

READERS' CLIQUE MEETS IN HOME OF MRS. STANLEY ARCHIBALD

The members of the Readers Clique met Thursday afternoon for their regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Stanley Archibald.

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr. Roll was called and minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Fred Parrish. The club voted to increase their membership to twenty-two members.

Books were checked and distributed by Mrs. A. G. Olcott.

Mrs. Henry Menuet, program chairman introduced the guest speaker, Miss Frances Flanders. Miss Flanders gave most informative and helpful talk on "Books for Betty Living." She gave an interesting outline of books for "outdoors" and books for "indoors."

Under the heading of "outdoors" were books on building, gardening, growing flowers and outdoor living. Some of these listed were: "Plan Your House to Suit Yourself," "The House for You — to Build, Buy, or Rent," "Gardens in the Modern Landscape," "The Complete Garden Handbook," "Flowers to Know and Grow," "Azaleas - Camellias - Gardenias," "How to Build Garden Structures," and "Designs for Outdoor Living."

Books listed for "indoors" were on entertaining, arranging flowers, cooking, spending wisely and decorating. Some listed under these headings were "The Perfect Hostess," "Flower Craft," "Flower Decoration for the Home," "Betty Crocker Picture Cook Book," "Moneywise," "Clothing for Children," "How to Make Curtains and Draperies" and "Handbook of Early American Decorations." All these books may be obtained at the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

Members present were: Mrs. Clay Albright, Mrs. Stanley Archibald, Mrs. Evans Ethridge, Mrs. Sidney Gill, Mrs. Jimmie Harbuck, Mrs. Burl Hollis, Mrs. Mike John, Jr., Mrs. Raymond John, Mrs. Ivy Jordan, Mrs. Edwin Crowley, Mrs. Jack Masur, Mrs. Henry Menuet, Mrs. G. L. Morgan, Mrs. Oliver Lowery, Mrs. A. G. Olcott, Mrs. Fred Parrish, Mrs. Louis Peters, Mrs. Walter Ryland, Jr., Mrs. Ray Updegraff and Mrs. T. F. Wilson.

Y. W. C. A. ACTIVITIES

Y. R. G's

The YRG's Club met on Monday evening for supper and their regular club program. Mr. and Mrs. B. S. White were special guests of the club and Mr. White gave a very inspiring devotional on "Things That Change Not." Those who were present for this meeting were: Frances McClary, Oree Johnston, Marcille Alger, Johnnie Slaton, Lillie Mae Copes, Pearl Hopkins, Mrs. Hundley, Miss Sharp, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben S. White.

Y. W. C. A. Board

Miss Juanita Porter, president, called the meeting to order. Mrs. J. H. Hebert gave a very beautiful and lovely devotional on "Prayer and It's Necessity in Our Lives." Mrs. H. G. Thompson gave the monthly financial report. Mrs. Hundley reported on the residence activities. Mrs. Eugene Flournoy reported on the work which the young adult committee has been doing in contacting the business girls in the community as prospective members for the B. and P. Clubs of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. J. H. Hebert gave a report of the Y-Teens and their plans. Miss Bess Sharp, executive, gave a report on the Y. W. C. A. certification requirements and basic standards. A report on the membership showed that there were nine new members and 20 renewals of membership in the Y. W. C. A. during April. Membership in the Y. W. C. A. means an active sharing in the work and program of the Y. W. C. A. in the local community, in the nation, and in the world since $1 of the membership fee is used in the local budget and $.50 of the fee is sent as the individual's share in the national and world's work and program (the membership fee is $1.50) . . . a person becomes a member of the Y. W. C. A. because she believes in the Y. W. C. A. The Y. W C A board members contributed to a fund to be sent to buy a case of soap for Korean relief, a project sponsored by the Monroe Altrusa Club, and also by the Y W. C. A. world fellowship. Mrs. H. A. McDonald and Mrs. R. B. Henry were appointed to make plans for the annual luncheon for the Community Chest board members. Miss "Dutch" Martin told of the project of the council of clubs regarding a Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. in the Twin Cities.

Y-Wives

Members of the Y-Wives' Club are looking forward to having as their guest speaker, Mrs. Mildred Swift, city Home Demonstration agent, to discuss "Interior Decorating." All members and anyone interested in hearing Mrs. Swift are cordially invited to this meeting.

Mrs. M. J. Hortman Hostess At Home Gardener Club Meeting

Tour Of Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn's Garden Follows Social Hour

The Home Gardener Club met Tuesday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. M. J. Hortman for a business meeting. Mrs. Hortman invited the members into her lovely back yard to enjoy the warm spring air during the meeting.

Mrs. John A. Peters, president, presided while Mrs. W. E. Young read the minutes and checked the roll. Various committee reports were made. Mrs. Peters then opened discussion on the chief topic of the meeting ,which was the forthcoming flower show. She asked Mrs. W. E. Young to read the schedule of classifications to be followed by the entrants. Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, chairman of the flower show, was then called upon to explain each classification. She made suggestions as to what arrangements might be entered in each division.

After the meeting was adjourned, Mrs. Hortman served frosty cups of punch to the following: Mrs. L. D. Rogers, Mrs. Florence Brothers, Mrs. L. A. Smith, Mrs. Aline Banister, Mrs. Jewell McQuiller, Mrs. A. A. Tarpley, Mrs. L. N. Copes, Mrs. Milton Ford, Mrs. Roy Colquette, Mrs. Gerald Frasier, Mrs. H. O. Hartman, Mrs. W. E. Young Mrs. T. L Firnberg Mrs John A. Peters, Mrs. R. N. Dizier, Mrs. F. V. Reitzell, Mrs. F. C. Reynolds, Mrs. C. D. Smith, Mrs. G. C. Williams, Mrs. Elton Gunn, and Mrs. H. A. Scott, a guest.

Following the social hour, the group motored to the home of Miss Emy-Lou Biedenharn to view her lovely gardens. Miss Biedenharn is noted for her hospitality and has opened her gardens to many visitors this spring, as well as in the years past. Although the adults were greatly impressed by the breath-taking beauty of the entire setting, it remained for "Mr. Joe." Miss Biedenharn's father, to point out the features of interest for the younger generation. Little Don Hortman, Gerry Frasier, and Everett Hale Tarpley delighted in climbing the steps to the balcony which overlooks the gardens, ringing the bells at the entrance, and playing about the lovely fountain.

Miss Biedenharn explained that her garden had taken five years to complete, stating that the extensive underground drainage system had to be laid before anything else could be done. She gave an amusing account of her search for one statue, which eventually ended in her purchase of not one, but five statues. It was these statues which determined the plan of the gardens.

Although it is essentially a formal garden, it was interesting to note that one corner is devoted to a vegetable garden, which is under the supervision of Mr. Biedenharn. The greenhouse with its many unusual varieties of potted plants is also a fascinating feature.

After expressing their gratitude to Miss Biedenharn, the group departed with pleasant memories of the afternoon.

Tornadoes usually run out in about 40 miles.

NEWS FROM THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Ouachita Parish is known throughout the state of Louisiana for the interest which the people have in flowers and landscape gardening. In the twin cities there are several active garden clubs and the Home Demonstration clubs are vitally interested in this subject. In keeping with this interest it is the policy of the Ouachita Parish Public Library to build up a collection of books that will be interesting to gardeners of every type. If you have not consulted the Library about your gardening problems, do so as soon as possible.

New books are added to this collection almost every week. Some of the more recent ones are worthy of your consideration. "Holland's handbook for Southern Gardeners" by Ben Arthur Davis contains a great deal of valuable information for people in this part of the country. Another book by the same author, which was published in the fall is "Camellias, Azaleas and gardenias." Its title tells just what it contains. The outstanding authority on Camellias is Mr. Harold Hume. The Library owns one copy of his magnificent book "Camellias in America" which was published several years ago. However this winter he published a new title called "Camellias their history and how to grow them." This book is relatively inexpensive and is one that every Camellia grower would enjoy owning. It has beautiful colored plates and a wealth of information relative to growing Camellias. If you have not seen this book be sure to go to the Library in Monroe or West Monroe and ask for it.

The arrangement of flowers is an art that has been studied most carefully by the ladies of the Twin Cities. There are several standard works that everyone who takes up this hobby must read first. However new titles are always welcome. "The Joy of Flower Arranging" by Helen Van Pelt Wilson is a beautiful book. The illustrations are in color and the directions are very clear. The library owns four copies of this book and one can be found in each of the branches. Another lovely book of this type is "Flower Decoration for The Home" by Violet Stevenson. This book was written in England and some of the flowers are not available in this section of the country. However, it is still a lovely book.

Everyone who has ever visited Williamsburg has been impressed with the size and beauty of the flower arrangements. Mrs. Louise B. Fisher who lives in Williamsburg and spoke to the Monroe Garden Club last winter has published a lovely book telling about the use of flowers and fruit in decorative arrangement. She calls her book "An Eighteenth-Century Garland" and it is really a beautiful book to see. "Flowers and Table Settings" by Julia S. Berrall is a unique book. It is one that suggests table arrangements for parties of different types. Miss Berrall also discusses china and flat silver.

Another type of book which is extremely popular at the library is that of interior decoration. The books in this field seem to grow lovelier all the time. The newest one in the library is "Color in Home Decoration" by Effa Brown. This book covers such topics as an appreciation of color, the practical value of color, how to devise color schemes, creating illusions with color, the use of decorative patters and colors and patterns for period rooms. It contains numerous colored illustration as well as many in black and white. Anyone who is planning to redecorate their home should surely see this book. It should be extremely popular.

The books mentioned in today's column are only a few of the ones that the library owns. If you are interested in your home either inside or out, the library has a book for you.

Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority Entertains At 'Rush Week End'

Hayride, Dancing And Pallet Party Among Events Given During Sorority Week End

The members of the Lambda Sigma Chi sorority recently entertained with a "Rush Week End". Friday there was a hayride to Chemin-a-haut. The girls brought the lunches and after eating dancing was enjoyed. A pallet party for members, pledges, and rushees followed at the home of Miss Pauline Barringer.

The third in a series of four parties was a "progressive supper". The cocktail, fruit cocktail, open faced sandwiches and olives, were served in the home of Misses Jane and Catherine Underwood. The main course, at the home of Miss Katherine Guerriero, consisted of turkey, scallopped potatoes, fruit salad, rolls and iced tea. The dessert was served in the home of Miss Lynda Davis. The dessert was lime sherbert and ice box cookies.

Sunday morning the members, pledges, and rushees, attended the First Presbyterian Church in a body.

The final party was a tea held at the home of Miss Jo Anne Rizzo. A delicious fruit punch with a variety of open faced sandwiches and cakes were served.

APRIL BRIDE

Mrs. Thomas Vining, before her marriage April 19, was Miss Bernice Jones, daughter of Mrs. Margie Richbourg of Oak Grove. Cpl. Vining is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Vining, also of that city. The marriage was solemnized in Lake Village, Arkansas, at the First Methodist Church.

DOROTHY BIDDLE TO SPEAK AT FLOWER SHOW SCHOOL NO. 2

Mrs. Dorothy Biddle, noted garden lecturer, will lecture on design and color at the Flower Show School No. 2 to be held May 17, 18 and 19th at Northeast Louisiana State College. Apart from the above lecturers which are part of the school program, Mrs Biddle will give a lecture on flower arrangement.

Mrs. Biddle is the garden club editor of Popular Gardening magazine, and has for years delighted garden club audiences with her simple and personal approach to the subject of flower arrangement. No stickler for rules, she urges audiences to do what is essentially pleasing to them, to express their own tastes and moods through flowers and to relax and enjoy a creative experience.

As a speaker Mrs Biddle is sympathetic and compelling. A pretty, charming woman of warm optimistic personality she delights audiences everywhere. In the course of her usual eight months of lecture touring, she reaches many thousands of home makers whose dining tables are more attractive and living rooms more inviting for having listened to her suggestions on the use of flowers in the home.

With her daughter, Dorothea Blom, she has written many books. "Flower Arrangement for Everyone" and "Table Setting for Everyone" are the newest of these.

At the time of her marriage, Dorothy Biddle was editor of "Arts and Decoration". She retired for a few years to establish a home and raise a family. She returned to her editorial work in 1926, as editor of "Home Acres" official organ of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association. In 1931 "Garden Digest" was established with Mr. Johnson as publisher and Dorothy Biddle as editor. She continued this work until after Mr. Johnson's death when demands on her as a lecturer precluded other work. Since then she has devoted her time to lecturing and writing.

Today Dorothy Biddle presents lectures to clubs and to state sponsored judging schools all over the country. Traveling extensively she is in constant touch with the garden club movement in America. With charm and skill she spreads the ideals of better flower arrangement from ocean to ocean. Monthly in Popular Gardening she presents a "travelog" about her garden club experiences.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Landis Celebrate 25th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Seiber Landis, Jr., celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary recently with a reception in their lovely new home in Winnsboro.

Greeting the guests at the door was Mrs. A. J. Shoup, wearing a pale pink nylon organza formal, with a single gardenia in her hair. Mr. and Mrs. Landis, assisted by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Sieber Landis, III, and Thomas Boles Landis was gowned in chartreuse chiffon with white orchid corsage and Mrs. Bruce Landis was wearing a pale pink net with corsage of vanda orchids.

The reception rooms were decorated in green and white theme, accented with silver. Specimen Marconi daisies were used in the living room. In the entrance hall, Mrs. James Eppinette presided over the guest book. Here a lovely arrangement of white stock and white tulips placed on a console table, reflected their beauty in an antique gold framed mirror. Mrs. Eppinette was wearing a candlelight satin dress with a gardenia in her hair.

The dining room was a picture of beauty with table covered in candlelight satin damask, lighted by five tapers in silver holders, each with a gardenia at the base and surrounded by gardenias placed flat on the surface of the table. A single gardenia was placed on the silver trays at either end holding the punch and coffee service.

Mrs. Walter Woods, dressed in blue chiffon, presided at the coffee service and Mrs. S. A. Mayes, in mauve chiffon, poured punch. Each wore a double gardenia corsage. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. R. B. Henry, in rose taffeta, and Mrs. H. S. Spencer in gold net, wearing gardenias in their hair.

Also in the house party were Mrs. W. J. Lee, Miss Marguerite, Landis, Mrs. Thelma Applewhite, Miss Elizabeth Landis, Mrs. Charles Oxford, Mrs. J. O. Henry and Mrs. E. S. Lowry, Sr. all wearing gardenia corsages.

Two hundred and fifty guests called during the evening.

WELCOME WAGON NEWCOMER'S CLUB HAS LUNCHEON MEETING

The monthly luncheon meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomer's Club was held recently at a local tea room. The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. R. W. E. Guelzow, Mrs. Wilmer Chance, and Mrs. T. L. Van Fossen.

The tables were attractively arranged with bowls of spring flowers, which were decorated with water colors of steamships. The place cards were in the shape of steamships, also.

Miss Pat Sanders was the speaker, and after a delicious lunch, spoke about her recent tour of European countries as one of the twenty representatives of the National Junior Red Cross. Her address was very interesting and showed how friendly the youth of the world can be among themselves.

Guests introduced to the club were: Mrs. A. W. Harris, Mrs. Ella Weigel, and Mrs. William Golden.

New members were: Mrs. L. F. Erwick, Mrs. W. D. Kieppinger, Mrs. F. H. Hansen, Mrs. C. F. Heim, and Mrs. Lewis Harris.

Club members present were: Mrs. A. K. Allen, Mrs. Wilmer Chance, Mrs. M. C. Gilles, Mrs. R. W. E. Guelzow, Mrs. A. D. Hanks, Mrs. Lester High, Mrs. J. B. Huston, Mrs. Ralph Ludwig, Mrs. B. E. McWilliams, Mrs. R. L. Baird, Mrs. Bobby C. Pappas, Mrs. M. R. Perkins, Mrs. A. E. Weide, Mrs. H. W. Kight, Mrs. F. C. Young, Mrs. Roy R. Scott, Mrs. W. W. Weir, Mrs. F. P. Smith, Mrs. Charles Pratt, Mrs. J. C. Ussery, Mrs. J. R. Troeltzsche, Mrs. T. L. Van Fossen, Mrs. G. W. Numes, Mrs. K. M. McGoldrick.

BONHOMIE CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY FILM AT MEETING

Members of the Bonhomie Club met recentlty at which time they were guests of a local bottling company.

Mrs. Warren Breard led the group in prayer and it was followed with the Club Collect led by the president, Mrs. R. B. Pilant. The roll call and reading of the previous minutes were given by the recording secretary, Mrs. Hal Layman. An invitation from the Jaycees regarding Armed Forces Day, May 14 was read by the president. Mrs. Breard and Mrs. Layman presented plans for their annual meeting in May.

Following the business session, Mrs. Pilant introduced Mr. W. F. Grafton who gave a very informative talk on Communism and Socialism. In his talk he stressed why industry should be conscious of communism. He concluded by saying "the answer to communism is to be one-hudred per cent American."

The group enjoyed a film, "Refreshment Through The Ages," which was shown by Mr. Vaughn Payne. It depicted the development of the industry and showed its relation to other industries.

Mrs. Pilant and Mrs. A. J. McCready served refreshments to the following members and guests: Mrs. O. Willis, Mrs. Hal Layman, Mrs. Roland Waldroup, Mrs. George Forman, Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. Melvin Harrison, Mrs. H. M. Rhodes, Mrs. L. L. Tapp, Mrs. Warren Breard, Miss Margaret Wood, Mr. Grafton and Mr. Payne.

Ward; safety, Mrs. Leon Minsky; music, Carl Brupbacher.

Theme for the coming year will be "Know Your Child."

The recent state P.-T. A. convention, Shreveport, was attended by Mrs Terral and Mrs. Amacker, with Mrs. Amacker making a highlight report of the sessions. Mrs. Davis' seventh grade won the attendance award. At the request of Mrs. A. J. Wyly, Legion Auxiliary Girls' State chairman, the organization voted to send a girl as delegate to that session. Outcome of the art program was purchase of two pictures, "The Roes" and "Yellow Horses," and two books on art for the school library.

Expenses were voted for two delegates to attend leadership conference, Baton Rouge, April 27, 28, 29.

Organization accomplishments for the past year included 208 members, support and advertising of Christmas cantata, sponsoring square dance program, summer round-up for pre-school ages, appointment of school grounds committee to make recommendations relating to art in the school, appointment of school grounds committee to assist with planning of grounds, sponsored P.-T. A. play night and life membership award.

TWIN CITY P.-T. A. IN FINAL MEET

Officers Installed For Coming Year In Impressive Manner

Thursday afternoon when the Twin City P.-T. A. council held the last regular session of the school year, two newly-elected officers were installed. The officers, Mrs. James Larkan, Jr., 1st vice-president; and Mrs. J. Leroy Williams, secretary; were installed with an impressive message given by Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, state board member, and director of extension for the fifth district.

During the business session reports were given by all standing committee chairmen. It was pointed out in the president's report that the Twin City P.-T. A. council consists of ten local units with a membership of 3,521 for 1950-51. Three scrapbooks were awarded a superior rating and these were: St. Matthews, Barkdull Faulk, and Sherrouse. 188 national magazines were subscribed to within the council.

An up-to-date report was given on the proposed clothes depot for needy school children and Mrs. C. P. Guerriero, president, appointed Mrs., James Larkan, Jr., welfare chairman. The committee will be composed of the welfare chairmen of each local unit.

It was voted to change the time of future council meetings to 9:30 a.m. on the first Thursday of each month, with the exception of three meetings which will be night sessions. Months of the night meetings will be announced later.

Mrs. Paul Thompson, delegate to the state P.-T. A. convention in Shreveport, gave an interesting report which featured a discussion given at a luncheon meeting for council presidents.

Mrs. M. L. DeFreese urged that a state life membership be included in each local budget, as well as the council budget for the year 1951-52.

No unit had four representatives present at each council meeting during the year so the trophy was withheld until such time as a unit meets the requirements.

Roll call showed that representatives were present from the following school units: Georgia Tucker, Sherrouse, St. Matthews, Crosley, Mitchell and Selman.

SILVER TEA TO BE GIVEN IN HOME OF MRS. E. N. JACKSON

The lovely home of Mrs. E. N. Jackson on Roselawn will be opened Friday May 11 for a Silver Tea to be given by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. C. P. Gray, Jr., will be general chairman and she wishes to invite the public. This promises to be quite a social occasion as Mrs. Jasckson is one of Monroe's most gracious hotese and thoe who have been in her home will be anxious to again have this priviledge.

The proceeds from this tea will go toward the furnishing of a new building for the Methodist Home Hospital in New Orleans. This was previously known as the Home of Mercy. It was started sixty-six years ago by a handful of Christian Women of several denominations for the purpose of aiding unwed mothers and their helpless babies. For the past thirty years it has been supported by the Methodist Church. During these thirty years, more than three thousand girls have been helped and more than three thousand babies have been given a chance for life. This home ministers to girls of all denominations. Practically every parish in Louisiana and every county in Mississippi has at some time sent a girl here for care. A new building is just being completed and various church organizations throughout the two states are raising the money to furnish this new home.

MacKenzie's Column

(Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst)

General Douglas MacArthur continues to stick to his guns in warning that the Korean war may explode into another world conflict unless Red China is beaten into surrender.

He maintains that victory could be achieved by all-out air attacks, a naval blockade and the use of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist army on Formosa against neighboring Red China. Chiang has half a million or more troops.

The Washington administration has rejected these proposals. The majority of the United Nations also have been viewing dimly any extension of the hostilities as likely to precipitate another general conflagration. They would be willing to make a negotiated peace when the Reds have been evicted from south Korea.

One of the great fears of those opposed to the MacArthur program has been that it might result in America and her Allies becoming involved in a war on the Chinese mainland. Such a development, they hold, might easily result in the United States being bled white, both militarily and economically, while Russia was sitting on the sideline and conserving her strength in preparation for war in western Europe.

MacArthur has answered that by making plain that he has had no thought of sending American troops into China. In fact he has characterized any such move as insane. It is the Chinese Nationalist foot-soldiers whom he would move onto the continent.

The consensus of military experts seems to be that the best which could be expected, if the war should continue along present lines, would be a stalemate after a long war. And MacArthur declares that this "dreadful conflict" is costing too much in American blood.

As proof of this appraisal the general estimates battle casualties in Korean at 1,000,000 for both sides, with losses for the Allies about 250,000. He says American casualties have passed 65,000. Korean civilian losses have been many times the military casualties.

General MacArthur doesn't think much of Red China's ability to fight a major war and believes that it wouldn't last long. He holds that Russia wouldn't be able to help much. Moreover he declares that Red China is "only a couple of jumps ahead of starvation at any time" and lacks the industrial base for modern war.

So far as China's impoverishment is concerned, there can be no argument on that score, as I can testify from personal observation on the ground. And certainly the Soviet Union would face grave difficulties in trying to give material support to her big satellite.

For one thing, the major part of the Soviet industries are in the west—far removed from China. More to the point, Moscow isn't likely to weaken the position of western Russia and thus render her vulnerable in event of a European war.

However, these arguments certainly wouldn't warrant any action which would involve the United States in a major war with China. Still, moves are being made to hold the Chinese in leash.

The United States has made an urgent appeal to the United Nations for an embargo by all members on shipments of war materials to Red China. This is under consideration by the peace organization.

From Tokyo, too, comes word that Allied airmen will be sent to bomb Manchurian bases if the Chinese Reds employ great air power against U. N. ground forces in Korea.

Thus out of the MacArthur dismissal and subsequent inquiries may grow developments which will shorten the dangerous and costly Korean conflict. That in turn will buttress the position of the western Allies in Europe.

WESLEYAN GUILD MEETS SUNDAY

Expects Goal In Cotton To Be Met

Houston, May 5.—(AP)—The president of the American Cotton Shippers Association said today he is "reasonably sure" the government's 1951 cotton acreage and production goals will be met.

J. Starke Taylor, Dallas, said the goal of 28,500,000 acres would produce 16,000,000 easily and there would be demand for every pound produced."

Taylor spoke before the afternoon session of the association's convention. The meeting opened today and continues through tomorrow.

The association president said the cotton industry believes only unusually abnormal weather and boll weevil conditions can disrupt the 1951 goal.

"We're not worried," he added. "But the government made a big mistake by reducing acreage last year," he said.

Hal Boyle's

Notebook

New York,— (AP) —The Chinese puzzle for today is why nobody in high circles thought the Chinese Reds would enter the Korean war.

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur and the administration are still playing "You - catch - the-hot - potato" on that question.

Each blames the other. The arguments can be summarized like this:

Listen, General Mac, says Harry Tuman, "you are supposed to know more about the Oriental mind than anybody since Confucius. How come those Chinese slipped across the Manchurian border and clipped you before you even knew they were there? You told me at Wake Island they wouldn't come in."

"Don't try to pass the buck to me on that one, Harry," says MacArthur. "Of course, I did say they probably wouldn't come in. But you got a world - wide spy system — the Central Intelligence Agency. How come it didn't warn me the Chinese would fight us?"

"How come you wouldn't even let our Central Intelligence Agency operate in Tokyo until last January?" replies Harry — or one of his boys.

"Tommyrot," says MacArthur.

And back and forth the arguments go until the ordinary man gets completely confused. All he knows is that the Chinese Reds are in Korea.

The whole debate must hand a great laugh to the Chinese premier, Chou En - Lai. He is the man who publicly told the world in advance what to expect. To paraphrase him, Chou said last fall:

"Now, boys, you got the north Koreans on the run. But if you United Nations fellows go across the 38th parallel — well, we Chinese aren't going to stand idly by."

The top U. S. brass, including both MacArthur and the Central Intelligence Agency, knew the Chinese were massing troops along the Manchurian border. But they thought it was all a big bluff.

"I don't think we should cross the 38th parallel," he said, "because I think it will mean we'll have to fight the Chinese. I believe Chou means exactly what he says.

"The Chinese don't want any big foreign land army marching right up to their border, and I don't think they'll let us — if they can stop us. But if we don't cross the parallel they won't have much of an excuse to come into the war."

Pointing out that great powers are historically touchy about having the armies of other great powers get too close to their frontiers, he said:

"Remember what Stalin did in the last war when Hitler attacked Poland? He went into Poland, too, to keep the Germans from getting too close to Russian soil."

And this officer made some wry remarks about the public's idea of what army intelligence work consists of.

"They believe you get your information mostly through spies," he said. "That is nonsense. The cloak and dagger stuff is only about ten per cent of intelligence. The other 90 per cent is piecing together all the scraps of knowledge you get without espionage —and making them into the right picture."

He complained that when something went wrong most people wanted to blame it on "faulty intelligence."

"Usually it isn't the intelligence that was faulty," he said. "The information is there — but the interpretation is faulty. And you can't blame intelligence for that."

The entry of the Chinese Reds into Korea, he said, illustrated his point. Their army was ready, their premier openly warned it would be used under certain conditions —and it was.

And he thought the American failure to believe the Chinese premier's threat was less of a reflection on our intelligence system that upon the traditional American military habit of low-rating the enemy.

MONROE'S TEEN-AGE QUARTET

TEEN-AGERS IN CITY ORCHESTRA

Will Be Presented Here In Program On Monday May 14

Many cities throughout the south have a teen-age quartet as a means of providing better entertainment for young people, and adults are also rallying to this cause. This past year Gorden Greer and E. C. Monroe set out to organize a teen-age quartet for Monroe. After much consideration and a careful selection of boys and girls with the ability to sing the different parts, a group was organized November 20th.

This group was drilled hard for two months, and began to win the hearts of gospel music lovers throughout this vicinity.

In January, Dr. F. P. Cerniglia, owner and manager of radio station KLIC, heard them and gave them their first real chance to prove themselves to the public on radio station KLIC. From the mail they have received and the reports received it seems they are filling the public's demand for clean wholesome entertainment in our own Twin Cities and neighboring towns.

The demand became so great for a concert here, that immediately the quartet began making plans to give the people one of the finest gospel singing concerts ever staged locally.

They have slected two great quartets to appear with them, the famous Blackwood Brothers quartet from Memphis, Tenn., and the Wonder State quartet from Crosset, Ark.

A preview of the program will be heard on station KLIC from 7:00 to 7:30 Monday, May 14. Loud speakers will be placed in the Ouachita parish auditorium so that the crowd that have gathered may hear the broadcast. Doors will open at 6:30 at the auditorium and the concert will begin at 8:00 o'clock. A special rate has been put on student tickets of .50 cents regardless of age if purchased in advance from any member of the Teen-Age quartet, however at the door the admission is $1.00 for all over 12 years of age.

The Teen-Age quartet came out of the West Monroe singing convention and have the support and backing in every undertaking.

Singing in the quartet, Gay Lynn Monroe, 13 years old singing alto; Beth Monroe, 18 years old singing soprano; Gay and Beth are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Monroe who live near the paper mill. Tommy Rainer, 16 years old sings tenor. Tommy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Rainer and also plays in the Ouachita band. Rodney Cannon, 16 years old sings bass and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Cannon who live on Heard street in West Monroe. Rodney also plays on the Ouachita football team. The pianist for the group, Robbie Dee Fuller, 13 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Fuller, Wheelis street, West Monroe.

This group is heard on radio station KLIC each Sunday morning from 8:45 till 9:00 o'clock 1230 on your radio dial.

EVANGELIST

REV. R. E. M'DONALD

Edgewood Church To Conduct Revival

Edgewood Baptist Church will have as evangelist leader in their revival, May 6 through May 13, Rev. R. E. McDonald, pastor of the First Church in Pelahatchie, Miss.

Reverend McDonald is and has been a very popular pastor in churches he has served and has a reputation of being a very eloquent and interesting speaker. It is hoped that our members and friends will avail themselves for every service.

Edgewood Church is located at 501 Travis street, West Monroe, across from the new high school. It is gaining new members week by week, and has one of the brightest futures of any Baptist church. Rev. J. T. Hinke is pastor of this church and extends a hearty welcome to all for the services that will be held only in the evenings, beginning at 7:30 p.m. Kenneth Adams, the well liked young singer of West Monroe, will lead the singing.

Reverend McDonald will begin the revival Sunday morning at 11:00 a.m. Let us have 150 in Sunday School to greet him.

HIGHWAY SAFETY MANUFACTURERS INDUSTRY COMMITTEE — ALWAYS BE CAREFUL DRIVING

The difference goes more than Skin-Deep

You're the proud owner of a Buick—and the whole world knows it.

The ride is different—level and true. You sit the road with special assurance—because Buick's torque-tube drive keeps rear wheels firmly aligned—soft coil springs on all four wheels soak up the bumps and bobbles—honest weight keeps you on a steady keel.

The power is different—eager and sure. Buick's high-compression Fireball engine does wonders with fuel—and no matter what you demand in emergency, there's horsepower to spare.

Handling is different—this car seems to steer itself on straightaway or curve—and swings lightly into parking spots inches shorter than you'd think you need.

Capping it all, there's the silken versatility of Dynaflow Drive,* that takes all the tenseness out of driving—responds to your slightest wish with a surging swoop of power.

No doubt about it, what you get in a Buick is far more than just a new car—it's a whole new experience in getting pleasurably from here to there.

So why not explore this difference? Come, take a Buick over and find out how very much satisfaction smart money can buy.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

N. T. Response Used To Show Even Hand

By Oswald Jacoby

Written for NEA Service

Some experienced players use the response of two no-trump to show a good balanced hand of almost any strength. This is unsound, as Sam Stayman points out in his new book "Expert Bidding." Every no-trump bid should have a definite floor and a definite ceiling.

In today's hand for example, South makes a response of three no-trump. This shows the value of a minimum opening no-trump.

Opening lead—♣ 7

The South hand, as shown today, is exactly the same hand that was shown earlier in the week as an example of the opening bid of one no-trump. When North opens the bidding with one spade, South shows his strength and type of hand by jumping to three no-trump.

Now North says to himself "Suppose my partner had opened this hand with one no - trump. Where would I then want this hand to be played?"

He then sees that the partnership is close to a slam, and that the situation calls for some exploring. He therefore bids four clubs.

South properly raises to five clubs. This shows a good fit for clubs and a willingness to consider a slam. Otherwise, South could put on the brakes by bidding four spades or even four of either red suit.

Now North makes a very thoughtful bid—five no - trump. This asks South to choose the best slam.

South sees that a club slam might be hurt by a lead through one of the red suits. A no-trump slam, however, would find the lead coming up to the South hand. Hence South bids the slam in no-trump.

The slam is easily made. South has 10 tricks in the black suits. He merely sets up one heart trick, after which the ace of diamonds yields the 12th trick.

Note that a slam at clubs would be defeated if East led diamonds. This would be a logical lead for him to make, so that the North-South bidding gains about 1500 points by playing the slam at no-trump rather than at clubs.

CARD Sense

Q—With neither side vulnerable the player at your right deals and bids one diamond. You hold: Spades A-7-5, Hearts A-Q-J-9, Diamonds K-J-2, Clubs Q-10-4. What do you do?

A—Bid one no - trump. This shows about the same sort of hand as an opening no-trumper, with a special guarantee of at least one stopper in the enemy's suit.

Today's Question

With neither side vulnerable the player at your right deals and bids one diamond. You hold: Spades A-Q-7-5, Hearts K-Q-9-2, Diamonds A-Q, Clubs K-10-4. What do you bid?

TECH R. O. T. C. TO BARKSDALE

Party Spent Saturday In Shreveport On Special Studies

Ruston, May 5.—(Special)—Louisiana Tech's R. O. T. C. cadets went to Barksdale Air Force Base in Shreveport for an orientation course and tour of the base on Saturday, according to Lt. Col. William F. Curry, head of the R. O. T. C. unit here.

Four buses chartered for transportation loaded in front of the R. O. T. C. office Saturday at 7:45 a.m.

The tour, which began at 10 a.m., had this schedule:

Observation of "Review and Inspection" of the 91st air force base group.

Orientation to field maintenance activities, including a visit to aero repair, engine buildup, fabric and parachute replack sections.

Lunch at a base mess hall.

A visit to a RB-45, B-29 or B-50 and KB2-9 aircraft. Orientation talks covered the airplane generally and a period for cadets to ask questions. Interviews with combat crews of these aircraft were conducted.

Tour of base facilities including gymnasium, post exchange, residential areas, the Wherry housing project, chapel, officer's club, N. C. O. club and recreational facilities.

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D. S.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. No, only abnormal persons. First, a good many psychoanalysts are poorly prepared, both in medicine and psychology. As one leading psychologist suggests, a lot of psychoanalysts should be either psychoanalyzed, or else have their credentials examined by competent psychiatrists and psychologists. Always — before consulting any person for mental problems, whether he calls himself a psychoanalyst, psychologist, psychiatrist or some fancy name such as dianetist, ask the secretary of your local Medical Society.

Answer to Question No. 2

2. Yes, take a vocabulary test. This won't measure all your brains but it is the best known single clue to your thinking ability. You can increase your vocabulary at any time and your vocabulary, once learned, scarcely declines at all in old age. A large vocabulary is a great aid to success. Our booklet, "How to Increase Your Word Power, Think Better, Spell Perfectly, with Vocabulary Test of Intelligence," sent at coast 15 cents (coin only) plus self - addressed, stamped envelope.

Answer to Question No. 3

3. Yes. Surveys show that hobbies shared with others are best for broadening personality. One of the happiest men I know is Charles K. Taylor, whose hobby is running, by mail, a non - profit Vocational Testing Bureau, at 510 West 123rd St., N. Y. Cost runs $7.50 to $10.00 instead fof the usual $25.00 to $75. He has been extraordinarily successful in picking leadership qualities in young people, for whom he has obtained scholarships totalling more than $250,000.

Increase Your Word Power

Words make a great deal of difference in how you impress people. Therefore, you can improve yourself and create a more favorable impression if you read our instructive new booklet, "How To Increase Your Word Power, Think Better and Spell Perfectly, with Vocabulary Test of Intelligence."

Hobbs V. F. W. Post Plans Ball Team

The Rodney J. Hobbs post Veterans of Foreign Wars discussed its baseball team arrangements at Thursday night's meeting, and arrangements are being made for the Buddy Poppy sale to be held on Saturday May 26.

Old members who had not attended a meeting in years were on hand and expressed themselves as intending to start over again.

Every meeting at the V. F. W. is old and new timers night and are very much enjoyed.

Past Post Commander H. M. James presented the post with a large-sized portrait of General Douglas MacArthur beautifully framed. It was accepted with much appreciation, Mr. James received a rising vote of thanks. He is always doing something for somebody.

Frank Duffey of Swartz became a member of the post. The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday May 17. Commander Harold Martin announced the softball team would hold a practice session at the Missouri Pacific diamond next Tuesday night.

Deaths in childbirth in Canada dropped from 5.6 deaths per 1,000 live births in 1928 to 1.5 in 1948.

CHANGES IN REQUIREMENTS

The United States civil service commission has announced that changes have been made in the height, age, and certain dental requirements for the position of policeman in the Metropolitan Police Department, Washington, D. C. These changes will be effective until July 1, 1952.

Under the new requirements, applicants for policeman jobs may be accepted if they are at least 5 feet 7 inches tall. Under the old requirements, they had to be at least 5 feet 8. A new maximum age of 33 years instead of 31 years has also been set and the dental requirements have been liberalized for these positions.

Complete details about these revised requirements as well as other requirements for policemen may be obtained from the commission's local secretary, Mr. Jile N. Davis located at Monroe, La. post office.

DOROTHY DIX

Philandering Wife

Middle-Aged Woman Who Loves Boy Looks Foolish, Courts Tragedy

DEAR MISS DIX: We have been married more than fifteen years and up to two years ago lived a happy, companionable life. My wife has worked, holding a very good position. She is 41 years old and has fallen in love with a young man in his early twenties whom she partially or wholly supports, as he is often out of work. He drinks and gambles. His charm seems to be that he is free with compliments and flattery and takes her around to places of amusement, where she pays the bill. I asked this boy, if I gave my wife a divorce, if he would marry her, but he refused to answer. My wife repeatedly tells me to get out, but inasmuch as I have done nothing to disrupt our home I feel that it is not my place to go. I still love her and am willing to forget the past and start anew, but this is not what she seems to want. What shall I do?

DOROTHY DIX

BROKEN-HEARTED HUSBAND

ANSWER: When a middle-aged woman falls in love with a boy and makes a fool of herself over him there should be some sort of a padded cell in which she could be locked up until she regains her sanity. Unfortunately, there is nothing that can be done to keep them from wrecking their lives and bringing shame and sorrow down upon their silly heads. You just simply have to let them go their own way to destruction. Which is pretty hard on the husband if he happens to love the philandering wife and isn't so disgusted with her conduct that he is glad to be rid of bad rubbish.

A REVOLTING SIGHT

An old man trailing around after a girl young enough to be his daughter is a sad enough spectacle. But a woman in love with a boy young enough to be her son is a sight at which the angels must weep—and gag.

Of course, in the end she gets her punishment. Sooner or later she gets tired of faking emotion he does not feel, of telling flattering lies that feed her vanity, and she finds out that he has some girl of his own age that he is spending her money upon.

It is worse still if she marries him because the little flare of passion soon dies and then she is bored to tears with a boy with whom she has nothing in common, and weary to death of trying to keep up with him and keep him amused. It is always a misfortune for both men and women to marry out of their age class, but it is doubly disastrous to the woman who does so.

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 16 and miserably unhappy. My problem is this: My mother is ordinarily a nice, understanding person, but when it comes to my wearing make-up, she absolutely refuses to allow anything but a light lipstick. I am now going with a boy who cares a great deal for me, and he likes me to wear pancake, eye make-up, etc. Though I am quite sure he'll like me with or without make-up, I'd like to make him feel proud of me when we go out.

R. P.

ANSWER: You are overdramatizing a very simple problem. Your mother realizes that nothing on earth is lovelier than a teenage girl, and your beauty needs very little further adornment.

The day when you'll need powder and paint to touch up fading features will come soon enough, so follow your mother's advice and proudly flaunt the glow of youth which needs no artificial touch.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am a man 37 years of age, unhappily married. I have two children. Occasionally I ask women friends to accompany me to dinner and to the theatre. One of them who is single and 29 years old refuses to accept my invitations on the ground that she has no right to let a married man spend his money on her. The relationship between us is simply friendship. Has she any legitimate basis for refusing to accompany me to a restaurant or to the theatre provided she desires to do so?

JOE

ANSWER: It isn't so much a matter of ethics as it is of propriety. The young woman shows herself to be very level-headed when she declines to go out with you. As long as you are not divorced you are the property of your wife and another woman interferes with her rights at her peril. The world invariably believes the worst of a girl who accepts the attentions of a married man, and no one can do so without being gossiped about.

DOROTHY DIX cannot reply personally to readers, but will answer problems of general interest through her column.

M'Math Gets Action On Gasoline Prices

Washington, May 5. —(AP)— The justice department said today it is studying a complaint that gasoline prices in Arkansas are too high.

The complaint, the department said, was received from Gov. Sid McMath of Arkansas who suggested an investigation under the anti-trust laws of the gasoline prices in his state in relation to prices in nearby states. McMath said he believed the charges in Arkansas are too high, department officials said.

The department, in response to an inquiry, said "the matter is under active study and consideration."

Development Of Newsprint Resources Recommended

Washington, May 5. —(AP)— The house monopoly committee, in tentative findings made public, recommended positive government action for development of newsprint resources in Alaska and the south.

This, and recommendations for closer anti-trust law supervision over the U. S. and related Canadian newsprint industry, are contained in a report still subject to committee approval.

The committee, a subcommittee of the house judiciary committee, held extended hearings last summer on newsprint pricing and production.

In an unusual move, the committee made public the still-unapproved findings and recommendations in advance of final action next week.

Newsprint is in world shortage, the preliminary report said. It has forced many newspapers, especially smaller papers, to pay "excessive" prices for paper "despite the efforts of newsprint producers to combat the black market."

The tentative report recommended a separate investigation of the industry by the department of justice in relation to price fixing agreements and market allocations, and urged other federal agencies and standing congressional committees to foster expansion of the newsprint production.

The report called the south "one of the most promising areas for new newsprint development." It recommended additional plants for making paper out of southern pine, and urged the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to "open its lending facilities for similar projects if the search for private capital proves unavailing."

Alaska was declared to have natural resources capable of yielding 1,000,000 tons of newsprint annually. The report said this potential supply is now going to waste, "a luxury which the nation can ill afford."

Other congressional committees were advised to study and recommend a program for Alaskan production, with special emphasis on removing present government restrictions against the export of pulp timber from Alaska.

The committee report encouraged Canada to increase its production, and had a good word to say for substitute production processes and conservation measures.

Finally, it proposed that Canadian companies be required to register with the secretary of state and agree to make their records subject to subpoena and other legal processes of the United States.

The report said the Canadian border presents "unwarranted difficulties" to "adequate knowledge" of domestic newsprint business practices coming under the U. S. anti-trust laws.

Declare La. Bases Built With U. S. Money Unneeded

By Norman K. Baxter
(World Washington Correspondent)

Washington, May 4. — A congressional investigation has disclosed that four Louisiana airports, built partially with federal funds by the consent of the civil aeronautics administration, were not needed at the time of construction and are not needed now.

This was disclosed Friday when the text of hearings before the commerce subcommittee of the house of representatives appropriations committee was released.

It was also brought out that CAA employes in Louisiana have been using government cars illegally and that a prior investigation made by the CAA of this irregularity and the four airports had whitewashed existing conditions.

The original charges of waste and irregularity came from an employe of the CAA who stated that money was wasted on airports and facilities at Bastrop, New Iberia, Opelousas and Jeanerette and that CAA officials at cars for pleasure trips.

Rep. John J. Rooney (D - N. Y.)) chairman of the subcommittee said that D. W. Rentzel, administrator of civil aeronautics on March 6, 1950, wrote him a letter then that the charges had been investigated and it was found they were false and could not be substantitated.

Another report made March 27, 1951, by the CAA about the conditions differed sharply from the committee's report of the investigation which was headed by a federal bureau of investigation agent and conducted in December of 1950.

Of the $30,000 administration building at the Opelousas airport, half of which was paid for by federal funds, the committee investigation has this to say:

"The building has never been used for its intended purpose . . . A one time a flying school used the field . . . At the present time there are 10 planes permanently based on the field . . . None of them an administration building. There is nothing to administer on this field . . . The airport manager stated on December 29, 1950 that 'After all, I'm down here for a rest.' "

Of the same airport which cost the government a total of $761,000 the CAA report said:

"Available space is being used to a reasonable capacity . . . There are nine individual hangers on this field and these are all being occupied."

When the congressional committee's investigators went to New Iberia where the airport cost the government $725,000 and the administration building and access roads cost $165,660 this is what they saw.

"The field at New Iberia is adequate for any purpose. The administration building is designed for occupancy by two airlines, a restaurant, and the airport manager. This building has never been used except for a Christmas party of the local CAP held there at Christmas 1950.

The CAA said of the New Iberia facilities:

"It is felt that the development of local operations on this airport has been handicapped by the lack of a suitable access road."

The committee investigation said of the Bastrop airport for which the government spent $61,750. "The (administration) building is unused. "To indicate the use of the field a picture was furnished of cows grazing there.

The CAA in its investigation said an area designed for restaurant space was leased for this purpose but in the winter of 1950 flying activities were curtailed and the lease was dropped.

Of the Jeanerette field, which is one turf strip that cost the government, $10,500 the committee's investigators reported that it "was found to be partly unusable because of poor drainage at one end." And that only two planes were based on the strip.

When a CAA official was asked by Mr. Rooney if he thought this was the way the taxpayers money should be invested, he replied that the field was built primarily for crop dusters.

The committee investigation also disclosed that a Baton Rouge CAA official had traveled to Albuquerque on business by government car between Dec. 21, 1949 and Jan. 2, 1950 with his wife and son, and that this official's daughter lives in Albuquerque.

"It would be childish," the report said, "to believe that the timing, duration and means of transportation of this trip were not to some extent influenced by the opportunity for the official, his wife, and son, to visit his daughter during the holidays without spending any carfare."

Donad W. Nyrop, present administrator of the CAA told Mr. Rooney that he would investigate the trip and submit a report to the committee.

Centenary Invited Mac Back In 1949

Shreveport, La., May 5.—(AP)—If speaking engagements are accepted in the order in which invitations were received, a visit to Centenary College here should be fairly near the top of the list.

The Centenary invitation dates back to Nov. 1, 1949. On that date date Joe J. Mickle, president of Centenary college, asked Gen. MacArthur to visit Shreveport to receive an honorary degree of doctor of laws at Centenary.

The general replied in December, 1949 that due to the pressure of his duties and the "uncertainty of the international situation" he would be unable to predict the time of his return to the state or even to make tentative future commitments." Since the general's arrival in the states Centenary has renewed the invitation, but has received no reply.

The Shreveport Chamber of Commerce with the endorsement of the 5,000 members of the Lowe-McFarlane Post 14 of the American Legion and city officials, has invited the general to speak here on a date to be named by him.

Col., R. W. Holderness retired local army officer and MacArthur's roommate at West Point, has written the general a personal invitation to visit Shreveport.

Robert Kirkpatrick Is Elected Commander Of West Monroe Organization

Appointive officers and committeemen to serve during his term of office have been named by Commander Robert L. Kirkpatrick of West Monroe's Hudson-Leehy post No. 3993, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Commander Kirkpatrick assumed his duties at the last regular meeting of the post, at which time delegates to the district encampment of the V. F. W. in Jonesboro May 6 were elected and plans for the post's annual Buddy Poppy sale were made.

Appointive officers named by Commander Kirkpatrick were W. W. Sullivan, adjutant; Harold Stewart, officer of the day; H. B. McClendon, service officer; and T. F. Hollingsworth, patriotic officer.

Delegates to the district encampment were elected as follows: Hugh Shields, Harold Stewart, Keith Cobb, Marshall R. Johnston, Sr., Walter Masling, A. M. Hobbs, O. E. Leehy, Sr., O. E. Leehy, Jr., Robert L. Kirkpatrick and Gordon Lolly.

The post set May 26 as Buddy Poppy Day for West Monroe and May 27 for the observance of Memorial Day. The observance will take the form of a sunrise memorial service at the veterans' memorial plot in Hasley Cemetery.

Officers elected to serve with Commander Kirkpatrick are Keith Cobb, senior vice commander; A. M. Hobbs, junior vice commander; Walter Masling, chaplain; and Warren Seivers, quartermaster.

Watch Course Is To Be Conducted

This new department of horology will offer the only course in the state endorsed by the Louisiana Watchmakers Guild.

Students will work six hours daily for two years to receive a certificate licensing them to operate in Louisiana.

The course will be taught by J. F. Ricketts, formerly of Lubbock, Tex. He holds a diploma in horological engineering from Houston Technical College. His experience includes three and one-half years of watchmaking while a prisoner of war in Japan, and two years apprenticeship before attending the Houston institution.

Students may attend under the G. I. bill of rights, but must sign up before the deadline on July 25. Other students may enroll at any time without tuition charges.

Monthly Meeting Held By Realtors

The realtors of Monroe and West Monroe held their monthly meeting Thursday night in the Maple room of the Virginia hotel.

Pres. W. D. Kramer brought up several subjects for discussion. Gilbert Faulk gave an interesting talk on mortgage loans.

A delicious dinner was served to the following members: W. D. Kramer, Mrs. Bobbye Guy, C. E. Buckley, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Breard, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Porter, Sr., E. A. Porter, Jr., Mrs. Lillian Davis, George Guerriero, Gilbert Faulk, E. W. Cruse, Mrs. Louise Gilliland, B. S. Braswell, Mrs. Ivy Rayner, Mrs. Alice David and Mrs. W. C. Curry.

Bible Comment

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The famous saying, "United we stand; divided we fall," never had more forceful illustration than in the history of the Jewish people.

Shortly after the time of David and Solomon, the nation was divided by the successful revolt of 10 tribes led by Jeroboam. Two tribes, remaining loyal to Rehoboam, Solomon's son, comprised the Southern Kingdom, or Kingdom of Judah, and were hostile toward the newly-formed Northern Kingdom.

In a little over 200 years the Northern Kingdom fell under the armies of Assyria, never to be re-established; and 136 years later, in 586, B. C., the Southern Kingdom fell, and its people were carried off in exile to Babylon. From that exile, of course, there was the glorious return and re-establishment of the Jews in their homeland, described in the Books of Ezra and Nehemiah. From that exile, too, there was a great recovery in Babylon itself.

But the bitterness of that exile, and of the event sthat caused it, is set forth in the story of the invasion, and in the tragic 137th Psalm. That period of Jewish history, approximating in years the entire period of American history, surely constitutes a warning against division and internal strife.

Many chapters of the Old Testament, read individually and casually, must involve considerable confusion to a reader, unless the whole story, and some broad framework of events and movements is borne in mind. It may help, if I suggest a brief outline of what occurred.

Following the return of the Jews from Egypt, the people were ruled by Judges, one of the greatest of whom was the woman, Deborah. The account of that period is in the Books of Joshua and Judges.

Then came the great leader, Samuel, grown from the little boy in the temple who combined in himself the functions of prophet, priest, and king. But the people wanted a king, in reality, and not in name only, and so they complained to Samuel.

As a result, Saul became their leader. But his reign ended with a suicide, in a disastrous battle that marked a low ebb in Israel's defeat. Then came David, a man of war and vigor, despite the tradition of the shepherd-boy and the harp-playing, Psalm-writing King. He fought down his enemies, and made the kingdom strong.

Solomon "in all his glory" extended its bounds, and made it stronger still. But much of that glory was built upon exploitation and oppression, and on Solomon's death the people cried out for an alleviation of their burdens.

It will be remembered that Rehoboam, Solomon's son, asked advice from the older men, who advised him to yield, but followed the advice of the younger men, who advised him to show them who was the master. It was then that Jeroboam came up from Egypt, where he had escaped after leading an unsuccessful rebellion. Now he succeeded, and the division began, with the movement toward doom that I have cited above.

"History repeats itself," and what is happening in Palestine today recalls much that happened long ago, giving a contemporary aspect to the interesting and inspiring story of Nehemiah.

OUR CHILDREN

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Because I have for my country a feeling so deep, so reverential that no words are adequate, and because I believe that the public schools are the very heart, the soul, of the nation, anything that touches them holds the keenest interest for me.

Nobody seems to be satisified with what the schools do, if the reports we see and hear are anywhere near true. Yet our schools are really working miracles. In days happily gone by only those children who felt like going to school, who liked books, or whose parents forced them went through school. I used to stack the cards of the first year against those of the graduating class and feel very sad about the difference in the height of the two packs. So many, many children had dropped out of school. The high schools had even a worse record. Today, thanks to the schools, the difference in the number of entrants and graduates is not so great. More and more stay on some because the law says they must, some because they find something in the schools that they feel good about. It may be the pool, the art room, the science class or the literature room, or just the pleasant effect of a routined day of belonging.

No child can attend school every day without learning something. It may be a fact that will influence him all his days, it may be an attitude that sets his character, it may be an idea that gives birth to a career, it may be a feeling of friendliness toward his world. But something worth while he will get, be it one thing or the other.

The thing that strikes me so forcibly today is that so many people know so little about their schools. Mothers and fathers are so busy keeping the roof over the family's heads that they have to take school for granted. Wouldn't it be a good idea for the school to tell them what was going on? Send them a brief statement now and again of the life their children lead, of its effect on their behavior and attitudes and skills? Something that, in simple English, tells a story of a school's aims, its ways and its needs?

There has come in lately a simple little booklet that informs the parents of the Chicago schools of what goes on there. A little book with words and pictures, stating clearly the aims of the schools and how they try to achieve them.

No money? How about using the duplicating machine? How about interesting the publisher and the editor of the newspaper, men and women who are always interested in what the schools are doing? Our schools need the support of their patrons, the people, and unless they know about them how can they help? Send them a letter now and then and see what keen interest it arouses. Not statistics, not grouches and complaints, but a lively story of school life, of what is happening to the children. It worked wonders.

Every child should have his own library of books to strengthen his character and give him background. Dr. Patri has written leaflet P-8 which includes a list of more than 50 books.

2 Speakers Named For L. E. A. Meet

The subject for the evening will be Public Relations.

FRANKLIN WILL CAST BALLOTS

Two And Half Mill Levy To Operate Library To Be Decided

Winnsboro, La., May 5.—(Special)— Property taxpayers of Franklin parish will go to the polls Tuesday, May 8, to decide the fate of the two and one-half mill levy proposed by the parish police jury to support the operation of a permanent library, an institution which has been on a trial basis since last December 11.

The demonstration library, a state - parish project, was established ith the state providing 10,000 volumes and periodicals, a librarian and a bookmobile. The police jury contributed $2,500 and citizens $3,000 to support the first year of operation on a trial basis. The state's portion, or gift, is $40,000 meaning that the books are free upon approval of the two and one - half mill assessment to support a permanent institution.

The library movement began 15 years ago in Franklin, but met failure until 1950 because of lack of sufficient funds to support the trial demonstration.

Approval of the two and one-half mill library tax is beng urged by John T. O'Brien, police jury president; Jim C. Buie, chairman of the library board Mrs. C. Ramage Adams, a board member and mother of the library idea, and other community and civic leaders.

WHAT IS SO REMARKABLE, you ask, about a father helping his son plant a seedling tree?

This is what is remarkable: it is happening in Israel. And the odds were—overwhelmingly—that it could never happen at all.

The odds were that the father would die in Europe as six million other Jews died under Hitler. Yet he got through to the new, shining land. The odds were that the desert soil of Israel could not be made to flourish. But the father, and tens of thousands like him, brought more to the task than hoes and harrows.

And you, you helped every step of the way, from DP camp to desert settlement. You provided the tools, the seeds, the means of rescue and rebirth.

Now you see the roots going down. Not just the roots of the seedling . . . human roots, too. The tree, the boy and Israel will grow together. And with them will grow and flourish the world's most precious way of life—democracy.

In just three years you have helped transplant 500,000 homeless refugees to Israel, have given them the chance to begin a new and hopeful life. But the work is only half done. Your help—through the United Jewish Appeal—is needed still to bring 200,000 more this year, to reclaim land, plant forests, build settlements and homes so that these newcomers too can sink firm roots in Israel's soil.

Their need is urgent. Threatening emigration deadlines and the world emergency warn that we dare not delay our help for a moment. So give now, while there is still time. Give today. Give more than ever before.

In 1951—Before Time Runs Out —the United Jewish Appeal Must:

Save 200,000 homeless Jews by bringing them to Israel from danger zones in Eastern Europe and Arab lands.

Help the people of Israel make their country a bulwark of democracy—by aiding them to establish 120 new agricultural settlements; build housing units for 40,000; care for 50,000 immigrants in reception centers plus 15,000 children and 5,000 aged and handicapped.

Supply relief, care and rehabilitation assistance to 400,000 distressed Jews in Europe and Arab countries, 90,000 of them children.

Listen Closely!

Another Sunday is here; The Church bells will again tell us that it's the Sabbath Day!

How are we to spend the day? As individuals, we have a choice. A picnic or an outing might be fun . . . or maybe visiting. Of course, we can turn over and go back to sleep, or maybe complete that delayed chore . . . But, as human beings whose destiny is guided by a greater power, we have no choice. Our very lives and blessings have been bestowed upon us and not earned. They have been entrusted to our care while on earth, and they are not ours to abuse.

You will want no other choice if you begin to attend Church regularly and support its work . . . for you will be turning an obligation into a great joy. It is our divine privilege, as men and women, to dedicate one day each week to the glory of our Benefactor.

Listen to the Church Bells ringing this morning. This is a day of worship . . . of prayer . . . and thanksgiving . . . Listen closely

Ouachita Parish High School Band Busy At Work

Climaxing its year's work, the O. P. H. S. band will present its fifteenth annual spring concert May 8 at 8:15 in the auditorium of the school.

This organization, 80 players strong, winds up a full year's work under its director, Truman McCrea. Among '50-'51's activities have been: playing for all Ouachita football games; participating in the state music festival at Ruston (where, incidently, they won a "superior" rating for the fifth consecutive year; presenting its annual Christmas concert; furnishing music for the West Monroe rodeo; participating in numerous parades; staging concerts at Columbia and Rayville, La.; and participating in the recent Holiday in Dixie celebration at Shreveport. These have been the highlights on the band's program.

The band at this time has the largest repertoire of music in its history. Constantly encouraged by McCrea to do a professional job every time they render a performance, the members of the band have evolved into a polished organization, well noted in music circles for its playing ability.

Characteristic of the truly fine music that the band plays is the "Finale" from Shostakovich's "Symphony No. 5". When "Mac" —as band members call him— was contemplating whether or not to work on this selection, L. Bruce Jones of the L. S. U. music department told him that, considering the difficulty of the piece, he didn't think that a high school band should attempt it. He was indeed pleased — as were band members — when the band received a "superior" rating on it.

One should not, however, jump to the conclusion that all that the band plays is "long hair stuff." Not by a long shot! With Cole Porter's "Begin the Beguine", selections from the musical hit "South Pacific", melodies from Gersnwin's "Porgy and Bess," and Leroy Anderson's "Syncopated Clock" in the folder, everyone's taste should be pleased.

Also to be heard on the spring concert will be the beautiful choral melody, "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," by Bach, Strauss's lovely "Emperor Waltz," "On the Trail" from Ferde Grofe's "Grand Cayon Suite," Tschaikowsky's immortal "March Slave," introduction to the Third Act of "Lohengrin" by Wagner, and the favorites of everyone — rousing marches by Sousa, King, Alfred, and Fillmore, to name a few.

Members of the band are now preparing for their top performance of the year — the spring concert. To say they're "rarin' to go" would be an understatement. As "Mac" McCrea says, "It's the best band yet!"

Tickets will be sold at the door Tuesday night, but for those who wish to obtain theirs early, tickets are available at Dew Music Company, the Bandroom, and from band members.

Mitchell School Roundup Slated

Mrs. J. A. Daniel, Jr., summer round-up chairman for Mitchell School, West Monroe, announces that the annual roundup for the school will be held at 1 p.m. Monday, May 7 in the Mitchell School auditorium.

Dr. Edward M. Foster, a local physician, assisted by a registered nurse, will be in charge of examinations. Mrs. Daniel urges the mothers of all children who will enter the school for the first time in September, to bring their children to the school at the time designated so that they may be given a physical examination by Dr. Foster, to discover any physical defects.

The B-29s usually make their practice bombing runs at an altitude of above 15,000 feet, so the chances are you have seen them very seldom if ever. They fly in all types of weather, using radar to make some of their bomb runs and the famed Norden bombsight for the others.

NEW DIRECTOR

Brownlee O. Currey has been elected to the board of directors of Commercial Solvents Corporation, it has been announced by J. Albert Woods, president. Airmen Frequently Bomb Monroe's Railroad Bridge

Monroe One Of Target Cities For Experienced Air Force Officers And Men Taking Combat Crew Training At Randolph Air Base

A railroad bridge in Monroe is being "bombed" frequently by B-29s from Randolph Air Force Base, near San Antonio, Tex.

Monroe is one of the key target cities for experienced air force officers and men taking combat crew training at Randolph. They fly simulated combat missions but instead of dropping real bombs they take pictures and get accurate radar records showing exactly where real bombs would have landed.

Their target in Monroe is the Illinois Central Railroad bridge, but the Randolph fliers do not aim merely at such big targets as a bridge. Their pin-point accuracy enables them to concentrate on much smaller targets, so when BOMBING Monroe they aim at the center span of the railroad bridge.

Air force personnel who successfully complete the combat crew course go directly to the strategic air command's elite bombing units—the outfits that will carry the atomic bomb to the enemy, if and when such drastic action becomes necessary.

The officers and men being trained at Randolph for this duty are assembled from air force stations all over the country. They are experienced pilots, navigators, bombardiers, radar operators and gunners.

Their main goals here are to develop the kind of teamwork for which the air force is famous and to completely familiarize themselves with the B-29 and combat flying procedure.

Combat is simulated as realistically as possible on their training missions. Fighter interceptors, based near the 'argets, may take to the air in an effort to "beat off" the heavy bombers. This enables the fighter pilots to obtain some realistic training, too, for they "fire" their shots at the B-29s with film. When they return to the ground, their pictures present an accurate record showing how much damage they would have inflicted with real bullets.

The guns don't shoot—the gunners are not even allowed to point the turrets at the mock interceptors. And on the bomb runs the opening of the bomb bays is prohibited. Only on some of the isolated target ranges can the bombardiers open the hatches to release the dummy spotter bombs to actually determine accuracy.

The simulated missions get started the day before the flight when the crew gathers for briefing. Detailed study of the target and flight problems are first solved in separate briefings of the different crew specialists. Then the crews assemble for the general briefing on the mission in a big, theater-like room in a converted cadet training hangar at Randolph.

Before takeoff, the crew and plane are carefully checked by the airplane commander. During the mission, sometimes lasting as long as 14 hours, the crew members, are busy most of the time at the complicated problems of reaching five or six different targets at the proper time and delivering the mock attack accurately. Six or seven planes in a "bomber stream' participate in a mission together, flying 15 minutes apart and at different altitudes. Some missions provide formation flying too. After the mission is accomplished, the pilot returns the plane to its base and lands "on instruments" to better prepare him for all-weather operations.

SENATE FEATURES TWO-RING CIRCUS

By Arthur Edson

Washington, May 5. —(AP)— The senate these days looks something like a two-ring circus, one of the strangest circuses of all time.

The main ring, in the senate office building, features General Douglas MacArthur and a number of senators. None of the customers knows exactly what goes on here, for newsmen and the public are barred. From time to time censored copies of the testimony are hustled out.

The other ring is the senate itself, a block away. This is open for all to see, but nobody pays much attention. Everyone wonders what is going on inside the main ring.

Yet the action in the two rings is closely tied together, for much of the senate debate has been over: Should the MacArthur hearings be open to the public?

Today's "congressional Record" shows that this debate has produced some rather surprising results. Such as the discussion on this breath-taking subject.

Did Wherry like him in the past? Will he like him in the future?

This came up because Wherry is a loud pro-open hearing man. Kerr is a loud non-open hearing man. Harsh words were said to wit:

By Wherry of Kerr: "If the senator does not remember it (something Wherry said Kerr had stated), very well. I doubt if he remembers very much that he says."

By Kerr of Wherry: "The senator from Nebraska was present in body. I do not know where his mind was. Perhaps that was with his thoughts, and they were far away."

But before they could measure the boys for their boxing gloves Kerr commented:

"Strange as it may seem one of the mysteries of my brief experience in this body, I have a great affection for the senator from Nebraska."

Wherry: "That has been mutual, has it not?"

Royal Wedding In Nancy, France Excites Everybody

By Rosette Hargrove

Nancy, France—(NEA)—Everybody here is excited about a royal wedding scheduled for May 10. But all the happy couple—Prince Othon of Hapsburg and Princess Regina of Saxe-Meinengen—are thinking about is where they can find an apartment.

"The only thing that worries me a little," says the tall, blonde princess, "is that up to now we haven't managed to find an apartment. You don't happen to know of one, do you?"

It has to be in Paris, and fit for a prince and princess. Otherwise, they'll listen to all offers.

The wedding will be as royal as can be, in these unroyal times. At least 150 royal personages will be present. Some of these have had to walk on their royal feet from their homes in Austria and Hungary. There is to be a grand reception, a state ball and other royal goings-on.

For two days after the wedding the prince and princess will live like fairy tale princess and princesses do. Then they'll come down to earth, which won't be hard because, despite their titles, both are level-headed young people. They cherish the past, but don't believe in living in it.

Othon met Regina during a tour of displaced persons camps, where she was a social worker. He knew all about her social background, of course, but hadn't seen her since their childhood days. They fell in love and, since there were no state reasons barring a marriage, there will be a happy ending.

The prince is the intellectual type. He speaks English, French, Hungarian, Spanish and Portuguese fluently. Regina's native tongue is German, and Othon has enough German to converse with his fiancee.

Besides languages, he is a student of world affairs, politics and history. Next fall, he will make his fifth lecture tour of the U. S.

"I believe I have visited and lectured in every state in the union," he says. "I have also been to Central and South America, China, North Africa and every country this side of the Iron Curtain.

"I would rather talk to audiences in the middle west than any others. Not only are they most receptive but I found them extremely well-informed on European affairs and certainly not the die-hard isolationists they are made out to be."

The princess is more interested in theology and philosophy than world affairs. She's also experienced in domestic duties. During the war, she helped with the housework and raised vegetables for her family on their estate in Germany —which has since been confiscated.

"But," she says, with a shy smile, "there was, of course, an incredible amount of details to attend to besides the ordinary ones of getting a trousseau and being fitted for my wedding gown."

PRICE CEILING MEETINGS SET

Regulations Governing Filling Stations Will Be Explained

A series of meetings to explain ceiling price regulation number 11, governing filling stations and all retailers of petroleum products, will be held in this area May 8, according to Raymond A. Tate, district price executive for the office of price stabilization. The schedule follows:

Petroleum retailers in the Monroe area were invited to attend a session beginning at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Virginia Hotel. Tuesday morning, a meeting will be held at the Ruston Junior High School auditorium, beginning at 10.

Tate urged that filling station owners and other retailers of petroleum products in towns near where the meetings will be held make plans to attend these meetings. He also suggested that retailers who plan to attend the meetings delay making their pricing charts until after they have attended the meetings so that there will be less chance of errors in the pricing charts.

He added that other meetings with filling station dealers in other parts of the 29-parish, north Louisiana district will be scheduled in the near future.

Arthur MacArthur, Son Of A Hero, Takes In Circus

The Quiet 13-Year-Old Son Of General MacArthur Spends Most Of His Time Looking Out Window Of His Hotel Suite Home

By Richard Kleiner

New York—(NEA)—Arthur MacArthur, whose father is perhaps the most idolized man of his time, is a good-looking 13-year-old boy. He's now living with his mother and father in a pleasant 10-room, $130-a-day suite in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. And, hotel employes say, he spends most of his time looking out the window.

For a teen-age boy and his teen-age dreams, looking out of windows is always an adventure. For Arthur, looking out of windows is also a thrill and an escape. He's looking at the tall buildings and traffic and crowds that he's read about, but never seen.

If he turns away from the window and ventures outside his police-guarded suite, Arthur is the object of staring eyes and photographers' flash-bulbs and reporters' questions.

The newspapermen heard that Arthur was going to the circus. All day they waited in the lobby, for him to come down. Once, the Duke of Windsor came by. The men said, "Good morning, Duke," and the former king of England said, "Good morning, boys." But none of the newspapermen asked him anything, nor did the photographers take a picture.

The word came down that Arthur was going to hold a press conference. All the men raced upstairs.

The boy came in, with a colonel —he never goes anywhere without an officer of at least the rank of colonel. He wore a pair of blue trousers, a bright yellow sport shirt with a zipper at the neck, a gold ring with a green stone on his finger and an identification bracelet around his wrist.

Somebody started to ask him a question.

Arthur stood shyly, his hands at his side and a tentative, friendly smile on his lips as the reporters wrangled with the colonel. Finally, he sat down and the pictures were taken. Another boy presented him with a baseball autographed by all the New York Yankees.

"Arthur," asked a reporter, "how do you like the U. S.?"

"I like it fine," said the boy. The colonel glared at the man who asked the question, but he didn't see the glare.

"Now that you've got the Yankee baseball," the reporter asked, "are you going to be a Yankee fan?"

"Now wait a minute," interrupted the colonel, "You know, we can call this off any time."

"I'm sorry," said the reporter.

Arthur, silent during the exchange, turned toward the reporter and said, "I guess I might be a Yankee fan."

The son of the discharged Pacific commander speaks softly, but distinctly. He habitually wears a half-smile on his face, as though he would break out into a big grin if he had the chance. He has brown eyes and brown hair that appears to give him a battle to keep in place. He is very slender.

After the pictures were taken, the colonel and Arthur went back upstairs. Police barred the way so reporters couldn't follow. A few hours later, he came down again for his circus excursion. This time, there were two colonels with him, one of the colonel's wives, and Arthur's Chinese "amah," an elderly woman with a deeply-lined face. They all got in a car and drove across town.

Three taxi-loads of reporters and photographers followed. At the entrance to Madison Square Garden, the police had formed a double-line for Arthur and his party to enter. Inside, a clown greeted the boy.

They went to John Ringling North's private box, with the newsmen kept at a distance. The box had 18 seats; the boy and his party occupied eight. A policeman guarding him took his cap off and sat in one of the other seats. The rest were empty.

Arthur sat between Col. Sidney Huff, Gen. MacArthur's aide, and Mrs. Huff. Before the performance began, the photographers were permitted to take pictures of clown Felix Adler talking to Arthur. He stood and talked to the clown while the flash-bulbs popped.

"Children of all ages," began the ring-master. The lights dimmed, the band blared and the photographers were shooed away. Mrs. Huff whispered something to Arthur and he smiled.

During the show, he sat quietly. He seemed to enjoy it, but not as much as the adults in his party. They shrieked and applauded, in a obvious effort to infect him with their good spirits. He did burst into genuine boyish laughter when the horn-playing seal raced through the last few notes of "My Country 'Tis of Thee."

But the clowns' best efforts just produced a tiny smile. He gasped a little as the beautiful blonde aerialist stunted on a tiny trapeze. And he graciously applauded every act.

Despite the efforts of his entourage to make him feel like a normal boy he still seemed shy. He never lost himself in the excitement. Every vendor of pink candy and toy whips who passed by stopped and stared at him; every clown lingered a little before his box; the other kids nearby turned during every intermission and looked at him; photographers popped up from behind railings to take one more; police surrounded him.

Being the son of an idol is tough work. It's a good thing there are lots of windows to look out of in his Waldorf suite.

IT'S A NIGHTMARE—That's what you'd say if you met this character while sleepwalking. The two dancers entwined as one represent a choreographic nightmare in a ballet titled "The Sleepwalker," being presented by the Grand Ballet of the Marquis de Cuevas in Paris. (NEA-Acme photo by Staff Correspondent Rene Henry.)

OPA OFFICIALS IN 4 MEETINGS

Will Explain Ceiling Regulations To Dealers In Oil Products

A series of four meetings to explain ceiling price regulation number 11, governing filing stations and all retailers of petroleum products, will be held May 8 and May 9, according to Raymond A. Tate, of Shreveport district price executive for the office of price stabilization. The schedule follows:

Tuesday, May 8: Ruston, 10 a. m. Ruston Jr. High School Auditorium. Monroe, 2:30 p. m. Virginia Hotel.

Wednesday, May 9: Alexandria 9:30 a. m. Community Center, Bolton Ave.; Natchitoches, 2:30 p. m. Natchitoches city hall.

Mr. Tate urged that filling station owners and other retailers of petroleum products in towns near where the meetings will be held plan to attend these meetings. He also suggested that retailers who plan to attend the meetings delay making their pricing chars until after they have attended the meetings so that there will be less chance of errors in the pricing charts.

Mr. Tate said that other meetings with filling station dealers in other parts of the 29-parish, north Louisiana district will be scheduled in the near future.

'Lullaby Of Broadway,' Warners' New Technicolor Hit, Here Today

Doris Day And Gene Nelson Top Cast In Picture At Paramount

Broadway, Mecca of American show business, is indeed more than just a paved strip of glaring neon, spectacular animation and wide-eyed tourists straining for a glimpse of a celebrity. No, this heartbeat of the entertainment industry, glorified by the Ziegfelds and the Jolsons, may be likened to Sheherezade of the Arabian Nights—master storyteller with a thousand and one yarns about the hopes, joys and heartbreaks of those who seek their fame and fortune within its boundaries. And now, one of these fascinating tales has been set to music in a glowing screen tribute to the Great White Way.

"Lullaby of Broadway," Warner Bros.' Technicolor musical extravaganza which opens today at the Paramount Theatre, starring singing and dancing stars Doris Day and Gene Nelson, supported by comedians Billy De Wolfe, S. Z. Sakall and Ann Triola, and Gladys George, is the heart-warming story draped against a background of some of the most lavish productions numbers ever filmed.

The picture which centers around show folk and their often hilarious attempts to make the grade, is well-laden with such all-time favorite songs as "Zing Went the Strings of My Heart," "Somebody Loves Me," "In A Shanty In Old Shanty Town," "Just One Of Those Things" and the title tune.

Also featured in "Lullaby of Broadway" are Hanley Stafford, Florence Bates and the Page Cavanaugh Trio, well-known night club artists.

Jonesville Sells Investors Bonds

Jonesville, May 5.—Paving certificates of the town of Jonesville were sold this week to New Orleans investors at four per cent interest, and the contractor should be at work on the project within about 30 days.

Town authorities have issued a work order and engineers are at work making surveys in preparation for the contractor to move in. T. L. James of Ruston has the contract, which includes concete curb and gutter and blacktop paving with soil cement base.

The paving certificates of $68,601.76 were purchased by John Dane and the Ernest M. Loeb Co., Inc., of New Orleans.

Bob Thomas IN MOVIELAND

So today I am running a lost-and-found department. All of these items seem to me lost; and if anyone can find them, let me know.

Whatever happened to Warners' plans to film the life of Will Rogers, with Will, Jr., starring? . . . Paramount's announcement that it would make the life of Billy Rose? . . . 20th-Fox's plans for a picture on Wendell Willkie's "One World" and something called "The Gay Illiterate"? . . . A number of properties which MGM owns, including "Of Thee I Sing" and "Timberline"? . . . The picture to co-star Bing Crosby and Hopalong Cassidy?

Whatever happened to Turhan Bey? . . . Phil Terry (Joan Crawford's ex)? . . . Butch Jenkins? . . . Anita Page? . . . Gracie Allen's brother? . . . The other Pickens and Boswell sisters besides Jane and Connie? . . . Simone Simon? . . . Orson Welles?

Whatever happened to the proposals for a Hollywood film festival, along the lines of those held abroad? . . . For a Hollywood civic center, to house the Johnston office, guilds, press, etc.? . . . For an all-industry conference here to discuss current problems?

Whatever happened to Joan Crawford's plans to do a picture about the plight of school teachers? . . . Hedy Lamarr's plans to retire? . . . Henry Koster's plans to film the life of Gorgeous George? . . . Selznick's plans to star Jennifer Jones in "Romeo and Juliet"? . . . Selznick's plans?

Whatever happened to Little Audrey jokes? . . . The people who used to play the organs in movie houses? . . . The big parties that Hollywood used to have? (I guess nobody can afford them any more). . . . The 25-cent movie theater?

"Perhaps television is somewhat to blame, but I believe that the reason people have stopped going is because of the sale of popcorn, ice cream and what-have-you. . . .

"To have a bunch of rowdies, young people and even older people, sit behind you and crunch on popcorn or suck on ice cream cones while you are trying to see a show, is more than people can stand for very long."

Delay Cutoff Work Until Much Later

Jonesville, May 5.— Work on Smithland cutoff, on Black river below Jonesville, is not expected to get underway before the middle of summer, according to W. C. Brown, Catahoula member of the Tensas Basin levee board.

The . S. engineers have awarded the contract for dredging to Midwest Dry Dock Dredging Company of Des Moines. Contract price for making the half-mile channel, which will shorten Black river 20 or more miles, was $610,483. The contractor was given 90 days to move in his equipment.

The British inaugurated a ten-year development plan in Malaya in 1946.

COMING TO PARAMOUNT

Two G. I.'s come out of a foxhole with blazing guns in this scene from "A Yank In Korea", the behind the headline story with the front line guys, which opens a two day engagement at the Paramount Theatre Friday.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, May 5. — "The public will not believe our advertising," complained one of the movie industry's biggest big-shots a few days ago in discussing the current decline in box office receipts. Judging from the querulous tone of his remarks, he considers that disbelief a reflection on the public's loyalty and intelligence.

Actually, is it any wonder that John and Jane Public have developed a complete disregard and contempt for movie advertising? Is it remarkable that dishonest claims deliberately advanced, have defeated their own purpose?

For thirty years, Hollywood adwriters have flouted the truth in advertising motion pictures. No matter how dismally boresome a flop any new movie has been, it's been garnished with the same meaningless superlatives. Because of an idiotic conviction, on the part of picture - makers and picture-distributors, that sex is the only subject interesting enough to pry admission fees from the average American, film advertising has misrepresented the story lines of fifty per cent of the movies which have been produced. And, to achieve the ultimate in misrepresentation, many companies have made it a practice, particularly in recent years, to send out reissues under new titles while carefully concealing their true identity in the accompanying ads.

Of course the public will not believe motion picture advertising! Belief would be impossible unless the public were credulous to the point of utter asininity.

The movie bosses, instead of spending so much time reading current literature in search of possible screen vehicles, ought to take time out for some of the old classics, particularly one about a dishonest shepherd boy who was too fond of crying "Wolf!"

Preview nights: Pic of a so-so week: Republic's "The Bullfighter and the Lady" (Robert Stack-Joy Page - Gilbert Roland - Virginia Grey). An action - full, consistently interesting melodrama filmed against authentic Mexican backgrounds: sure-fire entertainment for the average audience . . . Good: Paramount's "Dear Brat" (Mona Freeman - Billy de Wolfe - Edward Arnold - Lyle Bettger.) A wholesome "family type" comedy that offers better entertainment than many of Hollywood's more pretentious films. . .. Republic's "Fighting Coast Guard" (Brian Donlevy - Forrest Tucker - Ella Raines.) One of the better war pictures of the past few years, thanks to a story that achieves considerable excitement without using stereotyped characters and situations . . . Off - the-beaten -path: Columbia's "Five" (William Phipps - Susan Douglas-James Anderson - Charles Lampkin - Earl Lee.) An ultra - dramatic "documentary - type" story dealing with a world in which only five human beings are left alive after an all - out atomic war; sometimes shocking, sometimes depressing, it is, at all times, interesting . . . Best performance: Gilbert Roland in "The Bullfighter and the Lady."

Apparently not all of America's theatre - goers are in agreement with the academy's choice of "All About Eve" as the best movie of 1950. I'm amused by one critique received in today's mail from a Mr. L. L. Richardson of St. Louis. It reads: "For my life, I can't see what the rage about 'All About Eve' was. It was such a yakity-yak! 'All About Eve' is the most boring picture I've sat through in years. I hear enough women yapping around at home and at work without being dredged under when I go to the theatre. As a working man I sure don't want to go to another movie and sit through a bevy of female yackity yak. Please relay this to Hollywood!"

Mr. Richardson can relax; his comments are now relayed.

In the 20th Century - Fox cafe the other noon, I found Debra Paget dividing her attention between her food and a history text book. "Examinations this afternoon," she explained, and then added that she'll graduate next month from the high school maintained by the California state board of education of the studio lot. When she gets that diploma she'll be a member of a very distinguished alumni association. Some of the other members are Anne Baxter, Linda Darnell, Shirley Temple, Roddy McDowall, Jane Withers and June Haver. I doubt that any other high school in all American can claim outstanding professional success for so great a percentage of its graduates.

As you may have heard before, Hollywood is a strange place. For instance screen extra Margaret Farrell, working in RKO's "Behave Yourself!" was selected from the mob yesterday to lift a quizzical eyebrow in a close - up. That gave her "character actress" status under union rules and tripled her pay check.

Parents And Children Assemble At Okaloosa School

A father-son, mother-daughter banquet was held in Okaloosa High School May 3 at 7 p.m. Toast mistress was Norma North and toast master was Bobby Roberts.

Following song, "America," invocation was by Rev. G. T. Tisdale.

Welcome addresses were given by Donald Roberts, member of Future Farmers of America; and Laura Tolbird, of Future Homemakers of America. Responses were by O. L. Roberts and Mrs. Estelle Luttrell.

Guests were introduced by Mrs. Mary S. Blackiston and M. D. Cannon.

Accomplishments were explained by both FHA and FFA groups, after which a play was staged by FHA boys in which the following participated: J. P. North, James Tisdale, Prentice Wallace, Donald Roberts, Marshall Baugh, Henson Tolbird, Arnold Hendricks, Bobby Johnson, Johnny Perritt and Bill Holloway.

This number was followed by a style show by FHA girls and a talk by Johnny Kimble.

Songs contributed by Prentice Wallace, J. P. North, Henson Tolbird, Marshall Baugh and Donald Roberts were the final number. After the song "America" was sung by the assemblage the meeting was dismissed.

Girls who were in the style show were: orothy Roberts, Helen Sue George, Laura Tolbird, Verl George, Audra French, Lavenia Smith, Lois Baugh, Thelma Perritt, Elaine Tisdale, Barbara Roberts, Mary J. French and Dorothy J. Adams.

TERRY AND THE PIRATES

by GEORGE WUNDER

Reg. U. S. Pat. Off. Copyright, 1951, by News Syndicate Co., Inc.

OOOOH! WHAT A SMART CHICK THIS O'HARA IS! CAN'T BLAME HOTSHOT FOR TAKING OFF WITHOUT TRYING TO SEE ME... BUT HE'S GOT TEN DAYS' LEAVE! THAT'S ENOUGH TIME FOR HIM TO GET INTO ALL SORTS OF TROUBLE — LIKE ANOTHER GAL!

ALLIED MIL... PERSONNEL

GOTTA FIND HIM...MAJOR COLT SAID THAT HE AND TERRY HEADED THIS WAY... LUCKY I RATED THE LEAVE, TOO...IF I CAN ONLY GET MY HANDS ON HIM BEFORE...WHOA! BETTER CHECK HERE.

TRANSIENT AND LEAVE BILLET FEAF

MEANWHILE

TISH-TUSH! ANY PALS OF MINE ARE PALS OF GOOD OLD WHATEVERHISNAMEIS.

BUT YOU DON'T KNOW ANYTHING ABOUT US EITHER. WE JUST HAPPENED TO SIT AT A TABLE NEXT TO YOURS AND YOU INTRODUCED YOURSELF.

I COULD DO NO LESS AFTER I OVERHEARD THE LITTLE MAN'S STORY OF LOST LOVE.

THAT A COMRADE-IN-ARMS SHOULD SUFFER SO IS UNTHINKABLE. "HEN LAMMER," I SAID TO MYSELF, "YON ALLY SPEAKS OF A WOMAN WHO CAST HIM ASIDE. YOU MUST SPRING TO HIS AID." SO I SPRUNG.

THIS TINSEL PALACE IS NO BALM TO ONE MIRED IN GLOOM. SO WE TAKE THE LITTLE ONE TO WHOZZIS' PARTY WHERE GAY BANTER AND WARM HOSPITALITY MAY RAISE HIS SPIRITS.

WELL...GOLLY, IF YOU THINK WE WON'T BE INTRUDING...

LATER

M'OLD PAL, WHAT'SHISNAME, IS SOME SORT OF BUREAUCRAT OUT HERE INSPECTING MESS KITS OR SOMETHING. WE'VE NEVER MET, OF COURSE, BUT I DID GO TO SCHOOL WITH HIS NEPHEW — OR WAS IT HIS COUSIN?

HEY! WE'RE JUST GARDEN VARIETY GATE-CRASHERS. LOOK! WE'D BETTER GET OUT OF HERE.

CRIMESTOPPERS TEXTBOOK

DUST IS A GOOD INDICATOR OF WHETHER OR NOT AN OBJECT HAS BEEN MOVED. A SUSPECT CLAIMED HE HAD NOT BEEN IN ROOM, BUT DUST RING SHOWED HE MOVED A VASE STANDING BEFORE A SAFE DOOR. Dick Tracy

SOMEBODY HAD TO GO UP AFTER HIM.

CRACK

THAT ROTTED OLD TREE! THE WEIGHT OF BOTH OF 'EM WAS TOO MUCH.

HE GOT IN A FEW LICKS WITH A BROKEN MILK BOTTLE, BUT—

HE'S WORSE OFF.

I THINK I SEE WHAT YOU MEAN!

MEANWHILE, ANOTHER DRAMA QUIETLY UNFOLDS NEAR THE EMERGENCY DOOR OF THE GENERAL HOSPITAL.

BLANKETS! THAT'S WHAT WE NEED.

EMERGENCY ENTRANCE

THIS IS THE FIRST TIME I'VE EVER HAD AN EXPERIENCE LIKE THIS— I'M WEAK!

LET THE DOCTOR IN!

QUIET, NOW, MRS. TRACY.

WHAT A RIDE! BOY! THESE SQUAD CARS HAVE GOT MORE USES THAN TAXICABS.

YOU DID VERY WELL, BOYS. THEY'RE BOTH OKAY.

THANKS, DOC.

OH, BOY--SUNDAY MORNING--I CAN TURN OFF THE ALARM AND SLEEP AS LONG AS I LIKE

BEFORE YOU GO BACK TO SLEEP, DEAR, WILL YOU FEED THE PUPS AND LET THEM OUT?

ON YOUR WAY UP, POP, WILL YOU PLEASE BRING US SOME CINNAMON TOAST AND MILK?

THANKS FOR THE MILK AND TOAST, POP

OH, HOW LOVELY--SERVING BREAKFAST IN BED! I'LL HAVE ORANGE JUICE, EGG, TOAST AND COFFEE

I MIGHT AS WELL MAKE MY OWN BREAKFAST, TOO, WHILE I'M UP

NOW I CAN GO BACK TO SLEEP

YOU'RE A DARLING!

POP, MR. WOODLEY'S DOWNSTAIRS--HE WANTS TO BORROW SOMETHING

TELL HIM TO TAKE WHATEVER HE WANTS AND LET ME GO TO SLEEP

GEE, IT WAS SWEET OF DAGWOOD TO LET ME TAKE HIS LAWNMOWER--- HE'S A SWEET GUY

CLATTER-CLATTER

LISTEN TO THAT NOISE! IT WAS MY LAWNMOWER HE BORROWED!

CRASH

NOW I CAN'T SLEEP THINKING ABOUT HOW MUCH IT WILL COST TO REPAIR THE LAWNMOWER

I HATE TO BOTHER YOU WHILE YOU'RE BUSY, BUT WOULD YOU STICK THIS STAMP FOR ME?

SEE, ARCHIE! I TOLD YOU ALICE WOULD COME BACK!

BUT FOR PITY SAKE STOP THAT TWITTERING

JUST ACT LIKE YOU HADN'T MISSED HER.

I SUPPOSE THIS WILL START JUNIOR ALL OVER AGAIN WANTING TO BE A CONTORTIONIST.

WELL, IF HE WORMS HIS WAY THROUGH THE SIXTH GRADE, HE'LL BE ONE.

COSH! I SUPPOSE WE'LL HAVE TO GO, AND TAKE ALFRED.

WHAT DO YOU MEAN, HAVE TO GO? YOU WOULDN'T MISS IT ON A BET.

BE CAREFUL, SLUG.. I WANT YOU TO GO TO THE DANCE TONIGHT.

WHY, ELMO!

HAVE YOU STILL GOT YOUR RED TIGHTS WITH THE GOLD FRINGE?

MYRTLE! IF YOU'RE FIXING TO RUN AWAY WITH THE CIRCUS, YOU'RE COMING RIGHT IN THE HOUSE THIS VERY MINUTE

AND I NEED MY PONY TO ROUND UP A GANG OF RUSTLERS.

WELL, ASP, THANKS TO YOU, I'M OUT OF THAT TRAP AND BACK IN OPERATION ... YOU SAY THERE'S A CAR WAITING?

IT LOOKS OLD AND SHABBY ... BUT IT GOES VERY FAST ...

FINE ... DON'T DARE LET ANYONE KNOW I'M BACK ... THEY KNOW, BUT UNLESS THEY CAN FOLLOW ME THEY CAN'T KNOW TOO MUCH ...

THERE HAVE BEEN TOO MANY LEAKS ... TOO MUCH FUMBLING ALREADY ... WHAT WE ARE AFTER NOW CAN SAVE THE WORLD FOR PEACE ... IF WE HAVE IT ...

OR DESTROY OUR WORLD FOR A THOUSAND YEARS, IF THEY OBTAIN IT!

I KNOW THAT DEPOSIT IS SOMEWHERE IN THIS END OF THIS VALLEY ... BUT IT MAY TAKE WEEKS ... MONTHS ... YEARS TO FIND IT ...

D'YOU THINK WE'RE BEIN' WATCHED?

I'M SURE OF IT! BUT THEY'LL LET US FIND TH' STUFF BEFORE THEY TRY ANYTHING ROUGH ... UNLESS THEY THINK WE'VE FOUND IT ...

WHERE'S ANNIE? SHE'S BEEN GONE OVER A WEEK ...

OH, SHE'S VISITING BANCROFT AND PAVLOVA ...

I HEAR SHE WENT ALONG ON A HUNTING TRIP WITH BANCROFT AND HIS FRIENDS ...

HUNTIN' TRIP? FUNNY SHE DIDN'T TAKE SANDY ... HE'S A HUNTIN' DOG ... HE'S BEEN AWFUL RESTLESS LATELY ...

YES ... THE ACCIDENT BOARD FINALLY DECIDED THAT IF A KNUCKLEHEAD LIKE ME COULD MAKE A FORCED LANDING WITH A DEAD ENGINE ...

... ON TERRAIN COVERED WITH ROCKS, MESQUITE AND CACTI, DURING A SANDSTORM ...

... WITHOUT TURNING TH' PLANE OVER, THAT I WASN'T A COMPLETE KNUCKLE-HEAD, AFTER ALL!

... DUCKFOOT AND BICEPS ARE GONNA GO TO JET SCHOOL ALSO ...

I DON'T SEE WHY TH' "WHEELS" ALLOW BICEPS TO CONTINUE! ... HE'S SO MEAN!

BICEPS HAS AN ALMOST PERFECT RECORD AND TH' "WHEELS" DON'T KNOW WHAT A HEEL HE IS AND ...

... I HAVE NO WAY TO PROVE ANYTHING AGAINST HIM ... BUT I WILL!

... AND SPEAKING OF INJURIES ... I'M SORRY THAT YOUR MOTHER HAS A SORE TOE!

... THE SENIOR T. O. SPEAKS

CADETS ... WHAT I HAVE TO SAY MAY BE GOOD NEWS TO SOME OF YOU—BAD TO OTHERS ...

... LIEUTENANT VESUVIUS IS BEING TRANSFERRED TO TH' JET SCHOOL NEAR PHOENIX!

... AND THAT ISN'T ALL! WE HAVE A BIG SECRET SURPRISE ... THAT WE'VE BEEN SAVING FOR TONIGHT!

HOORAY! IT'S ABOUT TIME! THREE CHEERS FOR CAPTAIN VESUVIUS!

MEAN-WHILE, AT A SECRET HIDE-OUT!

... SEE ZAT HE RECEIVE MY INSTRUCTIONS! ... ZE CRIMSON-HAMMER HAVE SPOKEN!

FLASH AND HIS PARTY WATCH IN AWE AS THEIR ATOM BLAST WRECKS THE CANNON FROM WHICH FLAMING METEORS WERE HURTLING FROM THE MOON TO THE EARTH. BEETLELIKE MOON-MEN POUR ANGRILY OUT OF THEIR BURROWS TO FIND OUT WHAT HAS HAPPENED.

AS THE BEETLE-MEN SWARM TOWARD THE SPACE-ROCKET, FLASH FREES HIS CAPTIVE MOON-MAN AND ORDERS HIM TO KEEP HIS PEOPLE AWAY FROM THE SHIP. A WARNING RAY-BLAST EMPHASIZES FLASH'S COMMAND.

"WE CAN'T HOLD THEM OFF VERY LONG," FLASH TELLS PROF. BRITE, AS THEY SCRAMBLE INTO THE SPACE-ROCKET. "WE'LL FAKE A RETREAT, HIDE THE SHIP, AND COME BACK LATER."
